A handsome desk set, designed by Chas. F. Grothoff of Pacific Parlor No. 10 N.S.G.W., was presented to Grand President Russell on behalf of the San Francisco Extension of the Order committee. Mrs. Boyle and Mrs. Russell were presented with beautiful boquets. Preceding the reception a dinner, attended by some 200 Native Sons and Native Daughters of San Francisco and the Bay area, was held.

PLANS DINNER DANCE.

Frank Fairfield Morris, San Francisco's leading authority on the dinner dance, will conduct the annual spring dinner dance for Stanford Parlor No. 76 N.S.G.W., which will be held Saturday evening, May 1. Morris, a member of Stanford Parlor for thirty-two years, is widely known for his exquisite taste.

It was he who conducted the first dinner dance of record in San Francisco in the year 12. Some two hundred and fifty guests were present, the men in full dress with gloves. The affair was held under the auspices of Stanford and was a huge success. One of the greatest affairs over which Morris presided was the Stanford Parlor dinner dance held in the California Building during the 1915 World's Fair. Some hundred guests were present to enjoy that brilliant affair.—C.W.D.

PRECITA WINS CHAMPIONSHIP.

April 9, Precita Parlor No. 187 N.S.G.W. defeated South San Francisco Parlor No. 157 N.S.G.W. to win the championship of the annual San Francisco horseshoe tournament. All games were hotly contested, but the smooth working of Precita's team brought it out on top. Precita's team included Sprague, Walker, Mitchell, Flores, Jenkins and Ehrhorn, while that of South San Francisco was made up of Posedel, Kendall, Frank Regan, Harold Regan, Graf, Colvis and Fanning.

Lee Jenkins of Precita was high point man in the League, and also scored the most ringers. Precita will play the winner of the Alameda County League for the state championship in the near future.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS NEWS.

Keith Parlor No. 137 had its anniversary dinner dance April 7. Deputy Ellen Gooch and President Marguerite Dahlstrom were honored guests. Alvera Corcoran, chairman of the evening, presented a lovely gift to President Dahlstrom on the Parlor's behalf.

Grand President Florence D. Boyle will pay her official visit to Golden State Parlor No. 50 Monday evening, May 24, at 3543 Eighteenth street.

The whist party held April 6 by Golden Gate Parlor No. 158 under the very capable supervision of Lois Loss proved a huge success. Grand Trustee Claire Lindsey is chairman of the committee making elaborate preparations for the official visit of the Grand President to the Parlor May 10.

Dolores Parlor No. 169 distributed cigarettes, candy, etc. to the patients at Letterman General Hospital April 23; Chairman May Baumeister of the veterans welfare committee was assisted by Charlotte Aragoni, Lee Schallock and Betty Both. For the adoption of a fourth baby, the Parlor has donated $37.50; it will be named for Agnes McVerry, who for many years served Dolores as deputy. The Parlor drill team was recently entertained by Alfa Nelson, Rose Spaelti, Helen Larkin and Charlotte Aragonni. Emma O'Meara has been appointed to assist the booster committee at the bridge and whist dansant scheduled for May 3.

Spring flowers were used to decorate the tables at the dinner given April 1 by the Extension of the Order Committee in honor of Founder Helen S. Mann. Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini introduced as guest speaker Mrs. Ann Godfrey, whose subject was "Americanism." A gift was presented Mrs. Mann by Loretta Cameron. Among others who enjoyed the happy occasion were Past Grands Anne Thuesen, Emma Foley, May Noonan, Eliza Keith, Dr. Mariana Bertola and May Boldemann, Grand Outside Sentinel Emily Ryan, Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Trustees Alice Lane and Claire Lindsey, and Grand Treasurer Agnes Curry.

LOOKING AHEAD.

Mission Parlor No. 38 N.S.G.W. and Mission Parlor No. 227 N.D.G.W. sponsored a dance April 5 to raise funds to send their drum corps and drill teams to Santa Monica for the Admission Day celebration September 9. Percy Cosbie and Miss Mary Tavolara were co-chairmen of arrangements.

ROADHOME PULLMAN COACH HAS EVERY POSSIBLE CONVENIENCE.

The Roadhome pullman coach is just what its name implies, a home on wheels which travels over the roads. It offers all the comforts and conveniences of a six-room house, and makes the housekeeping problem negligible. The beautiful all mahogany interior compares favorably with the most expensive of homes. The furnishings of the Roadhome pullman coach are practically as complete as your own home.

The new Roadhome two compartment trailer provides not only home comforts and conveniences, but absolute privacy as well. At night doors divide the Roadhome into two sleeping compartments, insuring complete privacy when you retire.

It is never necessary to pack a trunk or bags when you are about to travel in a Roadhome pullman coach. There is more than enough closet, drawer and cabinet space to hold all of the clothing and odds and ends that you may care to take along.

The Roadhome pullman coach truly fulfills its name. It has every possible convenience of home, and will travel over any road that your car can.

More Trees, Less Erosion—To halt erosion in gullies and on steep hillsides, the Federal Soil Conservation Service plans to plant about 175,000,000 trees this year. Nearly 130,000,000 trees were planted by the service last year, and the 1937 plantings will bring the total figure to about 600,000,000 trees in a little more than four years.

"Believe me when I tell you that thrift of time will repay you in after life, with a usury of profit beyond your most sanguine dreams; and that waste of it will make you dwindle alike in intellectual and moral stature beyond your darkest reckoning."—Gladstone.

Yuba and Sutter will have a bi-counties agricultural fair near Marysville May 29 and 30.

CITY AND COUNTY — THE GATE WAY TO GOLDEN CALIFORNIA

MAKING OF SAN BERNARDINO

Leon Gregory
(ARROWHEAD PARLOR N.S.G.W.)

MANY INFLUENCES, MANY RACES and many decades have gone into the making of San Bernardino. While Juan Bautista de Anza headed the first party of White men to enter the San Bernardino Valley, to Father Francisco Hamengildo Garces belongs the honor of being the first White man to enter the valley in the vicinity of San Bernardino.

Probably as a part of the general movement of the missionaries to establish themselves in the interior valleys, Padre Dumetz of the San Gabriel Mission founded a Capilla at the Guachama Rancho, known to us as Old San Bernardino, on May 20, 1810, the Capilla being named after St. Bernardine de Sienna.

Some of the more noted men traveling through the valley at this time were Jedediah Strong Smith, a forerunner of the New Mexican Caravans, who entered by way of the Indian Trail in 1826; Kit Carson, on his first trip to California in 1839, was with the Ewing Young party which was among the first to enter the valley over the route later so popularly known as the Spanish Trail; from 1833 to about 1848 the New Mexican Caravans plied their trade between Santa Fe, New Mexico, and Los Angeles; they varied and shortened the route across the desert followed by Father Garces, and Cajon Pass gradually came into use.

A grant of the San Bernardino Rancho, consisting of about 40,000 acres, was issued to the three Lugo sons and Diego Sepulveda on June 21, 1842. On April 12, 1848, a group of soldiers from the Mormon Battalion returned to Salt Lake by way of Cajon Pass and the Spanish Trail, taking with them the first wagon to make the trip. Capitan Jefferson Hunt, who had served with the Mormon Battalion, was very much interested in establishing a Mormon settlement in the San Bernardino Valley. Therefore, in March 1851 a party of 500 emigrants left Salt Lake City under his general leadership. On their arrival in the valley they camped at Sycamore Grove in the Cajon Pass on June 24, 1851.

The present site of San Bernardino was selected as a place of permanent settlement, due to the abundance of grass and water for the stock. Negotiations were opened with the Lugos for the purchase of the San Bernardino Rancho, and the transaction was completed in February 1852, with the payment of $77,000 for the land.

As a protection against the Indians, one of the most elaborate fortification attempts in southern California was constructed on the site of the present San Bernardino County Court House.

On April 13, 1854, the new city was incorporated as the county seat of San Bernardino County. This was followed by the coming of the stagecoach and the railroads, the discovery of gold in Holcomb Valley, banditry, and the usual happenings of the Old West.

HERE WE COME, SONOMA.

San Bernardino—The delegation from Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. to the Sonoma Grand Parlor will include: Grand Trustee Judge Donald E. VanLuven, John Andreson Jr., member Grand Parlor Committee on Laws of Subordinates, Past Grand President Walter D. Wagner, Delegates Leon Gregory, James A. Olivas, Roy B. Finkle, Laurence J. C. Kelley, R. W. Brazelton, Dr. R. L. White and Eugene C. Somerby; Visitors James A. Marks, Fred N. Brown, Douglas Mecham and M. A. J. Brazil. Accompanying this group will, of course, be the pep that only Arrowhead can generate.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS DOINGS.

San Bernardino—Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. had a potluck supper April 14, with new members as guests. Velma Brewster, the speaker of the evening, gave a brief history of the probation office, and told what it means to the juvenile and the adult.

An officers meeting was held April 26 at the home of President Thelma Nett, and plans for a party at the home of Miss Clara Barton, where Lugonia was organized in 1927, were made. The organizer, Mrs. Florence Schoneman, and all charter members will be co-hostesses. A Mother's Day program was also outlined. With members of Arrowhead Parlor N.S.G.W. as guests, a dance was given April 28.

PAST PRESIDENTS MEET.

San Bernardino—The regular meeting of Arrowhead Assembly No. 14 N.S.G.W. Past Presidents Association was held at the Crestline Clubhouse of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. Saturday, April 10.

The meeting marked the official visit of Governor General Albert W. Katzenstein of Sacramento and Director General James F. Stanley of San Francisco. Secretary F. L. McGarvey and Donald E. VanLuven were in charge of the meeting, which was preceded by a delicious steak dinner and capped with a very interesting entertainment. One candidate, Vernon Clark Allen of Glendale Parlor No. 264 N.S.G.W.

The next meeting of Arrowhead Past Presidents Assembly will be held at Glendale, Saturday, June 12, at which time officers for the ensuing six months will be nominated.

ENDOWED UNIVERSITY FOR JAPS.

Pasadena or Riverside will be the site of a $1,000,000 endowed university, which will offer instruction in Japanese art and culture, announced Chobun Y. Okamoto, Tokyo publisher, at Los Angeles yesterday, according to the Associated Press.

He said the location would be chosen within two weeks and he would remain in Los Angeles this summer to complete approval of architectural and curricular plans.

The university will be non-profit but self-supporting, and open to students of all nationalities, Okamoto said. He recently offered $375,000 for the Pickfair estate, which he hopes to convert into a Japanese artists' center. Mary Pickford has reserved decision on the possible sale of her home.—San Bernardino Sun, April 21, 1937.

NEW FRIANT DAM WILL SUBMERGE FRESNO COUNTY LANDMARK.

Some time next year, says the Madera News, one of California's landmarks will be erased. Old Fort Miller, its earliest adobes dating from 1852, will be like a legendary city locked beneath the sapping waters of a legendary lake when the San Joaquin River has risen 170 feet behind Friant Dam, just north of Friant, Fresno County, and twenty miles southeast of Madera.

Fort Miller's life began in the winter of 1845-46, when a Captain Barber, sent through Emigrant Gap by General Fremont, built a log fort there with his United States "army" of seven men. Returning in 1852 with a large army—a host, we might say—and a following of Indians and their families, Barber made permanent camp, one of the first permanent Federal army camps in California.

The Indians built the adobes that stand on the spot today—the ancient low bakery; the fort infirmary, later to become Fresno County's first schoolhouse; the hoosegow, now in ruins; and the barracks, one building now in ruins. Along with the buildings will go what are supposed to be California's oldest orange trees, growing green and unsuspecting, near one of the houses which used to be the officers' quarters. The two-story adobe courthouse, Fresno County's first, may possibly be salvaged before the water has its way.

DEVELOPING NEW PUBLIC PLAYGROUNDS.

Most citizens are now within a day's motor drive of one of the camping grounds and resorts in the national forests.

The Forest Service of the United States Department of Agriculture is developing scenic spots, recreational areas, and free picnic and camping grounds as the demand grows. Most of these camping grounds have only simple equipment, but several offer variety and accommodate large numbers.

The Forest Service plans to continue developing recreation spots. In the West there are hundreds of free camps in each forest region. New camping sites are opening in the South and in the Northeast, many to be dedicated this spring.

CRYSTALIZED GOLD, PRECIOUS STONES FOUND IN CALIFORNIA COUNTIES.

Tuolumne County's pocket mines have been credited with having produced a larger quantity and more beautiful specimens of crystallized gold than those of any other county in California. Other counties noted for their crystallized gold are Mariposa, Calaveras, Amador, El Dorado and Nevada.

From the same authority it is learned that diamonds have been found in eight California counties—Amador, El Dorado, Butte, Trinity, Del Norte, Plumas, Tulare and Nevada.

Topaz is found in Amador and Lake Counties; rubies in all the counties of central California whose streams are fed from the high Sierra; garnets in Calaveras, Fresno, Mariposa, Kern, Marin, Plumas and Tulare Counties; opals in Calaveras and Lake Counties, and opalized wood is said to exist in Tuolumne County.—Union Democrat, Sonora.

Visalia, Tulare County, will have a rodeo and fiesta June 4-6.

GOLDEN JUBILEE YEAR

OF NATIVE DAUGHTERS OF THE GOLDEN WEST

"The Dreamer lives on forever,
While the Toiler dies in a day"

Florence D. Boyle

(GRAND PRESIDENT N.D.G.W.)

"HISTORY WOULD LEAD US TO BElieve that those loyal men and women who made their way to these western shores some eighty odd years ago were 'Dreamers.' They dreamed of happiness, fortune and a new home in this land of sunshine on the Pacific shore.

"As they ever moved westward, whether by land or by sea, they kept in mind they were nearing this 'land of Hope and Golden Promise.' Each day meant they would soon realize their fondest dream. When the great trip with all its dangers and sacrifices was ended, they continued to dream. They dreamed of progress; better means of transportation.

"They dreamed of fine homes; comforts for their families; great cities to be built; fine farms, rich in cereals of civilization; herds of the first stock; schools where their children could be educated; churches where they might worship God in their own way. They dreamed of making California a part of the great United States. As these good people have answered their call to the Great Beyond, their plans have been taken up by others who continue to dream of progress.

"Then, fifty years ago, a young woman in the small mining town of Jackson dreamed of an organization of native-born women who would have as their principles Love of Home, Devotion to our Flag, Veneration of the Glorious Deeds of our Pioneer Fathers and Mothers, and an Abiding Faith in the existence of God. Lilly O. Reichling then called together a group of young girls and, in September of 1886, organized a Parlor of Native Daughters of the Golden West, known as Ursula No. 1. With this first Parlor the foundation of our great Order was laid. Our organization has grown and spread throughout this great State of Californnia, until we now have 171 active and progressive Parlors.

"The deepest of reverence is paid to the Founder, Lilly O. Reichling-Dyer, and the charter members of Ursula Parlor No. 1 for their vision, their courage, their perseverence and their undying loyalty to the memory of those who sacrificed lives and fortunes in the building of this Golden State. May this Grand Parlor bring joy and happiness to these good women who have given fifty years of service to Home, State and Nation through the Native Daughters of the Golden West.

"The Order has endeavored to show veneration of the Pioneers in various ways. First, by the gathering and recording of the early history of California. Each Parlor has, in turn, endeavored to preserve the history of its own community. Then to give that history out to those in the community through speakers before clubs and schools.

"A roster of California Pioneers is being compiled, so that the name of every man, woman and child may be preserved, for truly each did his or her individual part in the building of this State. During this year news of this program has spread to every state in the Union, and the words of praise received more than repay the efforts put forth.

Mrs. Florence Dauterich Boyle,
Grand President N.D.G.W.

"Museums are being erected wherein are preserved pioneer relics, those material mementoes of the past. Great reverence is shown in the viewing of these relics, not only by our own members, but by those outside our organization, and especially by the school children, those 'citizens of tomorrow.' Teachers have lauded our efforts for the assistance given the children in the study of early California history.

"Markers have been placed at historical spots —ever-present reminders to those passing by of the work of our Pioneers. A pictograph showing each marker placed during the past fifty years is being compiled this year by the Committee on California History and Landmarks. This will be on display at Grand Parlor, bringing more fully to mind the work being accomplished on this particular project.

"During those trying days of hardship and sacrifice in the trip to California, whether by land or by sea, many children were left motherless and fatherless. Some good family would take these children, bring them on to this new land, provide them with a home, and endeavor to give them that love and affection due each and every child. And so, through the Central Committee on Homeless Children of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West, we are endeavoring to carry on this loving service of finding homes for homeless children which was started by our Pioneer Fathers and Mothers on that long trip to California. Just another way to venerate the memory of those good people.

"We are told that much joy and happiness came to these adventurers through singing as they made their weary way westward. In the evening they sang the trail songs and the songs of home as they sat about the campfire. Some sang for the joy of the trip, some that hunger, thirst and wearied limb might be forgotten. After reaching this new land they sang at their work. So, this year we have stressed the singing of those songs that were so dear to them. Much joy and happiness have come to the members and those about us in the presentation of this early music.

"Americanism has been most sincerely stressed. We are indeed a patriotic Order, patriotic to Home, State and Nation. We have endeavored to set an example of true Americanism to those about us in our daily walks of life. We have endeavored to show that we love our country, our State and our Home; we have endeavored to obey our laws; we have shown due respect to our Flag, that glorious banner, the emblem of Truth, Freedom and Liberty; we have endeavored to show that we are ready and willing at all times to defend it against all enemies. As a part of our Americanism program, we have brought sunshine, happiness and encouragement to those brave men and women who, a few short years ago, offered up their lives in sacrifice to Old Glory during the World War. We have endeavored through small acts of kindness to show we have not forgotten.

"In our educational program, we have ever kept before us a desire for the highest type of education. We have endeavored to show our appreciation to students and teachers. Through our scholarships we have given aid and assistance to individual members who, in turn, have bestowed honors on our organization.

"Through our Native Daughters Home, we have been able to give a home to many sisters who are now alone in the world, thus spreading happiness and joy to others.

"A decided increase in membership has been made this year. State pride is our first incentive for membership. A new Parlor, Las Flores No. 262 in Avenal, was organized with a fine personnel. This year has also brought back many members into our organization.

"Drill teams and drum and bugle corps sponsored by various Parlors have been given due recognition. They, in turn, have represented our Order throughout the year in a most fitting way.

"Much community service has been given by the Parlors, which stand ready and willing at all times to give aid and assistance.

"Publicity of the highest type has been given throughout the year through our official magazine, The Grizzly Bear, local newspapers, magazines, over the air, and through community service. Truly, every project is worthy of publicity.

"As Grand President of the Native Daughters, I have endeavored to represent the Order in keeping with its high principles. I have spoken before numerous clubs and gatherings, before fraternal organizations, and before schools. I have dedicated and helped to dedicate public buildings and historical markers, and dedicated various National and State Flags. I represented the Native Daughters during the Bay Bridge dedication, and rode as their representative in the Admission Day parade. I have represented them at receptions, luncheons and social affairs. I was introduced at the State Assembly and awarded the honor and privilege of addressing the State Senate in the State Capitol at Sacramento.

"As I have traveled to the north and the south, to the east and the west of our great State, I have endeavored to give service at all times, sparing neither time nor strength in my efforts. I have given all in my power to give. If I have failed, it is not because I have not tried. If progress has been made, I have been well repaid for service invested in behalf of the Order. I have endeavored to give credit where credit is due.

"At the end of my term in June, when I step out of my office as Grand President, I will turn over to my successor in office my hopes, my ambitions, and my goodwill for continued progress of the Native Daughters of the Golden West. But I will retain the memories of this Golden Jubilee Year as the crowning year of my life of service to State and Nation. I will ever stand ready and willing to continue to SERVE, when my service will be of benefit in the further realization of the Dreams of our Pioneer Ancestors to make California a Land of Hope and Golden Promise."

SAN JOSE AND SANTA CLARA COUNTY

Russell E. Pettit
(MANAGER
SAN JOSE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.)

AS SAN JOSE IS THE COUNTY SEAT OF Santa Clara County, it is fitting that you be informed in general of this great central coast county.

"The Valley of Heart's Delight" lies just south of San Francisco, between the Santa Cruz Mountains, which parallel the western coast, and the Mount Hamilton range, which stretches southward between Santa Clara Valley and the San Joaquin Valley; it trends southeasterly for sixty miles, with an average width of twenty miles, and its northern section is penetrated by San Francisco Bay. It is 1,305 square miles, or 835,200 acres, in area. This topography accounts for the mildness of its climate, as it is sheltered by the redwood-forested summits on the west from the coast fogs and winds, and by the eastern range from the heat of the vast interior of California, and the waters of San Francisco Bay temper the cold and modify the summer heat. The result is an equable climate and no abrupt seasonal changes; one season slips unnoticed into another. Federal Government weather reports covering a period of twenty-eight years show a mean annual average temperature of 57.6 degrees; a mean maximum of 68.6, and a mean minimum of 44.9; the annual average of relative humidity for the same period of time at 5 p.m. has been 54 per cent, which is considered ideal by medical authorities; there are comparatively few summer days that reach 90 degrees or over, and then only three or four hours of the day; the mornings, evenings and nights are comfortably cool; there are few winter days that have an early morning temperature colder than 32 degrees above zero; annual average of sunshine is 72 per cent of total possible hours, or 294 days per year—only 71 days being recorded as cloudy.

The vast fruit and vegetable industry of California was started and developed in Santa Clara Valley. Horticulture is still the valley's leading industry and it is doubtful if there is a section of similar area in the world that produces so many kinds or so vast a quantity of fruits and vegetables. The normal prune crop alone averages from 90,000,000 to 120,000,000 pounds of dried fruit, 30 percent of the world crop being produced here. There are also more than 16,000 acres of apricots, 6,000 acres in pears, 7,000 acres in grapes, 5,000 acres in walnuts, 11,000 acres in tomatoes, 4,000 acres in spinach, 2,000 acres in cherries, and several thousands acres in apples, berries, plums, peaches, peas, celery, and other fruits and vegetables. The year 1856 may very logically be assigned as the year when the commercial fruit industry of California and of this valley began. In that year Louis Pellier, a Frenchman, brought from his home district of Agen in France a number of prune scions or sections to his place near San Jose. About the time fruit tree nurseries were established near San Jose the orchard industry began to expand and it has been growing ever since.

A prominent factor in attracting families and students here from all parts of the world is the facilities for education provided in Santa Clara County. In San Jose is located the San Jose State College, the oldest and largest normal school in California. Also, in this community, which is the county seat, there are four junior high schools, a high school, a technical high school, thirteen elementary schools, twelve kindergarten schools, a secretarial school, and seven parochial schools. At Santa Clara, three miles from San Jose, is the world-famous University of Santa Clara; and at Palo Alto, nineteen miles distant from the same city, is equally famous Stanford University. In the county in addition there are nine high schools, fifty-seven elementary schools, several private schools, and two military schools. Lick Observatory at the summit of Mount Hamilton, near San Jose, is the Astronomical Department of the University of California, and is world-famous for its studies and discoveries. Excellent libraries are located throughout the county.

During the recent few years the eyes of the world have been turned toward the Santa Clara Valley because in this natural bowl-shaped area there is located Moffett Field, the 1,000-acre United States Army Air Station. Although the "U.S.S. Macon" is no longer at the station, the mammoth dock or hangar, the huge helium storage tanks, the attractive barracks and the many other unique structures on the reservation, are still a constant source of wonderment to many hundreds of visitors monthly. The station is a small city in itself, there being more than six hundred officers and enlisted men of the Army Air Corps living and working there. Heavier-than-air development at the station has resulted in a different type of activity, and soon there will be hundreds of planes of the Pacific Fleet which will conduct maneuvers from this base.

San Jose, California's first capital city, and oldest incorporated city and oldest pueblo in the state, is the county seat of this famous valley. Founded November 29, 1777, it has now grown to be a modern city of 87,500 population serving a trade territory of ever-increasing wealth and importance.

The Garden City is located in the heart of Santa Clara County fifty miles southerly from San Francisco and six miles from the southern arm of San Francisco Bay. It occupies the position of central city in the greatest fruit canning and dried fruit packing center in the world. As one of the four largest cities in the Bay District, and as it is within the San Francisco metropolitan area, it shares with these cities the opportunities for expansion and development that naturally exist in the Bay Region, in addition to its own special local advantages.

Of the forty-three canneries in the county twenty-three are located in San Jose, and of the thirty dried fruit packing plants, one-half are in this city. During the peak of the season from 15,000 to 20,000 men and women are engaged in the orchards, canneries, packing houses and drying yards. The county pack of fruits berries and vegetables averages annually more than 3,000,000 cases of two dozen quart cans per case, or a total of 72,000,000 cans, and at twenty tons per carload approximately 4,000 railroad cars are required to load the pack. One can company in the city has a capacity of half a million cans per day, and a similar large quantity is manufactured by a second local company. Another local type of fruit product is jams, je lies and fruit juices, which finds markets in all parts of the United States and most of the world. The largest manufacturer of orchard and fruit handling machinery in the United States is located in this city.

San Jose is well located for transportation facilities. Railroads, auto stages and truck lines run from San Jose to all parts of the State and Nation. A very active campaign is on at the present time for the development of deep water shipping near the Guadalupe River at the extreme southern end of San Francisco Bay. Through the Army Engineers the government has approved a thorough economic survey of this project and all official bodies have already approved the proposition. By the dredging of a proper sized channel and the construction of a turning basin and wharfage, ocean-going vessels will be able to make regular calls at Port San Jose for the millions of pounds of dried and canned fruit exported annually from San Jose, as well as bring in countless other cargoes, such as lumber, oil and gasoline, automobiles, and other important commodities.

San Jose has shown a steadily increasing growth in many ways. The 1930 United States Census showed the city to have a population of 57,651 or a gain of 45.2 percent over the 1920 census. These census figures placed San Jose ahead of two of the community's long-time California rivals by more than 10,000 inhabitants. School enrollment has shown a steady increase from 13,597 in 1927 to 15,609 in 1937. Post office receipts have climbed from $214,649 in 1920 to $457,443 in 1936. Amount of money orders has increased from $679,458 to $1,367,989 in 1936. Water meters have increased from 13,473 in 1920 to 21,635 in 1936; electric meters from 10,221 to 25,945; gas meters from 10,198 to 24,756; and telephones from 11,142 in 1920 to 23,763 in 1936. Motor vehicle registration in Santa Clara County in 1936 was 61,566 and the circulation of books in the county library increased from 309,045 in 1924 to 1,070,637 in 1936. Building permits in San Jose for 1936 totaled $1,993,855; bank clearings rose to $135,998,893, and bank debits to $274,835,211.

Several important construction projects are now either under way or have been completed recently in San Jose, as well as throughout Santa Clara County. Our new $650,000 Civic Auditorium, completed within the past year, has already proved a real asset to the community life of San Jose, and since the opening date there has been constant activity in the building. It is considered one of the most modern and up-to-date auditoriums now in existence.

Numerous other construction projects involving millions of dollars are now completed, in-

NATIVE DAUGHTERS IN SANTA CLARA COUNTY

Santa Clara County has four Subordinate Parlors of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West. A brief history of each is here presented, being compiled from data supplied on request of The Grizzly Bear:

Gairaud, a former Grand Trustee, are members of Vendome.

Years ago the Parlor built a log cabin in Alum Rock Park and dedicated it to the California Pioneers. It has planted many trees in public parks with appropriate ceremonies, takes great interest in veterans' welfare and the homeless children project, and observes all patriotic occasions.

SAN JOSE

cluding an expenditure of $5,000,000 by the Southern Pacific in the re-routing of their line into San Jose, a new depot, subways and viaducts, so that no city streets cross the railroad line except by subway or viaduct. Another large project which gave Santa Clara County a great step forward is the construction, at an expenditure of $3,000,000, of seven retention dams on the rivers and creeks of the valley, allowing the conservation of water greatly needed in the water table of the Valley. Formerly this water was practically all wasted by rushing to the Bay. Now, most of it is conserved and gradually released to percolate into the gravels of the streams.

No part of California offers more attractions to the tourist than Santa Clara County. The state highway coast route from San Francisco to Los Angeles runs the entire length of the Valley, and other paved highways run in various directions.

Because of its equable climate, scenic attractions, varied fruit production, and many other desirable features, Santa Clara Valley is known as "The Valley of Heart's Delight." To the home-seeker and to the investor it offers pleasant living and satisfactory returns, and to the tourist delightful trips and enjoyable experiences that will linger long in memory.

WITH GRAND PRESIDENT HARTley Russell, of Stanford Parlor No. 76, presiding throughout the deliberations, the Sixtieth Grand Parlor of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West was in session at Sonoma City, May 17, 18 and 20.

The reports of grand officers and committees dealt, mostly, with matters heretofore given full publicity in The Grizzly Bear. Follows a summary of the Sonoma Grand Parlor proceedings, with no reference, however, to proposed legislation that failed of passage:

CHANGES IN CONSTITUTIONS.

Grand Parlor:

Art. V, Sec. 3 amended by adding the provision that candidates for offices in the Grand Parlor must be nominated by members of the Grand Parlor.

Art. VIII, Sec. 3 amended by adding a "Committee on Americanization, of five members."

Art. VIII, Sec. 3, Sub. 6 amended by changing the title of Committee on History to California History Board.

Art. IX, Sec. 20 amended to give the Committee on State of the Order authority to acquire information concerning the affairs of a Parlor.

Art. IX amended by adding: "Sec. 21. The Committee on Americanization shall promote good citizenship, study legislation pending before the Legislature and Congress on matters of immigration, exclusion, import duty for the protection of all matters pertaining to the welfare of American Citizens and the benefit of California Products and Industry, and make such recommendations to the Grand President, Grand Parlor and the Order at large which they may deem of importance and advantage to the promotion of such objects."

Art. XI amended by adding Sec. 7½, which gives the Grand President power to suspend the charter of a Subordinate Parlor that is not functioning properly.

Art. XI amended by adding Sec. 14A, which regulates the soliciting of funds by a Subordinate Parlor.

Art. XIII, Sec. 2 amended to provide: "No Subordinate Parlor shall invest any funds in, nor acquire any real property or buildings or make any expenditure for the improvement of the same or acquire any stock in any corporation nor sell or otherwise dispose of such property, unless permission therefore shall have first been secured from the Board of Control."

Subordinate Parlors:

Art. VIII, Sec. 1 amended to provide for the payment of benefits to beneficial members for total disability.

Art. VIII, Sec. 2 amended by adding: "The by-laws may provide conditions other than those relating to delinquency qualifying members for funeral benefits."

Art. XVI, Sec. 5 amended to provide that a Subordinate Parlor must obtain consent of the Board of Control before making any gift or donation of a value in excess of $100.

BUSINESS TRANSACTED.

San Jose was selected as the meeting place for the Sixty-first (1938) Grand Parlor.

Vallejo was chosen as the place for holding the 1938 Admission Day celebration. This year's (1937) celebration will be held in Santa Monica.

Some slight changes were made in the initiatory ritual.

A fifty-year emblem was authorized, to be presented by Subordinate Parlors to those who have been members for fifty years or more.

FOR RIGID EXCLUSION ALL ALIENS INELIGIBLE FOR AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP

Declaring that "The Japanese question is not local. It is not merely a California problem or a Pacific Coast problem. It is national and vital to all the people of the United States. It is universal wherever white men dwell and Japanese ships may anchor," an extended resolution, "recommended to the people of the United States," was adopted. Quoting therefrom:

"Resolved: That the Native Sons of the Golden West stands for the long-established national policy of rigid exclusion of all aliens ineligible for American citizenship. That the entire Asiatic question is one of assimilation of diverse races. That we cannot make in America a homogeneous population of people who do not blend with the Caucasian race.

"That we in America cannot lower our standard of living to the level of the Asiatics. That the lower standard of living of the Asiatic laborer (if admitted to this country) will crowd out the American White agriculturist, will create unsatisfactory competition for our American labor and will be in all fields of activity a most serious industrial menace.

"That the success of our free democratic institutions demands of our people education, intelligence and patriotism and that the State should protect our citizens against unjust and impossible competition.

"That remunerative labor is the basis of contentment. That democracy rests on equality of the citizens. That the admission of Asiatics will give us a serious race problem that will ultimately bring disaster to both peoples. Be it further

"Resolved: That we view with alarm the

"1—Continued and unexplained increase of Japanese population in America and particularly in California.

"2—The growing and appalling occupation and operation of our orchards, our farms and the most fertile lands of our State by the Japanese population.

"3—The sure, steady and ultimate absorption of our fishing industry by the Japanese, thereby creating a serious menace to the people and the safeguarding of our country in time of war.

"4—The 'un-American if not anti-American' operation of Japanese language schools in Hawaii and California.

"5—The undeniable maintenance in America and particularly in California and Hawaii of a government within a government which rules the entire Japanese population living under the American Flag.

"6—The long-continued activities of the government of Japan, the Japanese in America, pro-Japanese organizations and those sympathizers having for their avowed object and purpose the a—Removal of restrictions on Asiatic immigration. b—Granting of rights of naturalization to Asiatics. c—Granting of American citizenship for the Asiatics. d—Intermarriage of the Asiatics with the White race. e—Abandonment of anti-Asiatic land legislation.

"7—The possibility of the suggested granting of statehood to the territory of Hawaii.

"8—The possibility of granting immigration quota to the Japanese, or any act or measure by which our present anti-Asiatic immigration and land laws may be modified or interfered with, all of which Japan and her sympathizers hope to accomplish."

A state-wide public speaking contest during the 1937-1938 Grand Parlor year was endorsed, and a committee to supervise the activity was authorized.

A committee to report to the next Grand Parlor a ceremony for observance of Mothers' Day was ordered appointed.

The Grand Secretary was instructed to have "printed in a suitable place on all official stationery and envelopes of the Order the words 'Golden Gate International Exposition—a Pageant of the Pacific in 1939'."

The consolidation of Alcalde Parlor No. 154 of San Francisco with El Dorado Parlor No. 52 of that city was approved.

Visalia Parlor No. 19, Etna Parlor No. 192 and Manteca Parlor No. 271 were ordered dissolved.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

Requesting the State Legislature to enact the necessary legislation so that California auto license plates shall display the Bear Flag.

Commending the State Legislature for providing "a joint committee made up of both senators and assemblymen to cooperate in the proper observance and celebration of Admission Day."

Urging immediate action by the Park Commission of the State of California "to preserve from the ravages of time the remaining buildings on the site of Fort Tejon," on the highway between Bakersfield and Los Angeles.

Favoring the transfer of the remains of General John A. Sutter and wife from Lititz, Pennsylvania, to Sutter's Fort, Sacramento City, and the erection there of a monument to the General's memory.

Extending to United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson of Sunset Parlor No. 26 "sincere congratulations upon the impending golden anniversary of his entry into the Order," June 11, 1887.

Commending Charles J. Powers of Twin Peaks Parlor No. 214 for presenting to Independence Hall, Philadelphia, a California State (Bear) Flag.

Expressing appreciation to Mayor Angelo J. Rossi of San Francisco, Chief Engineer Joseph B. Strauss and the Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, and the Golden Gate Fiesta Committee for their consideration in asking the Native Sons to officially dedicate the Golden Gate Bridge.

Urging the Federal Government to withhold action on the sale of the historic Custom House at Monterey.

GRAND PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

ELDRED L. MEYER OF SANTA MONICA, affiliated with Santa Monica Bay Parlor No 267, became the Grand President of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West at the Sixtieth Grand Parlor, which met in Sonoma. Addressing the assembled representatives of the Subordinate Parlors from all sections of California, following his induction into office, May 20, he said:

"My Brothers: No Grand President of the Native Sons of the Golden West in recent years has taken office with so great an opportunity, with so many fine events of promise ahead! This afternoon, as I stand before you, it is needless for me to say that this is a most happy occasion. I assure you, right at the outset of my term, that the Native Sons of the Golden West have given me far more than I can ever hope to repay.

ELDRED L. MEYER OF SANTA MONICA
GRAND PRESIDENT ORDER NATIVE SONS GOLDEN WEST

"We have just finished a session full of promise. Much new legislation has been enacted. And before we separate to return to our homes throughout the State, I wish to briefly outline some of the plans which I have formulated. Like all those fine Past Grand Presidents who have preceded me, and like our Junior Past Grand President, Hartley Russell, who has given us a full year of his time, I am ready to carry on where he has left off, to give you a full year, to do everything within my power to advance our Order practically and to maintain the prestige which it now enjoys in all parts of our State.

"Thursday of next week the Native Sons of the Golden West will dedicate the magnificent $35,000,000 Golden Gate Bridge, the tallest and longest suspension bridge in all the world. Thanks to the untiring efforts of our Junior Past Grand President, Hartley Russell, and the Grand Officers of the San Francisco Bay area, our Order will have further prestige, publicity of world-wide proportions, and a proud privilege that seldom comes to any fraternity in the ordinary course of a lifetime. This outstanding dedication, coming as it does at the beginning of the term, should have its full significance impressed on the entire membership of our Order. It can reflect but one thing—PRESTIGE.

"That is what every fraternal organization in America is seeking today, and while the eyes of the entire State and Nation are focused upon us, I intend, with your cooperation, to stage three mighty group initiations in all the active Parlors in all parts of this State, at three distinct and separate times during the year. Each will have a separate and different appeal, and each will have ample advance notice and publicity. All will be under the direct supervision of the Grand Officers, and the District Deputy Grand Presidents who, this year, in the larger districts, will be under the direct supervision of a Supervising District Deputy Grand President. These brothers will be directly responsible for the success or failure of these initiations. Advance plans will be mailed all Parlors, and a special article will be prepared for the Grizzly Bear Magazine. In addition, I intend, through our Press Bureau, to give the public press full and complete news items, as far as practical.

"The first initiation, to be known as the Admission Day Class, will be held throughout the month of August and in early September. It is my hope that all Parlors will have classes, with ceremonies which will inspire and enthuse those so fortunate as to have been born on California soil. September 9, California's birthday, will ever after remind them of this gala occasion.

"The second will be a series of reinstatements in the months of November and December, when the spirit of goodwill is so manifest. I will appeal to you to make every effort to bring back into our fold those many former members who are still good Native Sons at heart. Many were dropped from our roll through no fault of their own, and would be glad to be reinstated if an invitation was forthcoming. Please accomplish the true spirit of brotherly love in this manner.

"The third will come when there is, as a rule, a general lull in our Order's activities, in April, and will be known as the General A. M. Winn Class, honoring with appropriate rites the memory of the Founder of our Order, whose daily life exemplified FRIENDSHIP, LOYALTY and CHARITY.

"I intend also to offer the Grand Parlor Cash Prize Membership Awards, similar to those offered during the past few years. They will be payable to the Parlor, which may allocate them as deemed best. In addition, I will offer special trophies which will be competed for only by Parlors that are numerically small and, for that reason, have felt that they have been excluded from this Membership Contest.

"While the securing of new members is all important, please continue to bring into our Order only men who are worthwhile—those who will reflect credit to our great Fraternity. And please do not overlook the fact that for many years this Order has played the part of the Big Brother by permitting the youth of California to become united with us at the age of 18.

"I have some very definite ideas on the forming of new Parlors. Whenever groups of Californians request of me permission to formulate new Parlors, the requests will be granted only after a thorough investigation has been made, and under no circumstances will charters be granted to Parlors unless I am assured that they will be properly officered. Two new Parlors are in the making now, one in Taft, Kern County, and the other in Huntington Park, Los Angeles County; both are voluntary offerings, being directed by District Deputy Grand Presidents.

"I cannot commend too highly those Parlors that have presented sets of Flags to schools, courts, and kindred groups; our continued devotion to our country's flag is our best answer to the threats of Communism.

"Of all our objectives, aims and endeavors, our Homeless Children Work is, to me, our Order's Gold Star accomplishment. This most laudable work should be maintained and carried on always in conjunction with our sister Order, the Native Daughters of the Golden West. To further assist this work, at our first Board of Grand Officers meeting I am going to submit for approval printed forms of bequests in which the general public will be advised more fully of this work and will be given an opportunity to participate therein. These forms will be published monthly in the Grizzly Bear Magazine and will be distributed by members of the Homeless Children Committees. Our attorney members will be mailed a supply, so that they may, from time to time, advise their clients of this great humanitarian work.

"In these concluding few minutes of this Sixtieth Grand Parlor, I urge you to more forcibly carry on for a successful term, inspired by your visit to this historic shrine of Old California, and safe in the knowledge that the Native Sons of the Golden West are carrying out the precepts of the Founder, General A. M. LONG BEACH—AN OUTSTANDING EVENT in Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. was the annual Mothers Day observance, when pioneer mothers and mothers of the members were honored guests. This affair is always anticipated with pleasure, and this year proved no exception as evidenced by the large attendance. As each guest arrived she was presented with a corsage of pansies and fern.

A chicken dinner was served at tables adorned with vari-hued sweetpeas, and following it President Eugenia Smith extended a welcome to all and introduced the guests, among whom were Supervising Deputy Flora Holy; Kate McFadyen, "mother" of the Parlor; Fannie Baker of Pomona, 85, eldest of the guests; Mrs. E. J. Haight, 82, a native, who proposed three cheers for California, and Harriet Brewer, 81. A splendid program of music and dancing was presented by the Meglin kiddies.

Leola Temby was general chairman of the affair. The dinner committee included Margaret Burch, Johanna Reed, Beryl Vallikett, Nell Cooke, Josephine Pierson and Mary Stultz. Lois McDougall made the corsages, and the reception committee consisted of Daisy Hansen (chairman), Kate McFadyen, Violet Henshilwood, Clara Fay, Wilhelmina Curtis, Ellen Rogers, Fannie McPherson, Eleonora Fisher and Gertrude Riddle. May 6 a donation toward the purchase of new flags for the Parlor was received from June Knight, through her mother, Beryl Vallikett.

Supervising Deputy Flora Holy was the Parlor's guest May 20, and she was presented with a gift. A historical reading, "Early Days of Brigadier-General Winn, the Founder of the Native Sons of the Golden West," was given by History Chairman Violet T. Henshilwood. The refreshment committee included E. Mabel Emery and Lucretia Coates. The thimble club met May 13 with Johanna Reed. Mrs. Leola Temby returned May 17 from a ten-day visit in Sacramento.

June 1, at the Municipal Auditorium, a California State (Bear) Flag will be presented by the Parlor to the American War Mothers, who will be holding their convention in Long Beach at that time.—V.T.H.

RAMONA'S GOLDEN JUBILEE.

Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. will celebrate its fiftieth (golden) institution anniversary with a banquet at the Elks Club the evening of Tuesday, June 8, at 7:30. There will be brief addresses dealing with the past, present and future activities of the Parlor, and entertainment features by the ablest performers of radio and the screen will be introduced. Many oldtime members of the Parlor will be in attendance, including No. 109's first president, Senator Reginaldo F. Del Valle.

Ramona cordially invites all Native Sons and Native Daughters, their families and friends to join in the golden anniversary festivities. Reservations, at $2 per plate, may be made through Secretary John V. Scott. "Bob" Dunn heads the committee of arrangements.

SEVEN INITIATED.

Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. honored at luncheon May 11 the members having birthdays in May and June. President Lena Teague Burrows presented a lovely plate to Ora M. Evans, program chairman, in appreciation of her services. Lillian Burkhart Goldsmith presented her final lecture, giving Richard Wagner's "Prelude to Exile," with Richard Tetley Kardos at the piano. The postponed benefit bridge tea given by the Girl Scouts troop sponsored by Californiana, in charge of Lieutenant Mary Clarke, was a pleasant success.

Seven candidates were initiated at the May 26 meeting of the Parlor. Marcella Palethorpe was hostess at the tea. The Gertrude sewing circle met May 8 at the home of Edith Adams.—O.L.

BARBECUE AND FIESTA.

Santa Monica—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. will have its annual barbecue and fiesta at Villa San Pasqual, Santa Monica Canyon, Sunday, June 13, starting at 12 o'clock noon. Dancing and games of all kinds will be provided. Tickets are 50 cents each. All Natives and their friends are invited, and a good time is assured.

Honoring First Vice-president Manley Danforth, the Parlor will initiate a large class of candidates June 16. "Let's get the eligibles into the fold for the Santa Monica Admission Day celebration," says Danforth.

MOTHERS NIGHT OBSERVED.

Glendale—Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. had a lovely party for the benefit of the homeless children. Evalyn Wilson was the chairman, and was assisted by Leonora Pagliuso, Myrtize Tregea, Ethel Kerns and Aleatha Gregory.

Mothers Night was observed May 11, and each mother received a gift of flowers and a handkerchief. President Dorothy Ravn introduced as the guest speaker of the evening Superior Judge Thomas P. White. Parraliat Simons entertained with piano numbers. President George LaRue and members of Glendale Parlor No. 264 N.S.G.W. were guests. Past presidents composed the committee for the evening.

Come Again

surpass all has been launched and the first large class was initiated May 26 by Past President George Webbs and the Parlor's initiatory team. The class was in honor of Les Drown, University's hard working president, and a large crowd was in attendance. Art Hontz, Ken Austin and Neil Hiltz sponsored a pep rally for members and their candidates May 12 and the University "mounted" got their men on applications. An evening of entertainment, a good show and ample refreshments were provided.

University is no longer carrying the tail light in general Native Son activities in the southland. Ben Hiss is doing a splendid job as secretary of the Admission Day committee, Maynard Garrison is keeping the crowds coming to the Friday Luncheon Club, Proxy Les Drown provides good ideas for discussion at the Interparlor Committee meetings and Melvin McMasters is very active in the homeless children work. With new life instilled in the older members and the fold being increased, the Parlor expects to have more of its members in the field working for the benefit of the Order. Mr. and Mrs. John E. Mackel have a brand new native son. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wells are waiting for Carol Mae to become old enough to write her name on a native daughters application. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heyerman have a 1937 model native.—J.P.H.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.

The annual Interparlor Memorial Service of the Native Daughters of the Golden West and the Native Sons of the Golden West will be held at 10 a.m. of Sunday, June 13, in Memory Grove, Griffith Park.

Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. will be in immediate charge of the services, and will plant a tree in honor of their late president, George W. Haight.

All Parlors of both Native Sons and Native Daughters in Los Angeles County are not only invited, but are particularly urged, to participate.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Mrs. Lillian Bair, mother of Bert A. Bair (Santa Monica Bay NS), died May 4. She was a native of Ventura County.

Hilmar H. Wahrmund, husband of Mrs. Beatrice Wahrmund (Californiana ND), died May 8 at the age of 53.

Miss Minnie Stansbury, sister of Charles Stansbury (Ramona NS), died May 9.

George W. Haight, president of Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W., died May 11, survived by a wife, Mrs. Isadora M. Haight, a son, Raymond L. Haight (Hollywood NS), and a daughter, Mrs. Elwood Lawrence. Deceased was a son of Fulton Haight, a California Pioneer of 1849, and for many years practiced law in San Francisco and Los Angeles. He was born at Oakland, Alameda County, July 22, 1870.

SAN PEDRO—RUDECINDA PARLOR NO. 230 N.D.G.W. is enjoying its new quarters in the Women's Club, Eleventh and Gaffey streets. Two new members were added to the roster last month. With Marcella Sandoval as chairman, a dessert telephone bridge will be sponsored during June. Recent meetings of the Florencita thimble club were held at the homes of Juanita Brooks and Victoria Adler. The club now meets the first and third Wednesdays.

Rudecinda will be a keen competitor for the cup the homeless children is offering the Parlor contributing the most during the year April 1, 1937, to April 1, 1938. President Catherine Hackett of the Parlor, and her husband, John Hackett, of Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W., were San Francisco visitors last month. Second Vice-president Marcella Sandoval was a visitor last month to Sacramento. Katherine Mooney and Margaret Krieder were in San Francisco the latter part of May.

Mrs. Mary Tapia Vegas, mother of Emily Anderson of Rudecinda, died recently at San Francisco. She was born at Jackson, Amador County, May 16, 1862.—C.R.K.

READY FOR SERVICE.

Compton—Compton Parlor No. 273 N.S.G.W. now boasts of a ritual team that is ready and willing to visit any southland Parlor and exemplify the ritual for the benefit of candidates. The team, which has been showered with compliments for its accomplishments, includes:

NATIVE RHODODENDRONS FOUND BY RANGER IN MUIR WOODS.

Regarded as one of the most significant wildflower finds made for a number of years in Muir Woods National Monument, California, is the discovery by one of the ranger naturalists of a stand of native rhododendrons. Although this beautiful flowering shrub has survived the inroads of man in several isolated sections of Mount Tamalpais, it was not known to exist within Muir Woods, nor do cross references indicate that other botanists have ever seen the rhododendron within the area now comprising the monument.

Protected by the rules existing through the National Park Service, which forbid picking of wildflowers or interference with wildlife, this grove of rhododendrons will be safe from those "lovers of flowers" who persistently denude woods and fields of their glory by helping themselves to the blossoms and showy foliage.

SAN BERNARDINO

SAN BERNARDINO INVITES

FIRST SETTLED BY THE MORMONS IN 1852, San Bernardino has continued to grow, doubling its population in the last decade. Its strategic location has had much to do with this growth and it has become the center of a large trade area.

San Bernardino is the county seat of the largest county in the United States, having an area of 20,157 square miles. The present population of the city is approximately 40,500.

San Bernardino is located at an elevation of 1,054 feet, and inland from the coast some sixty miles or more. These factors contribute to the absence of the damp sea fogs which are so prevalent in many southern California cities. The average maximum temperature during the month of August is 94. However, the very low humidity in the atmosphere keeps the effects of "Old Sol's" rays at a minimum. The nights are always cool and comfortable.

The Asistencia, Old Mission Outpost Near Redlands

The City of San Bernardino maintains a municipal playground located in the San Bernardino Mountains. This is an ideal place for picnics and outings. It may also be used for Boy Scout meetings, Y.M.C.A. and community gatherings. A splendid eighteen-hole golf course is available immediately adjacent to the city.

In the center of San Bernardino is located a fine, modern municipal auditorium. This is a concrete structure with a seating capacity of 2,500, and is ideally situated and constructed for the holding of conventions, both large and small.

The San Bernardino Water Department is municipally owned and operated and the city is fortunate in having a large and abundant supply of pure water. Water is pumped directly into the mains from deep wells, thus eliminating any chance of contamination.

The city is the home of the National Orange Show. Here every winter is held an exhibit of unusual interest, where may be seen the finest citrus fruits of all the Orange Empire. A beautiful lighting system appeals to the most aesthetic taste. A splendid program with a variety of interest is arranged for every day during the Orange Show. Competing districts vie with one another in displaying the choicest fruit that nature and California can produce. Prizes are offered amounting to thousands of dollars for the finest exhibits, and it gives great distinction to the district winning a prize.

The San Bernardino Valley Union Junior College has a campus of thirty-four acres ideally located to command a beautiful view of the San Bernardino Valley and mountains. There are six very fine and completely equipped buildings —an administration building, a science building, large gymnasium, a library, a building housing a cafeteria and a "little theater," and an observatory.

The local school has taken its place among the leading junior colleges of the state both as to physical equipment and advance policies. Most satisfactory affiliating relations have been established with the universities. Graduates of the college with satisfactory records are assured complete acceptance of their junior college credits upon transfer to the advanced institutions. Thus, there is afforded to the young people of the vicinity opportunity to complete the first two years of their university course at home.

The City of San Bernardino is fortunate and exceedingly proud in having one of the most modern and up-to-date high schools in the State of California.

The course of study is intended to fit the needs of all kinds of students, including those who expect to carry on their education in higher fields of learning as well as those intending to enter fields of employment at the end of their high school course. For the latter, instruction is offered along lines of housekeeping, commerce, mechanics and agriculture.

The high school is accredited with the California and Stanford Universities, thus making it possible for students who have completed their high school course with credit to enter those institutions without examination.

Inasmuch as there are nearly forty churches and religious organizations in San Bernardino, the religious life of the city is well taken care of. A fine spirit of co-operation is shown between the various organizations in all matters of common interest. Most of the leading fraternal organizations are represented in San Bernardino and many of them maintain their own clubrooms.

San Bernardino offers a variety of motor trips of unusual interest. Desert, mountain and valley regions are quickly and easily reached from San Bernardino, the central point from which to see the inland southern California. Other points of interest in this immediate territory which are particularly worthy of a visit are the Cajon Pass and Pioneer Monument, Redlands, with its Sunset Drive and Smiley Heights, Riverside, with its Mission Inn and Mount Rubidoux, and the citrus section surrounding San Bernardino. Do not fail to make a trip over the "Rim of the World" in the San Bernardino Mountains, equally beautiful in summer and winter.

San Bernardino invites the manufacturer who appreciates the value of distributing facilities, cheap fuel or electric power, and ideal working conditions which contribute to the maximum efficiency of labor. It invites the wholesaler who can appreciate its situation as the nearest point of distribution to a consuming territory of vast extent.

TENTH BIRTHDAY OBSERVED.

San Bernardino—Members of Lugonia No. 241 N.D.G.W. entertained their mothers at dinner May 10. President Thelma Nett was the toastmistress, and introduced the guests. In charge of arrangements were Ruth Roberds, Laura Clark, Marguerite McKenzie, Hazel Poole, Mildred Meyers, Henrietta Harris and Eliza Cadd. May 11 the Parlor had a large representation at the states dinner in the Municipal Auditorium.

Lugonia observed its tenth institution anniversary May 12. A brief history of the Parlor was presented by Clara Barton, in whose home No. 241 was organized May 4, 1927. A large birthday cake was the gift of Deputy Genevieve Hiskey. Among the visitors were Florence D. Schoneman, "mother" of the Parlor, and Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg.

ATTRACTIONS ADDED TO DEATH VALLEY NATIONAL MONUMENT.

Recent enlargement of Death Valley National Monument by 305,000 acres offers scores of scenic and historic attractions hitherto little known to motor travelers. A new addition in the southeast portion of the monument includes the lower sink of Amargosa River, Saratoga Springs, Old Confidence Mill, Bradbury Well and Jubilee Pass.

A portion of the western slope of the Panamint Range was added to include Telescope Peak, towering 11,045 feet above sea level, the historical mining camp of Wildrose, Wildrose Spring and Pinto Peak. It was in this region that wild mountain sheep were facing extermination as they came down the west slopes in search of water.

The northwest section of Death Valley National Monument has been extended into Nevada, taking in the Grapevine Mountain country lying in Esmeralda and Nye Counties. In the east portion a small strip has been acquired through which the road to Dante's View in the Black Mountains passes.

WESTWARD FOR GOLD

Gold dust from earth was ever in their eyes
Blowing from high Sierra's naked peaks,
With dazzling dreams where ladders touched the skies
Rearing great palaces from lowly creeks.
Westward for California's gold they came
With youthful laughter burning in their veins
Seeking Alladin's magic lamp of fame
Finding fate whirled the wheel and clanked the chains.
Now no-one whispers of their dreams or woes
Their lips are sealed in graves of humble dust
The same moon rises and I think it knows
The tread of pioneers their songs of trust
The mountains stand with memories secure
But every peak betrays age-old allure.

Beautification of the highway between Yucaipa and Redlands has been started by planting of a road border of liveoak by Yucaipa Valley citizens. Additional planting from time to time is planned by the enterprising apple district community.

BAKERSFIELD—PLANS FOR PLACING a memorial statue of the martyred Franciscan friar, Father Garces, in the traffic circle at the north entrance to Bakersfield was a result of the action taken when the Garces memorial committee was organized by men and women representing the Kern County Historical Society, Bakersfield No. 42, El Tejon No. 239 N.D.G.W., Knights of Columbus and other organizations. The purpose of the statue will be to commemorate in this community the life and work of Father Garces, who was the first White man to camp on Kern River. He wrote about his trip through this district in his diary. He named the river that is now known as Kern, "Rio de San Felipe," and also named the present site of Bakersfield, "San Miguel de Los Noches."

The officers of the Garces memorial committee are: R. W. Loudon, president Kern County Historical Society, chairman; Georgia Sanders, secretary El Tejon N.D.G.W., recording secretary; Dr. P. N. Root, corresponding secretary. Hal Bannister of Bakersfield N.S.G.W. heads the finance committee, and Miss Eleanor Rehdorf is publicity chairman.

SEA OF DREAMS

(CHARLES B. GREENFIELD.)

Oh, let us sail on a sea of dreams,
Our barque a golden song
Touching at flowery ports of Spring
As we joyfully drift along

A shimmering sea of emerald green
With tinted waves to lead
That sweep away to wood and shore
Splashed with April gold

A sea where gorgeous blossoms bloom
Pink and white and red,
Reflecting the glory of Springtime
In God's mirror overhead.

Where sunlit wavelets toss and roll,
Brownbells, lupines fair,
Drifting away to the hidden coves
Of fern and maidenhair

Where leagues of crimson poppy flame
Bathed in fragrancy,
Are riding the balmy tides of Spring
O'er an inland sea.

Oh, let us sail on a sea of dreams,
Our barque a Springtime tune
That drifts with the quiet tide of May
Into the harbor of June.

—Saint Helena Star.

A MONTH OF ACTIVITY FOR SANTA BARBARA NATIVES

James French Dorrance

THE MONTH OF MAY BROUGHT A CALendar of unusual activity both to Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 Native Sons of the Golden West and Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 Native Daughters of the Golden West. There was real achievement in the accord with the original aims of the kindred orders, reverence for and the preservation of the historical landmarks of that sector of the Golden State that lies within their province. In several of these events Sons and Daughters collaborated effectively with that close amity that has grown up with many years of endeavor for kindred objectives.

On the first Saturday of the month Santa Barbara Sons had the honor of laying the cornerstone of the Channel City's $500,000 Federal and Postoffice Building in the very heart of the business district. Uncle Sam granted the plea of the natives not to inflict upon them one of the stock postoffice models, and built a handsome structure along California-Spanish architectural lines in which the busy little city of 42,000 souls specializes.

Advancing their tree planting program as a community contribution, Reina del Mar Parlor, Native Daughters, placed an olive tree on the grounds of Santa Barbara's new half-million-dollar Postoffice and Federal Building at its recent dedication. Mrs. Edna McCormick, president of the Parlor and a great grandniece of Commodore Barry, U.S.N., whose photograph adorns a recent postage stamp, has the shovel in hand. Santa Barbara Parlor Native Sons laid the cornerstone of the new building earlier in the day. In this picture, in addition to President McCormick, from left to right: Mrs. Ben Gutierrez, Miss Eileen Shorten, St. Anthony's College choristers with Father Owen Silva O.F.M. conducting, Mrs. Frank Castro, Miss Christine Moller and Miss Julia Haines.

Historical significance of the site was marked when the Sons installed a bronze plate in the tiled main approach to the building. Around a bas-relief of the first military structure in the region was the inscription:

"This plaque placed by the Native Sons of the Golden West, May 6, 1937. On this site was founded the Presidio, April 21, 1782." About this plaque, which in two brief sentences established civic recognition of the Native Sons Order and the historic antiquity of their city, runs a wreath of California poppies.

Reina del Mar Parlor had an important place on the program. With the aid of Fr. Owen Silva's brown-robed choir from St. Anthony's College, President Edna McCormick, flanked by members of Reina del Mar's tree committee, planted an olive in honor of the American Constitution. Later, when the grounds of the postoffice have been more fully landscaped, other trees will be planted there honoring th Franciscan padres and their historian, the late Fr. Englehardt.

Santa Barbara County citizens fairly flocked to the new postoffice on this day of dedication. Within the handsome structure they found Native Daughters, under Mrs. Dorothy Yule, on duty as receptionists.

Another highlight of the month in which both Orders participated was the dedication of the Fremont-Foxen memorial plaque in Gaviota Pass, thirty-five miles north of the county seat, Santa Barbara. There on Sunday, May 16, gathered a representative audience of history lovers to see President Leland Holiday of the Native Sons, and President T. E. Brass, of the Santa Maria Lions Club, place a bronze tablet in the sheer face of the cliff where the pass is narrowest. This plaque told briefly a thrilling early-day story. Native Californians some eighty years ago planned to ambush there the tattered army which Lieutenant-Colonel John C. Fremont was leading from San Francisco to the relief of the American garrison in Los Angeles. All southern California was in revolt. While the Spaniards from Santa Barbara waited, Benjamin Foxen and his son, William, valley ranchers, led the Americans across San Marcos pass, twenty miles to the southeast, averting bloody massacre.

There was an interesting program at the plaque dedication, with Marion Parks Partridge, history advisor of Reina del Mar, Paul Sweetser,

Santa Barbara Parlor history authority. County Surveyor Owen O'Neill, Fr. Louis Schoon of St. Anthony College and many others poke under the genial direction of Santa Barbara's own native son, Leo Carrillo. They turned back the pages of history and clinched the value of such markings to the present and future generations. Nor did the memorial planters forget to pay tribute to "Billy" Ellis, who rides El Camino Real for the Automobile Club of Southern California, he conceived the idea of marking the spot of the massacre which failed. The plaque is inscribed:

"GAVIOTA PASS FREMONT FOXEN MEMORIAL. Here, on Christmas Day, 1846, natives and soldiers from the Presidio of Santa Barbara lay in ambush for Lt.-Col. John C. Fremont, U.S.A., and his battalion. Advised of the plot, Fremont was guided over the San Marcos Pass by Benjamin Foxen and his son William, and captured Santa Barbara without bloodshed. Erected jointly by Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 Native Sons of the Golden West and Lions Club of Santa Maria."

Another high spot of the month was the visit to the Santa Barbara area of Mrs. Florence Dodson Schoeneman of Los Angeles to prepare for the coming Grand Parlor session of the Native Daughters. For several days the gracious senora held court in the parlors of the Mar Monte hotel, conferring with officers of Reina del Mar Parlor, including President McCormick; Mrs. Amelia Acres, district deputy grand president;

Native Sons Grand Officers laying and dedicating a plaque at Santa Barbara's new Federal Building

Mrs. John D. Ross, chairman of history; Dr. Anna E. McCaughey, chairman of landmarks; Mrs. Florence Holzbauer of the Parlor's tree committee, and many others.

The visitor found time not only to attend the Gaviota Pass dedication, but to drive on that same Sunday to inspect La Purissima Mission, which the Federal Government is rebuilding at Lompoc, and to wind up a crowded day at Santa Inez Mission near Solvang. There she participated in the planting of a Fremontia which the Native Daughters presented the mission to show the close ties which bound that outpost with the historic Gaviota.

While in Santa Barbara Mrs. Schoeneman disclosed that she will take to the Grand Parlor session a collection of photographs of historic spots in California which the Daughters have been assembling. "Fifty Years of Markings by the N.D.G.W." is the title of the collection, which will be shown at the coming exposition at San Francisco in the Native Daughters building. Afterward the collection may be placed in the State Capitol at Sacramento, or passed on to the University of California for the use of history students.

There have been other happenings in which both Sons and Daughters of Santa Barbara have participated. We will just mention that the ways and means committee of the Daughters took over the Mar Monte hotel parlors on a recent Saturday for a most successful fashion show and bridge tea which brought out several hundred women of fashion, and that the Sons held their annual barbecue at Edgar Stow's ranch May 16.

ters in 1846, was occupied by officers of Stevenson's regiment in 1847, and later became the St. Charles hotel. It was the last adobe on State street. The plaque reads:

"Lieut.-Colonel John C. Fremont raised the American Flag here over his headquarters in Capt. Alpheus Thompson's residence, later known as the St. Charles Hotel, on December 27th, 1846, declaring Santa Barbara American territory. Lieut. Theodore Talbot and his small band of rangers who had occupied the town in July 1846, participated in the ceremonies. In commemoration, this plaque is dedicated August 15th, 1929, by the Historic Landmarks Committee, Native Sons of the Golden West."

PROTECT THE SARDINE AND SAVE A GREAT INDUSTRY FROM COLLAPSE.

There are other uses for sardines than canning. An enormous business has grown up in California known as sardine reduction. By this is meant the reduction of whole fish into by-products such as fish meal, fish oil, fertilizer, etc. Under the laws of California this reduction business, where conducted within the jurisdiction of the state, is subject to full control by the Fish and Game Commission.

Unfortunately, during the last six or seven years reduction of sardines has spread to just outside the jurisdiction of the state. Outside the three-mile limit are what are known as "floating reduction plants"—mobile ships engaged in the reduction of sardines. These ships, insofar as their reduction operations are concerned, are under no regulation or restriction whatsoever either by the state or the federal government. During the last three seasons the Fish and Game Commission has issued permits to plants operating within the jurisdiction of California to an average of approximately 600,000 tons per year. The take of floating plants can only be guessed at but undoubtedly runs into hundreds of thousands of tons.

Competent scientific research indicates that depletion of the sardine already impends and insists that full regulation is immediately necessary. Such research likewise indicates that an overwhelming percentage of the sardine take, whether used in shore plants or floating plants, comes from within the three-mile limit; in fact, from within the 100 fathom contour line.

It would seem obvious to any reasoning person that such regulation is vitally necessary. The sardine entirely aside from its commercial value constitutes the main food of other fish. Deplete the sardine and it almost inevitably will follow that these other fish will disappear. Commonsense tells us that unrestricted taking of any natural resource can only result in depletion and such depletion will mean the collapse of a great industry and the end of a splendid recreational phase of California life.—RALPH BANDINI.

RESTORING THE SAGE HEN IN LAVA BEDS NATIONAL MONUMENT.

Among the vanishing species which Federal Government naturalists are seeking to protect and rehabilitate is the sage hen. Once so plentiful that it formed a principal food staple in the diet of the pioneers and frontiersmen crossing the prairies, the bird is now alarmingly rare.

At the Lava Beds National Monument, California, the National Park Service, in co-operation with the United States Biological Survey, is seeking to re-introduce it. Sage hens were indigenous to this region, until quite recently, when the draining of a lake and the drought accompanying the past few summers disastrously interfered with their continued existence.

THE FINAL MEETING OF THE N.S.G.W. History Committee for the 1936-37 Grand Parlor year was held Saturday evening, May 15, in San Francisco, and the following members were present: Past Grand President Edward J. Lynch (chairman), Peter T. Conmy (vice-chairman), Joseph E. Tinney (secretary), Past Grand President Fletcher A. Cutler, Frank C. Merritt, George E. Barron, Emmet Joy and William G. Paden.

Reports were received from Judge Charles R. Boden, Rev. Thomas J. McKeon and Albert V. Mayrhofer, who represented the committee before various organizations but were unable to attend the meeting. A communication was received from Professor Herbert E. Bolton recommending, among other things, the appointment of Messrs. Hussey and Ames as Native Son History Fellows for the coming year.

After the meeting the members gathered at a dinner given in honor of Professor Herbert E. Bolton and Professor Herbert I. Priestley of the History Department of the University of California. Other guests at the dinner were Grand President Hartley Russell, Grand Secretary John F. Regan, Past Grand President Lewis F. Byington, and Dr. A. T. Leonard of the California Historical Association.

During the dinner there were various discussions by those present concerning the historical work being done by the several history organizations in the state, and both Professor Bolton and Professor Priestley commended the Order of the Native Sons of the Golden West for its splendid cooperation, which has resulted in creating a nation-wide interest in California history.

TABLET FOR PIONEER BUILDER.

Saturday afternoon, June 12, a bronze tablet will be dedicated by the Daughters of California Pioneers in commemoration of Captain William A. Richardson, founder of commerce and builder of the first habitation in Yerba Buena (San Francisco) in 1835.

The program will be presented at the Richardson Avenue entrance to the Presidio at 2 o'clock. Richardson Avenue is a new thoroughfare which begins at Broderick and Lombard and extends to the ramp of Golden Gate Bridge, being a diagonal cut of about three blocks. A grandson of Richardson, Charles Torres, was a charter member of Sequoia Parlor No. 160 N.S.G.W.—J. J. D.

VALLEY OF THE MOON

(AGNES O. WILSON.)

Sonoma, the valley of many moons,
So the old-time legend goes,
Indians named this favored spot
Where the golden poppy blows.

The gleam of the rising moon's pale rays,
Reflecting a peaceful land,
Shone through low gaps of the distant hills
On a roaming native band.

Between high points her light beamed through,
Then was lost to sight below,
Emerging when a peak was passed,
Appearing to come and go.

A romantic, stirring legend
Of colorful days now gone,
Once the home of the native Red man
And later, the Spanish don.

Sonoma, the valley of many moons,
Where Nature her charm fulfills,
Unfolding a beautiful vista
Of meadows and emerald hills

(The above came to The Grizzly Bear with the following notation by the author. "In spite of the fact that the Grand Parlor of Native Sons meets in Sonoma, I am presuming that the enclosed poem might be of interest to your readers. I have never seen anything in print concerning this beautiful legend, and consider it quite well worth recording. It cannot be done through a better medium than your publication. The word Sonoma, translated from the Indian language, means, so I have been informed, the valley of many moons, and to any one passing through the valley by moonlight it is easy to understand the origin of the name. The moon appears and disappears, then rising, through low gaps in the hill and gives the effect of separate planets. Seven of them, according to the legend."

San Luis Obispo will have its annual Fiesta de las Flores, commemorating the founding of Mission San Luis Obispo in 1772, June 4-6.

Livermore, Alameda County, will feature its annual rodeo June 12 and 13.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

MANTECA—A HISTORICAL MARKER erected by Phoebe A. Hearst No. 214 was unveiled and dedicated May 12 at Dutch Point, the site of a public house erected in 1849 and used as a stopping place for the mountaineers on their trips to and from the San Joaquin Valley for supplies. The first natural gas found in California and used for domestic purposes was discovered at this site in 1883 at a depth of 1,250 feet.

Supervising Deputy Norma Hodson, chairman of the marker committee, introduced Grand President Florence D. Boyle, who made the dedicatory address. She referred to the projects of the Order, and emphasized the work of the Native Daughters in keeping alive in the memory of present-day residents the old landmarks of California. The marker, draped with United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags, was unveiled by Norma Hodson and Vessie Orr.

Fiftieth Anniversary Observed.

Nevada City—Laurel No. 6 celebrated its fiftieth institution anniversary April 21. Three of the charter members—Nora McArthur Austin, Belle Rolfe Douglass and Lulu Clutter Jones—were in attendance. Margaret Fortier presided as hostess, and introduced Esther Tremaine, who outlined an extended program which was presented by President Ida Sweeney, Helen Zoe Kagerer, Jean Gleason, Nellie Clarke, Edith Davey, Mary Doolittle, Minerva Wright, Frances Hawke, Minnie Brand, Josie Muscardini and Mainhart Talbot.

As a symbol of the pioneer spirit a small white satin covered wagon with gold base was drawn into the room by eight Daughters who had been members twenty-five years. From the wagon were taken small colonial boquets designed in the colors of the Order and these were presented with small gold bear pins to the charter members. These covered wagon members, in gowns of many years ago, did an old-fashioned square quadrille with all the grace of former-day dancers. Each charter member told of some happening during her year as president. A banquet followed the program. The table appointments were in gold and white, and at each place was a gold favor in the form of a fan. During the evening Hydraulic No. 56 N.S.G.W. presented Laurel with a beautiful basket of gorgeous spring flowers, and Manzanita No. 29 (Grass Valley) presented a California State (Bear) Flag.

Oldtimers Entertained.

Placentia—Close to a hundred pioneer men and women attended the luncheon and program at the annual Pioneer Day festivities of Grace No. 242 May 15. The tables were arranged with old-fashioned nosegay boquets, and the places were marked by tiny sunbonnets of gay prints. Mrs. Ralph Davis acted as mistress of ceremonies, and President Hill introduced the guests. Two covered wagon babies—Mms. E. I. Ames and Lulu Brewer—and Fullerton's first White child, Clara Liedtke, were present. Agnes Cookson directed a program of violin numbers and skits in costume, and many interesting episodes of early days were recounted.

At the Parlor meeting May 20 Miss Helen Porter gave a graphic story taken from the diary of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Porter, who crossed the plains in 1857. Miss Johanna Lemke favored with vocal numbers. Members of Santa Ana No. 235 and the general public were invited. One candidate was initiated May 5, and April and May birthdays were celebrated. Deputy Olinda Kerby was a visitor. The sewing club met May 10 at the beautiful country home of Mrs. John Wagner near Placentia.

Poppy Seed Distributed.

Alturas—Alturas No. 159 purchased a large quantity of California poppy seed, which was distributed at the May 6 meeting. This lovely native grows well in Modoc County under cultivation, but it is the cherished ambition of the Parlor to see it growing in wild profusion "on every field and hillside." President Neva Asher, Past Grand Irma Laird and Mary Faulkner were present at the last meeting of the Girl Scouts. After an informal visit with the girls, each was presented with an ice-cream bar and a small package of poppy seed. New dishes and glassware have been purchased by the Parlor and will be used for the first time at the June meeting.

Alturas now sends The Grizzly Bear to the home of every member. Peggy Gaskins, Modoc County librarian and member of No. 159, gave an explanation of the aims and objects of the public library, urging co-operation of the Native Daughters in the field of adult reading and the establishment of branches in different sections of the county.

Donations to Worthwhile Cause.

Since my last report through The Grizzly Bear, the following contributions have been added to the Grand Parlor Veterans Welfare Fund: Reina del Mar No. 126, $5; Orinda No. 56, $5; Twin Peaks No. 185, $3; Mount Lassen No. 215, Gold of Ophir No. 190, Imogen No. 134, Sea Point No. 196, El Cereso No. 207, El Pinal No. 163, Fern No. 123, Berendos No. 23, Portola No. 172, and Past Grand Evelyn I. Carlson, $1 each.

My sincere thanks to all Parlors and members who have so generously contributed to this worthwhile cause. A circular letter was sent out requesting every Parlor to send in its report of veterans work done during the past year. If your Parlor has not yet done so, I ask you to do so at once, so that each Parlor may be given credit for its work.—EDNA M. HEALEY, State Chairman Veterans Welfare Committee.

Mothers Entertained.

San Rafael—Grand President Florence D. Boyle paid an official visit to Marinita No. 198 April 26, and was royally entertained. A dinner preceded the meeting and the centerpiece of Mrs. Boyle's table was a Golden Gate bridge made of tiny yellow roses. Five candidates were initiated, and the officers and committees of the Parlor were commended by the Grand President. A trophy case, to hold cups won by the drill team, was presented to Marinita. It was made by Marie Baffunno, assisted by Oramay Perry.

Among others in attendance were Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Outside Sentinel Emily Ryan, Grand Organist Ethel O'Keefe, Grand Treasurer Agnes Curry, Grand Trustee Alice Lane, Past Grands Anne Thuesen, Emma Foley, Mae Boldemann, Margaret Hill and Evelyn Carlson, Supervising Deputy Vida Vollers and Deputy Julia Arbini. Grand Vice-president Ethel Begley, chairman of the evening, was assisted by Oramay Perry, Elizabeth Carl, Bernice Flynn, Marguerite Brusatori, Mae Zappetini and Antoinett Hecht.

May 10, the Parlor entertained the mothers of the members at a delightful affair. The program included a pantomime, a skit and an old-time fashion show. Each mother was given a gift. Awards were made Mrs. Irene Griffin, the youngest mother; Mrs. May Zappetini, the mother of the most children; Mms. Corda and Mazza, the oldest mothers. The arrangements committee included Gresty Mazza (chairman) Dorothy Vossbrink, Evelyn Griffin, Alice Osborn Gertrude Hediger, Ruth Hall and Oramay Perry.

Historic Site Marked.

Sacramento—Sutter No. 111 dedicated a marker in New Helvetia Cemetery at noon on May 14. The base is a native granite bowlder and the bronze plaque was donated to the Parlor by Sadie Winn-Brainard, who has donated sixty-nine markers for historic sites to the Order. The plaque is inscribed.

"NEW HELVEITA CEMETERY. Established in 1849 by John Sutter. Purchased in 1857 by J. W. Reeves, who later donated it to the City of Sacramento. 1009 Chinese buried here were shipped to China by the Chinese Societies who deeded their plots to the city. Dedicated by Sutter Parlor No. 111 N.D.G.W."

Mrs. Brainard presided, and an invocation was given by Past Grand Dr. Eva Rasmussen. Alder Campbell related the history of the cemetery President Audra Watts presented the marker to the city, and it was accepted by Park Commissioner F. M. Evans. Supervising Deputy Lily Tilden introduced Grand President Florence D. Boyle, who spoke briefly.

Tribute Paid "Dreamers."

San Jose—Vendome No. 100 was officially visited by Grand President Florence D. Boyle May 12. Following dinner, the social committee of the evening—Mms. Alice Kady (chairman) Mary Thompson, Mabel Sontheimer, Mildred Stone, Elda Beth Hill, Imogene Clark, Dorothy Donald, Hazel Brett, Myrtle Jung and Mabe De Smet; Misses Dorothy Lorentz and Martha Waddington—presented a program entitled "The Wedding." The decorative scheme was yellow and white.

At the meeting which followed, three candidates were initiated. Grand President Boyle spoke on the Order's projects and paid loving tribute to the "Dreamers," the men and women of early California. Among the very large number in attendance were Past Grands Anne C Thuesen, Bertha A. Briggs and Mamie P. Carmichael, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Treasurer Agnes Curry, Grand Marshal Orinda Giannini, Grand Trustee Alice Lane, Supervising Deputies Eldora McCarty and Catherine Derry, Deputies Hilda Campbell, Matilda Moak

Charter Members Given Pins.

Redwood City—Bonita No. 12 celebrated its fiftieth institution anniversary May 8 with a dinner and reception attended by some 100. On behalf of Redwood No. 66 N.S.G.W., A. S. Liguori presented a birthday cake adorned with fifty golden candles. Mrs. Mary Portal Glennan and Mrs. Emma Stalter Mengels, charter members, were presented with gold emblematic pins by President Jessie Leslie of Bonita.

At the reception following the dinner music was provided by the orchestra of Redwood N.S.G.W., and Duncan Reynard favored with vocal selections. The committee that arranged the golden anniversary celebration included Jessie Leslie, Mary Junker, Dahlina Rayer, Geraldine Brown, Ida May Thompson, Lucille Seely, Marion Reed, Elizabeth Gould, Irma Gibson and Louise Fritz.

Citizenship Candidates Entertained.

Santa Ana—Carrying out an annual custom, Santa Ana No. 235 entertained some fifty pioneer women at a Mothers Day tea May 10. Boquets were presented Mrs. Margaret Bittle of Orange, only surviving '49er of Orange County; Mrs. Eliz. McLeod, 92 years, oldest pioneer woman living in Santa Ana, and Mrs. Clara McPherson, who has lived in Santa Ana longer than any other woman. The arrangements committee included President Marguerite Mize, Muriel Bray, Rose Ford, Mildred Wheeler and Florence Watson. Thimble club meetings have been held at the homes of Naomi Schoenrock, Olive Witt, Lillian Gant and Elva Selvidge.

Santa Ana No. 235 and Santa Ana No. 265 N.S.G.W. entertained some thirty candidates for citizenship May 24, and presented them with national and state flags. The Parlors have about completed arrangements for marking the homesite of W. H. Spurgeon Sr., founder of Santa Ana. The ceremonies will be held some time during June. Matilda Lemon is chairman for No. 235.

"California's Golden Poppy."

Hollister—Grand President Florence D. Boyle was officially welcomed by San Juan Bautista No. 179 and Copa de Oro No. 105 May 8. The theme of the evening was "California's Golden Poppy." At a 6:45 dinner, seventy-five members were seated at beautifully decorated tables. The centerpiece of the guest table was a replica of Golden Gate bridge, with the approaches resting upon fern-covered boulders, while beneath plied watercraft of many varieties, from yacht to battleship. President Hazel Bengard, in the capacity of toastmistress, introduced the honored guests, who were greeted with appropriately worded songs. Grand President Boyle concluded the dinner program with a touching tribute to mothers.

In the meeting hall, more than 125 members of the Order assembled to witness the initiation of four candidates. Gifts were presented to the guest of honor by Pauline Saufnauer as the spirit of California, assisted by two tiny elves who created from a flaming cauldron a golden poppy with petals dedicated to faith, hope, kindliness and generosity. Within the bright blossom was concealed the gifts. Mrs. Boyle responded with an eloquent tribute to the California Pioneers. Gifts were also presented Grand Trustees Pearl Reid, Clarice Cook, Rose Rhyner and Ethel Enos, Supervising Deputy Blanche Taix, Deputies Leona Geyer, Evelyn Rhyner and Mayme Moran, Past Grands Stella Finkeldey and Bertha A. Briggs, and four charter members of Copa de Oro. The serving of orangeade and delicious cakes closed a most enjoyable official visit. A silver offering netted more than five dollars for the purchase of needed kitchen utensils for the Adobe Home of San Juan Bautista.

NEWSY N.D.G.W. PARAGRAPHS.

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

THE NATION'S BIRTHDAY, INDEPENDence Day, July 4, 1887, was appropriately celebrated throughout California. George C. Perkins was the orator at Sacramento, and George A. Knight delivered the oration in San Francisco. An Indian war dance at Cottonwood, Shasta County, attracted an immense throng from all parts of Shasta and Tehama Counties. The day had its tragedies:

Mrs. R. T. Kelly of Tres Pinos was drowned at Santa Cruz. Gloom was cast over Camp Bartlett at Healdsburg, Sonoma County, by the drowning in the Russian River of Private Otto Webber of Company D, First Regiment, N.G.C., of San Francisco. Crandall, Crane & Company's workshop in Los Angeles was destroyed by fire, causing a $20,000 loss.

A San Francisco syndicate was building the Hotel del Montezuma in San Luis Obispo.

Walker & Phillips' brewery in Inyo County was seized by Federal agents for evasion of the law.

Gross receipts of the Los Angeles postoffice for the quarter ending June 30, 1887, were $20,749.03. For the same quarter in 1886 the receipts were $14,393.83.

The monumental statue of R. C. Gridley of flour fame arrived at Stockton from Italy July 27.

B. N. Shoecroft of Nevada City was appointed treasurer of Nevada County by the Board of Supervisors July 27.

H. L. Bergman of the Sacramento Bee was fined $5 for smoking a cigar on the bridge crossing the Feather River between Oroville and Cherokee.

Eadry, vice-presidents; Howard Havens, treasurer; Gustave Reis, Peter Dean, Alexey W. Von Schmidt, J. F. Edward Kruse, Arthur M. Ebbets, William Simpson, Samuel Deal, Augustus C. Taylor and Samuel H. Daniels, directors. All were Pioneers of 1849.

July 15 the mortgage of the South Pacific Coast Railway Company to the Farmers Loan and Trust Company of New York was recorded in Alameda County. This marked the passing of the railroad from James G. Fair to Charles F. Crocker, Leland Stanford and C. P. Huntington. The deal involved approximately $7,500,000.

Hong Di, the murderer of Mrs. Billiou of St. Johns, Colusa County, was convicted of first defree murder, with imprisonment for life recommendation. The verdict did not meet with the approval of the citizens of Colusa County, so they took the law into their own hands, lynched Di, and roundly denounced Jurors Gay and Hubbard. The following day, the daughter of Mrs. Billiou met Juror Gay on a railroad train and punched him in the face.

The Hong Di case created much excitement throughout the Sacramento Valley. At Chico, Butte County, the citizens became so incensed at the Sacramento Bee and the San Francisco Examiner that both papers were hung in effigy.

San Buenaventura voted bonds of $20,000 July 6 for sewerage purposes.

An earthquake at the Lick Observatory on Mount Hamilton June 6 lasted five seconds.

Frank Turk, well-known San Franciscan after whom Turk street was named, died there July 15.

Captain J. A. Rapp assaulted Dr. H. S. Welch with a pistol in the National Hotel at Nevada City July 15, and a possible murder was prevented by the gun's failure to explode. The trouble grew out of court martial proceedings instituted against the captain by the military authorities.

The steamship Oceanic, Captain Metcalf, broke a record this month by making the fastest run ever made between San Francisco and Yokahama—15 days and 23 hours.

A public wedding reception was advertised in the newspapers to be given Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Stephenson. It was sponsored by Elk Grove Parlor No. 41 and Courtland Parlor No. 106 N.S.G.W. The reception was held at the Franklin residence of the groom's father, J. M. Stephenson, and a dance and supper followed at "Pie" Beckley's hotel in Franklin.

The wheat market this month was very brisk, wheat selling for from $1.95½ to $1.99.

At San Juan-by-the-Sea near Santa Ana, Orange County, $50,000 worth of lots were sold July 14.

The great San Joaquin Ranch in Los Angeles County, comprising 11,800 acres, was sold at public auction July 16 for $1,380,000.

Riverside citizens rejected July 18 a $125,000 bond proposal for a new county court house.

Albert, the 8-year-old son of Judge A. M. Stephens of Los Angeles, was crushed to death when he jumped from a street car and fell under the wheels of a wagon heavily loaded with brick.

First Sergeant Samuel M. Soper was shot and instantly killed July 5 by Private Thos. M. Boleman at the Presidio in San Francisco.

GRAND PARLOR
Native Sons of the Golden West
OFFICE OF THE
GRAND PRESIDENT

ELDRED L. MEYER
922 SAN VICENTE BOULEVARD
SANTA MONICA, CALIFORNIA

AS I SAID TO YOU AT SONOMA.....

This is a most opportune time for our Order; many fine events of promise are ahead of us.

Since the Grand Parlor I have already traveled over four thousand miles in the interest of our Order, attending dedications, Memorial Day exercises, initiations, and fiftieth-year anniversaries. Each affair reflected great credit to our Order.

May the 27th, 1937, was a day that new history was made for the Native Sons of The Golden West, the day when the Grand Officers were permitted to dedicate the magnificent thirty-five million dollar Golden Gate Bridge, the longest span in the world—an honor that any fraternal society may well be proud of; an opportunity that presents itself but once in a life time.

The months of July and August is the time set aside for all Parlors to initiate classes in honor of California's Birthday, to be known as Admission Day Classes.

I call upon you, my brothers, to serve with me in my efforts to increase our membership. I have already requested every Deputy Grand President to assist in instituting an Admission Day Class in the Parlors of his District, and to see that suitable ceremonies are arranged to enthuse those initiated. The Supervising District Deputy Grand Presidents are, in turn, expected to assist, and I have asked for a written report from them before September 1st, advising me as to the probable number of members that have been initiated.

All cash prizes of former years have been maintained, and many additional ones added; ten in all, with special attention given to the Parlors whose membership is small, thereby permitting all to compete. The particulars have been mailed to your Parlor's Secretary. Attend your Parlor meeting and see how easy it should be for both you and your Parlor to earn these awards.

I urgently appeal to every loyal Native Son to secure an application blank from his Parlor Secretary, and have it filled in with the name of a fine Californian.

While the securing of new members is all important, please continue to bring into our Order only men who are worthwhile—those who will reflect credit to our great fraternity. Do not overlook the fact that for many years this Order has played the part of Big Brother, by inviting the youth of California to become associated with us at the age of 18.

I am extremely confident about the outcome of our Admission Day Classes. Already good reports are coming to me from every part of our glorious State, and with your co-operation, I feel that success will crown our efforts. Therefore, let us all work together to make this possible.

Eldred L. Meyer.

Grand President.

SUTTER'S FORT RESTORED

Jack Johanson

AS WAS SAID BY AN ORATOR IN THIS contest a few years back, "You may look everywhere for interesting material to talk on, but you always find those interesting things right around your own locality." Because of that, I have chosen a topic that stirred the blood of every pioneer at that time, "The Restoration of Sutter's Fort." After John Sutter had completed his pioneering, he moved East to settle on a small farm for the rest of his days. It was then that winds and storms started to do their work on Fort Sutter.

The Fort had been cut in two and sold to different parties by Sutter's son, but finally all of it came into the hands of Benjamin Merill, who took no care whatsoever of the historic fortress. Slowly the walls began to crack and it was evident that the days of the historic relic would soon be ended by collapse. Many regretted, but did nothing about it. Finally the Sacramento Board of City Trustees decided to open Twenty-seventh street from K to L. The street would run through the old Fort and necessitate its destruction. Still the community was apathetic, and the historic building seemed doomed. But Sacramento contained one patriotic citizen who was determined to avert this disgrace if possible.

Jack Johanson holding plaque given winner.

General James G. Martine, whose brain was always filled with ideas for promoting the progress and prosperity of the city, took immediate action. He wrote an open letter that was published June 4, 1889, in the "Record Union" and later in the press of the Coast and in many newspapers in the East where it would come to the notice of pioneers. The letter was as follows:

"To the Pioneers of the Pacific Coast—Gentlemen: In the year of '49, and even before that date, you left home, friends and all that was dear to you, and journeyed to the shores of the broad Pacific in search of fame and fortune. After many months of toil and hardships you finally reached her golden shores, both tired and hungry. Who was the first to reach you a helping hand and say to you: 'Come, my sons, you are strangers in a strange land, and while you are here make my house your home, and what is in it is yours'? Pioneers, do you remember how grateful you felt then for the shelter given you by Sutter's Fort? Well, gentlemen, that was nearly forty years ago, and the old fort is still in the same place, but in a most wretched condition, and while most of your noble band have been pleased with good health, wealth and happiness, this old friend has fared badly. It is now old and can hardly stand, and unless you come to the rescue it will soon fall by the wayside. Pioneers, there are plenty of you on the Pacific Coast, and a few dollars from each of you will buy the ground and fix up the old Sutter's Fort as it was in the old days of '49. Once repaired, it would be a lasting monument to you all long after you have crossed the silent river. I am not rich by any means, but if the Pioneers or Native Sons do not take this worthy object in hand at once, I suggest that a subscription be raised among the citizens of Sacramento to purchase the ground and repair the Fort. I will subscribe fifty dollars toward it. Sacramento has but a few historic relics left, and it would be a burning shame to have Sutter's Fort torn down. The city authorities have already announced their intention of pulling it down unless something is done with it, and there is no time to lose.—J. G. Martine."

Such a dramatic appeal commanded attention. Responses from all over the state came pouring in. Among the first individuals to send donations were Mrs. Leland Stanford and Colonel C. Crocker.

The Native Sons took up the matter, and Mr. Merill finally set a price of $20,000 on the property, subscribing $2,000 of the amount himself. When the first payment was made it was found that the City of Sacramento and John Rider owned a part interest in the Fort, but the Native Sons canvassing committee secured the necessary funds and the title was cleared. The property was deeded to the Native Sons, and by them to the State of California.

The first adobe brick for the restoration of the Fort was laid September 21, 1891, the bricks being made from the soil on which the Fort stands, mixed with straw, and of the same material which Sutter used in its construction. The same cannon which guarded the Fort after its completion are to be seen on the grounds today.

To complete the beautifying of the Fort, the Sacramento Parlors of Native Daughters planted trees and flowers on the grounds, and within recent years the State has laid out a park, and made a small lake, which are all under the care of a gardener.

Ladies and gentlemen, J. G. Martine was right. Sutter's Fort is now an everlasting monument to the pioneers who helped make California what it is today. We have Martine to thank for preserving one of the most historic landmarks in California, and I urge, and everyone of you should urge, the State to continue the upkeep of Sutter's Fort.

Men make history, but men are mortal beings and, after a brief span of life, they pass on. But the places, locations or areas wherein those men created history of untold drama, and consequences to the future generations, still remain on the identical spots and will always be here, but they can be readily changed to such an extent that they can never be recognized.

We live in a commercial age, an age that gladly discards human values for the financial returns, and there are those who would be glad to make a commercial enterprise out of an historical spot like that on which Sutter's Fort still stands. But I feel assured that the people of California will never permit such a thing to happen.

There are still many unmarked and unpreserved historic places in California. I shall mention but one: the two-story dwelling of Bret Harte, which stands along the Big Oak Flat road, several miles above Sonora. Its roof, made of old-fashioned shakes, has begun to crumble, and the log foundation has completely rotted. It is a known fact that two of Harte's original manuscripts are still in that cabin. His cooking utensils, fireplace, and many other personal belongings still remain in that fastly decaying old house. For a few dollars that cabin could be built over and preserved for future generations as was Sutter's Fort—a monument to Bret Harte.

Time marches on! And there will again come the time when the walls of old Fort Sutter and other historic landmarks will slowly begin to crumble, and they will become extinct, no longer monuments to the toil and hardships of the pioneers who made California what it is today. Then, citizens of California, you can do your part, as did J. G. Martine.

(For twenty-three years, Elk Grove Parlor No. 41 N.S.G.W. and Liberty Parlor No. 213 N.D.G.W. have been sponsoring an annual California history essay contest for students of the Elk Grove Union High School. This year's contest, recently held, was won by Jack Johanson. His prize-winning essay, "Restoration of Sutter's Fort," sent to The Grizzly Bear by President George W. Foulks of Elk Grove Parlor, is here presented.—Editor.)

HERE IN DESERT SPACES

I live in desert spaces where abide
The halting step and tread of pioneers.
I see the thousands trudging with no guide,
Determination conquering their fears.
Before my cabin door, they pass in dreams—
That heavy, halting crowd of long ago,
And there is not a monument it seems,
Of their heroic courage here below.

Deep-bedded in the sand I found today,
A bit of strength—or maybe secret weight—
A piece of chain they lost or threw away
But of their journey, it could not relate.
I look upon these fourteen heavy links
And here in desert spaces, my heart shrinks.

In the present age thinking is more talked of, but less practiced, than in ancient times.—Bishop Berkley.

ROMUALDO PACHECO

Irma W. Laird

(PAST GRAND PRESIDENT N.D.G.W.)

BACK IN THE DAYS BEFORE THE SEVenteenth amendment to the constitution, it was quite the custom for the Legislature to name the incumbent governor to fill the office of United States Senator. Newton Booth was so named by a joint convention of both houses, December 20, 1873, but he continued to retain the governorship until five days before his term as senator began. He resigned February 27, 1875, and Lieutenant-Governor Romualdo Pacheco became Governor of California.

Pacheco was a native Californian, the first native to occupy the gubernatorial chair since the beginning of statehood for California in 1850. He was born in Santa Barbara, October 31, 1831, the son of Romualdo Pacheco, who lost his life in the battle between the troops of Governor Victoria and Pabla Portilla, near Los Angeles, in December 1831.

His early education was received from private tutors, and he was later sent to a private school in Honolulu. He was interested in nautical matters of the southern coast, but his chief pursuits were connected with the business of stock-raising. He was an expert horseman, expert with the lasso, and an accomplished bear hunter, often able to capture a grizzly bear with the aid of the lasso alone.

This rollicking outdoor life caused him to attain great strength and stature, and by the avoidance of intemperance and other vices he became a perfect specimen of manhood, and first in promise and popularity of the Spanish Californians.

At the age of twenty-six he was chosen State Senator from Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo Counties, served in the Legislatures from 1858 to 1863, was then elected State Treasurer and served a term of four years. The next two years he again represented the counties of Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo in the Legislature and in 1871 was elected Lieutenant-Governor the office which enabled him to succeed to the office of governor in 1875 and to serve ably until the end of that year.

Pacheco, in the one short year of his incumbency as Governor, had very little opportunity to distinguish himself. No Legislature sat during the time, and there was no political or public disturbance to call him out. On the two days after the meeting of the Legislature in December 1875, and the day before the inauguration of the new governor, Irwin, Pacheco delivered his message, which proved to be a very creditable document.

He touched upon all subjects of popular interest: congratulated the people of the state upon the lessening of the public debt; discussed the relation of the state and the corporation formed under it; thought the time ripe for new laws governing the insurance companies, especially foreign companies; called attention to the limited amount of public land still belonging to the State, and passed opinion upon the important subject of irrigation. He referred hopefully to the State University, saying there was no reason why it should not become the peer of any educational center in the world. He spoke of agriculture, the condition of the mines, the absence of floods and other disasters, and characterized the progress of the State as rapid and wholesome.

It is a significant fact that during the term of Romualdo Pacheco, first native-born governor of California, the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West was organized. General Winn, a Virginian, a Pioneer of 1849, was appointed marshal of the Fourth of July parade in San Francisco. He issued an invitation to all natives of that city to enroll for the parade, and the result was a body of young men of splendid physical development and mental ability, the first fruits of the American settlement of California.

Encouraged by the success of their appearance, by their pride and enthusiasm for the state of their birth, and by the skill of their sponsor General Winn, the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West came into being July 11, 1875. Thus the reign of Pacheco was enriched by the birth of an organization dedicated for all time to the preservation of California tradition and the fostering of state pride, the Native Sons of the Golden West.

Alturas, Modoc County, will stage its annual rodeo July 3 and 4.

PROCEEDINGS SAN JOSE N.D.G.W. GRAND PARLOR

THE FIFTY-FIRST GRAND PARLOR OF the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West was in session at San Jose, Santa Clara County, June 21-24. Grand President Florence Danforth-Boyle presided throughout the deliberations. At the opening session, the grand officers, attired in pioneer costumes, were escorted to their stations by a team from Gold of Ophir Parlor No. 190 (Oroville), the Grand President's home-Parlor, while a group from Annie K. Bidwell Parlor No. 168 (Chico) sang pioneer songs of welcome.

On behalf of the hostess Parlors, San Jose No. 81 and Vendome No. 100, General Chairman Ella Graham extended a cordial welcome to the Grand Parlor members. Greetings on behalf of San Jose and its Native Daughters, were voiced by City Manager Clarence B. Goodwin and Past Grand President Mamie P. Carmichael. Judge Percy O'Connor spoke on the early history of California, and commended the spirit of loyalty that prompted the Native Daughters and the Native Sons to keep alive the traditions of the pioneers.

REPORTS.

Grand President Florence D. Boyle gave an extended account of her reign, and Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler gave a detailed report of the numerous transactions of that important office. All reports showed the Order to be in a flourishing condition.

The reports of grand officers and committees dealt mostly with matters heretofore given publicity in The Grizzly Bear. Follows a summary of the San Jose Grand Parlor proceedings, with no reference, however, to proposals that failed of passage:

MEMORIAL CEREMONIES.

At the memorial ceremonies shortly after the convening of the Grand Parlor, a team from Stockton Parlor No. 256 attired in lovely net gowns and carrying boquets presented a flag escort and drill, forming the letters P.D.F.A. As a part of the ceremonies, Barbara Stocker, accompanied by Dolores Costa, sang "The Songs My Mother Used to Sing."

The Stockton Glee Club entered the room and sang "The Prayer Perfect." Members of Gold of Ophir Parlor No. 190, in pastel gowns, carried lighted candles to the front of the room, where Rosa Crum delivered a eulogy in memory of members of the Order departed the past year. As the candles were extinguished and placed upon a cross of fern, Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler read the names of those who had answered the last call.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE

(CHARLES H. GREENFIELD.)

As graceful as the arching sky
From point to point its girders tie
The shores with massive bands of steel,
And set for man a mighty seal
That marks completion of a dream
All ages hence shall see agleam
With honors won and glory crowned,
The queen of bridges, world renowned.
Magnificent in its structural art,
The sea and land and sky a part,
A mighty span that evermore
Unites the wealth of fertile shore
And lays the friendly hand of state
In welcome clasp across the Gate.

SAN FRANCISCO NATIVE SON OF 1847 PASSES

(EMMETT P. JOY,

Historian San Francisco Parlor N.S.G.W.)

The passing of Thomas Blaise Evans in San Francisco May 22, 1937, brought an end to the long career of the first native son born in that city without Indian or Spanish blood. He was ninety years of age. February 1, 1936, I had the opportunity and pleasure of meeting Evans, who was intelligent, educated and fine appearing—a man San Francisco could really be proud of as its first native son. Evans told me in conversation:

"Yes, I am the first man born in San Francisco without Indian or Spanish blood. I will be eighty-nine years old day after tomorrow, the third of this month. I was born on the north side of Jackson street, between Dupont and Stockton streets, February 3, 1847. My father was a whaler, arriving in San Francisco Bay in the year 1842 aboard his own whaling ship. My mother was a member of the Donner Party, but the guide of her section of the wagon train insisted on coming through with the group more fortunate than those ill-fated members of the party who suffered agony at Donner Lake, California.

"My father, Captain John Evans, anchored his whaling sloop at a place near what is now the end of Fillmore street, and walked to his home; the house was at the very spot where I live today. I was baptised in Mission Dolores."

Mission Dolores was the only church in this area when Evans was born. The mission at that time was surrounded by brushy hillsides. This was before the great gold discovery of 1848. A year after his birth the family moved to the present location. There were one hundred and sixty acres in the land grant his father received from the Mexican government.

Continuing, he said: "We had a barn, corral, fine horses and cattle. Wild animals roamed over the grant, wildcats came close to the house and barn. A few years passed and squatters began to become troublesome and settled on my father's land. This was the doings of some seamen headed by a man by the name of 'Red Mike,' accompanied by Mulligan and McNab. These men persuaded the newcomers who arrived in San Francisco to settle in this vicinity. This outburst forced my father to trade a lot at Market and Kearny streets for three kegs of nails, so he could fence off his land and keep the squatters out."

It is hard for a young native San Franciscan of today to visualize this kind of a deal. This corner forms the nucleus of the greatest city of the Pacific Coast. Evans told of his ranch northeast of Napa Valley, how Spanish horsemen rode, and of the abundance of wild animals, especially the California grizzly bear. Speaking of early San Francisco, he said a man named Pat Hughes filled in the water-front with sand, starting at Montgomery street. He filled into somewhere in the vicinity of the present waterfront line. Pat Hughes had a crew of men hauling sand with teams from up Market street way.

Evans first voted in 1868 for Seymour and Blair, Democratic candidates for president and vice-president, who were defeated by Grant and Colfax. He attended Santa Clara College in the early sixties, loved horses and followed ranching for many years. Later in life he worked as a carpenter. Evans was a charter member of San Francisco Parlor No. 49, Native Sons of the Golden West, and typified the California Pioneer spirit. He is survived by a son, two daughters and two grandchildren.

Miss Mary E. Brusie, the beloved secretary of the Central Committee on Homeless Children, was unable, because of a throat ailment, to give her report. So, at the request of Grand President Boyle, it was presented by Past Grand President Sue J. Irwin. As a part of the report, motion pictures of the work were shown. Dorothy Schlingman, assistant secretary, reported for the Committee's Los Angeles office.

Corotto, Grand Marshal and Mrs. Walter C. Richards, Grand Trustee Edward T. Schnarr and William Bruckner of Ukiah Parlor No. 71. In welcoming the Sons, Grand President Boyle reminded of her membership wager with them, and requested Grand Secretary Thaler to announce the net gain—over 300. In a spirit of fun, a hobby horse was presented Grand President Meyer to aid him in getting around.

The Loyalty Pledge Committee, Willow Borba chairman, reported the voluntary contributions of the Subordinate Parlors to that fund totaled $27,744.65.

The Grand Parlor delegates presented to Founder Lilly O. Reichling-Dyer a gold watch and a desk clock, Eldora McCarty of Palo Alto Parlor No. 229 making the presentation address.

The award of the Education Committee, Past Grand President Irma Laird chairman, for the best all around educational program was made to Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 (Santa Barbara).

Clara A. Gairaud of Vendome Parlor No. 100 (San Jose) was song leader for the Grand Parlor, and the soloists were Lita Gregory Jackson, Alberta Sparks, Dorothea Braghetti, Lucille Foss Green and Past Grand President Estelle M. Evans.

In memory of his sister, Past Grand President Dr. Louise C. Heilbron, deceased, Carl H. Heilbron of San Diego Parlor No. 108 N.S.G.W. presented the Grand Parlor, for the Home, a copy of his "History of San Diego County."

Dr. Dorothy Kaucher of the San Jose State College addressed the Grand Parlor on "China Clipper—Are You Ready?", and John M. "OUR ORDER CAN BE ONLY WHAT OUR INDIVIDUAL MEMBERS ARE."

Past Grand President Bertha A. Briggs, chairman Grand Parlor Publicity Committee, presented a splendid report, saying in part:

"Within the past half-year, the attention of the entire world has been directed more intently perhaps than ever before toward California, because of the completion, within her boundaries, of two giant traffic bridges, the greatest ever built by the ingenuity of man. Busy workmen and skilled engineers accomplished a stupendous task, erecting monuments to engineering skill that shall stand for ages to come.

"During the past half-century, members of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West have labored diligently as Bridge Builders, too, constructing a fraternal bridge, staunch and strong, that shall endure through the years as a monument to vision, to usefulness, to State pride, and to our unfaltering belief in ourselves. The site of our distinctively Californian structure, most appropriately, is the golden land of our birth; our steadfast foundation resting upon the cherished memory of our beloved Pioneer Mothers and Fathers; the exalted principles to which we are committed forming the imposing towers; the commendable projects we sponsor serving as inviting approaches; the cables made up of the united purposes, the hearty companionship and the joyous good fellowship that mold us into a big congenial family group; carefully observed traffic rules formulated in ritualistic ceremonies and established modes of procedure, with adopted constitution and by-laws forming the white-lined traffic lanes; zealous leaders and faithful lay members constitute directing engineers and skilled artisans, working in accord and putting forth valiant efforts to maintain and to enlarge our bridge that it may ever continue to stand as a monument worthy of this land of our nativity and of the memories of those heroic souls who sacrificed and endured that their sons and daughters might inherit this land of great promise. Our lofty structure is well illuminated by deeds of kindliness toward others and our earnest endeavors to aid in community and State advancement. Our publicity system broadcasts, to passersby on the great highway of life, enlightening messages of our activities and our constant efforts to build for human betterment.

"If our fraternal bridge is to continue to remain strong and enduring and as a permanent testimonial to our zeal and unselfish purposes, workmen and engineers alike must fulfill their personal tasks in maintaining the strength of the entire structure, by guarding against weaknesses, and by watching that every part is well fortified against danger. It is the blessed privilege of every worker to bear testimony to the soundness of the principles upon which we have builded—every worker is an exponent of our entire group, which is really judged by the manner in which the various individuals reflect our teachings in their daily conduct among friends and associates. At all times, we must steadfastly hold to the truth—that our Order can be only what our individual members are. . . .

"Once again it is a pleasurable duty to remind our membership of the merits and the importance of THE GRIZZLY BEAR, accepted organ of our Order. Its continued success is essential for the dissemination of a more widespread knowledge of our affairs and our influence for betterment. Its steady growth depends upon the support given by our Parlors and our individual members. Let us see to it that we do our bit to aid its editor, who deserves our hearty commendation for the high standard maintained and for the vast amount of genuine good this publication has accomplished for the welfare of the Native Daughters of the Golden West. If you are not already a subscriber, enter your name on the mailing list."

"TWENTY YEARS AFTER" THEME PAST GRANDS ANNUAL REUNION.

The Past Grand Presidents Association N.D.G.W. held its annual reunion dinner Tuesday evening, June 22, with Mamie P. Carmichael officiating as hostess. Twenty-five were in attendance, as follows: Carrie Roesch Durham, Dr. Mariana Bertola, Eliza D. Keith, Dr. Eva Rasmussen, Emma G. Foley, Emma Lou Humphrey, Mamie G. Peyton, Olive B. Matlock, May C. Boldemann, Margaret Grote Hill, Mamie P. Carmichael, Grace S. Stoermer, Mary E. Bell, Bertha A. Briggs, Mattie M. Stein, Sue J. Irwin, Pearl Lamb, Mae Himes Noonan, Esther R. Sullivan, Estelle M. Evans, Evelyn I. Carlson, Anna Mixon Armstrong, Irma W. Laird, Gladys E. Noce, Anne C. Thuesen.

The tables were attractive with lighted golden tapers, Persian lilies and pansies for thoughts, with favors of dainty bits of china in commemoration of the twentieth anniversary of the administration of the hostess. Margaret Grote Hill, foster mother of the "baby" member, introduced Anne C. Thuesen, presenting her with a rattle on which she might cut her wisdom teeth. "Baby" Ann voiced appreciation at being initiated into the "College of Past Grands."

Carrying out the theme "Twenty Years After," each member was asked to tell of the most outstanding event of her administration, as well as the most amusing occurrence. The recital of these created much amusement. A group of delightful vocal numbers was rendered by Mrs. Robert Trevy.

A short business meeting followed, during which President Emma Lou Humphrey and Secretary-Treasurer Bertha A. Briggs were re-elected to their respective offices. Various matters of vital interest to the Order were discussed at length.

DON LUIS ARGUELLO

FIRST NATIVE GOVERNOR OF CALIFORNIA

Peter T. Conmy

(GRAND HISTORIAN, N.S.G.W.)

THE TERM, "NATIVE GOVERNOR OF California," brings to mind the names of two distinguished sons of our state who served in the governor's chair, namely, Hiram W Johnson and James Rolph Jr. Upon neither of these men may the honor of having been the first native of California to become governor be conferred. That distinction is reserved to a more obscure character in California history, Luis Antonio Arguello, who served as Governor from 1822 to 1825. Prior to Arguello's elevation to the position of el gubernador Spain and Mexico had supplied Alta California's chief executives. The election of native Californian Arguello in 1822 is of more than passing interest. It indicates the development which had taken place upon the frontier. It marks the passing of affairs from the first generation of settlers to the second generation of native-born citizens. "By their fruits ye shall know them" serves as a measure of the character of the pioneer settlers. Their children, men of affairs, like Arguello, Alvarado, Vallejo, De la Guerra and Castro, men who were able to guide the political and economic destinies of a growing province, indicate the high character of their parents, of the training in prudence, in loyalty and in morals which their parents gave.

Luis Antonio Arguello was born in the Presidio of San Francisco June 21, 1784. His father was Jose Dario Arguello, commandante of the Presidio and later governor of Lower California. The records show that he was baptized on the following day and that his godparents were Lt. Moraga and wife.

Luis Antonio grew up at the place of his birth. As a small boy he roamed the hills of the Presidio, played by the shores of the great bay, and worshiped at the old Mission Dolores. Education would probably have been his, but for the fact that there were no schools; but in the absence of such he learned to read and write from his parents and some of the soldiers; and he received religious instruction from the padres at the mission. However, what Arguello lacked in education he made up for in natural brilliancy of mind.

At an early age he decided to follow his father's footsteps in the military service, and in 1799, at the age of 15, he became a cavalry cadet; in 1800 was promoted to ensign; in 1806 to lieutenant, and in 1817 to captain. In 1806, in the absence of his father, Luis Antonio served as acting commandante, and as such received the Russian expedition from Alaska led by Resanoff. He is described by Langsdorff, one of Resanoff's companions, as follows:

"We were received by the Franciscan monk and several military officers. The Commandante was a well-looking young man. He wore over his uniform a sort of mantle of striped woolen cloth, which looked like the coverlid of a bed, his head coming through the opening in the middle so that it hung down over the breast, back and shoulders. He wore richly embroidered boots and extravagantly long spurs."

Luis Antonio Arguello was one of the few Spanish Californians to penetrate into the northlands of California. In 1818 he made a boat voyage up the Sacramento River. In 1821 he again explored the Sacramento Valley, going as far north as Red Bluff, thence west across the mountains, and down through the valleys of the Coast Range to San Rafael. In 1822 he accompanied Fernandez and Payeras on a trip to Bodega and Fort Ross.

It was in 1817, after having been promoted to the rank of captain and commandante, that Arguello took it upon himself to repair the fort and the presidio. To this end and purpose he had a boat built for crossing the bay, for he was obtaining his lumber from what is now known as Corte de Madera in Marin County. This boat was the first craft used by White men to cross San Francisco Bay. Heretofore either tule balsas made and manned by the Indians were used or the long journey around the bay by land was made.

The period from 1810 to 1822 was a difficult political era in California. In 1810 Mexico won her independence from Spain, but the status of California remained in doubt until 1822. During this long and trying period, Arguello, like his father, was loyal to old Spain, but as soon as the mother country ceded her rights in California to Mexico, he gave unquestioned support to that nation. In 1822, with the change of sovereignty from Spain to Mexico, the term of Governor Sola came to a close and it became incumbent upon the people of Alta California to elect a governor to serve until the supreme Government in Mexico City should appoint one. This election was held November 11, 1822. There were two candidates, De la Guerra of Santa Barbara and Luis Antonio Arguello of San Francisco, who was chosen. The issue of the campaign was that of electing Arguello, "hijo del pais," son of the soil, or De la Guerra, a "gachupin," that is, a native of Spain. In the reaction which had set in against the Spanish loyalists, Arguello was elected. The spirit of the frontier has asserted itself. Arguello served from November 22, 1822, to November 1825.

During his term as governor Arguello sent an extensive and learned report to Mexico City on the needs of California. He faced a serious outbreak among the Indians of the Santa Barbara region in 1824. Under his direction this was effectively curbed. The problems faced by Governor Arguello were indeed grave.

First, the soldiers had not been paid for several years. Second, supplies had not been sent for either soldiers or settlers. Third, there were practically no revenues for the government of the province, and these were from only three places, namely, Los Angeles, San Jose and Branciforte. Fourth, the mission lands, by far the most valuable in the province, were exempt from taxation.

In 1823 the Mexican government was in the throes of revolution so that it was necessary for Alta California to act alone in improving her serious internal condition. Under Arguello's leadership a meeting of the military officers and the disputation was called, and a Plan de Gobierno (Plan of Government) drawn up. The chief problem was that of government revenue, and the following taxes were provided for: 25 percent sales tax on foreign imports, 10 percent sales tax on domestic imports, 6 percent ad valorem tax on exports, and taxes on agricultural products and stock, including maize, wheat, beans, wine, aguardiente (whiskey) and otter hunting.

By far the greatest achievement of Arguello's administration was undoubtedly his inauguration of foreign trade. The mercantile theory imposed by Spain and the provincialism of Mexico alike imposed restrictions against trade with foreign countries. In 1823 ships from the United States arrived and John Rogers Cooper offered to pay such duties as might be demanded, if the Americans were allowed to trade. Arguello acceded to his request and a profitable exchange followed. This is explained by Bancroft as follows:

Notwithstanding the ports were all declared by law to be closed against such commerce, Arguello assumed to act under the higher law of necessity, and accepted Cooper's proposition; and his action met the hearty approval of the people of the country, who were thus enabled to procure cotton stuffs and other articles of common use, of which they had been deprived ever since the old royal ships had ceased to make their regular trips. For the purpose of arranging the duties Arguello appointed an administrator or collector of customs. The cargo was then landed and business commenced. And thus started the American trade upon the coast.

Later Arguello purchased Cooper's vessel and sent it to China with otter skins, which belonged to the California government. On the sale of these skins some $10,000 was made for the public treasury. Arguello is said to have been a liberal man in all respects. This is evidenced in part by his refusal to enforce a church decree against dancing on Sunday.

His term as Governor ended in November 1825. He willingly turned over his authority to Governor Echeandia who came from Mexico City, but faced difficulty when he refused to permit the archives to be moved from Monterey to San Diego, where the new governor had set up a capital. On account of this his relations with Echeandia were always more or less strained.

Arguello was married to Dona Rafaela Sal in 1807. She died in 1814. In 1819 he married Dona Soledad Ortega, and by her, he was the father of five children. Following his relinquishment of the governorship, Arguello re-

GLAMOROUS FUNCTION FOR GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Leon Gregory

SAN BERNARDINO—CELEBRATION OF the fiftieth anniversary of the institution of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. is to be held July 21, 1937, at the Knights of Pythias Hall, Sixth and "F" streets, San Bernardino. This meeting will commemorate the institution of the Parlor on July 20, 1887, and mark fifty years of constant growth and progress; growth from thirty-five members at the time of its institution to a present membership of over five hundred and eighty-five, and progress to the point of being one of the leading Parlors of the entire Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, and one of the most active in the southland.

This gala occasion which will mark a milestone in the advancement of Arrowhead Parlor is to be preceded by a dinner at 7 o'clock in the banquetroom of K. P. Hall. Superior Judge Henry Montague Willis of Los Angeles, a former member of Arrowhead Parlor and a past president of 1904, has been invited to give the address of the evening.

The Parlor is to be doubly honored by the presence of the two charter members still retaining their membership in Arrowhead—Joseph Eugene Rich and Albert Alfred Burcham, both past presidents. Frank S. Adams, now residing in Los Angeles and a member and past president of Ramona Parlor, is the third living charter member.

Besides the three above-mentioned charter members the roll call at the time of institution included J. W. Aldridge, Frank Mundy Towne, George Lincoln Bryant, Dwight William Fox, Daniel Dagoberth Rich, Will A. Nash, Frank L. Holcomb, John Hampton Tittle, Emery Brainerd Tyler, Alex S. Keir, Augustus Henry Starke, E. E. Meyerstein, Benjamin B. Rich, Henry A. Keller, C. D. Dickey, R. L. Mathews, Harold Lincoln Nash, Charles Augustus Burcham, Will A. Johnson, Joseph Folks, W. N. Crandall, Edmund Ephriam Katz, Benjamin Armer, J. W. Stevenson, Hiram Merritt Barton, James D. McDonald, G. L. Adams, Byron VanLuven, Ben Livingston, Perry Tompkins, Isaac Hal Curtis and George L. Blake.

The committee in charge of the golden anniversary celebration is making extensive and elaborate plans, and the fact that it is headed by Judge Donald E. VanLuven, who has the wholehearted support of John Andreson Jr., Leslie D. Case, J. Bruce Jordan, Lawrence J. G. Kelley and Leonard Holmgren as committeemen, and the co-operation of the entire membership, makes it inevitable that this, above all others, will be the most glamorous function ever successfully attempted by Arrowhead Parlor.

JULY FOURTH BARBECUE.

Oh, you Natives! Get out that old red bandanna and those high top boots. Arrowhead Parlor is blowing the lid off with its annual riproarin', real Californian barbecue.

Don't forget it! Sunday, July the Fourth, at the Crestline Clubhouse, in the heart of the Crest Forest of the San Bernardino Mountains. "We are planning on the biggest crowd ever, and are especially counting on you to be present to enjoy one of those real bang-up times that only Arrowhead Parlor can present," says James A. Olivas, general chairman. Don't miss the Fourth of July at Arrowhead Parlor's Crestline Clubhouse!

FATHERS ENTERTAINED.

San Bernardino—Honoring the fathers of its members, Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. served a potluck supper June 9. The tables, seating ninety guests, were decorated with a profusion of summer blooms, and the favors, made of gumdrops, represented curious animals. Entertainment features were presented. Hazel Poole and Ruth Roberds were in charge of arrangements.

Following the dinner the Parlor had a business meeting, and three candidates were initiated. Officers for the ensuing term were elected, Ruth Roberds being chosen president.

June 14 members of Lugonia joined other patriotic organizations in observing Flag Day. June 23 Thelma Nett, retiring president, entertained outgoing officers and committees at an informal social hour. She also gave a resume of the activities of the Parlor during her year in office.—C.B.

DAY DREAMING.

Gentle little lady,
Trim and neat the while,
Dreaming of your past
With your sunny smile.

Dreams are living sunsets.
Like the wind at play,
Dream on, gentle mother,
Drive your cares away.

Stalwart lads and lassies
Bow in stately mien
To their little lady
And their lovely queen.

Autumn flaunts her gold,
Flings her crimson hues;
Dream again of Spring
And her dainty blues.

Spring is in your heart.
With that cheery smile,
Sitting in the sunshine,
Rest thee here awhile.

The above came to The Grizzly Bear from Effie Van Fleet, chairman history and landmarks of Ontario Parlor No. 251 N.D.G.W., with the notation: "Day Dreaming" is dedicated to Mrs. Henrietta J. Rowe, a charter member of the Parlor, who rendered her last service to Ontario during the official visit of Grand President Florence D. Boyle. At that time Mrs. Rowe and another little white-haired woman, Elizabeth Serio, appeared in the tableau, "Day Dreaming," sitting at a spinning wheel in the dusk. Three days later Mrs. Rowe was stricken, and she passed away May 31. She was born at Cherokee, Butte County, October 16, 1856.—Editor.

FERTILITY

(EDMUND J. BRISTOW.)

The pregnant clod springs to the flowers.
Why not a man to higher powers?

Kist with a sunbeam from on high
The clod gives answer to the sky.

The man of earth awakening,
Shall join the song the angels sing.

Filled with the Spirit he shall be
Blest with Divine fertility.

—Kelseyville Sun.

In Memoriam

MRS HENRIETTA J ROWE

To the Officers and Members of Ontario Parlor No. 251 N.D.G.W.—We, your committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of our beloved Charter Member, Sister Henrietta J. Rowe, respectfully submit the following:

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to her family; that these resolutions be recorded in the minutes of the Parlor that a copy be sent the family and a copy be sent to The Grizzly Bear Magazine for publication.

SAN PEDRO—RUDECINDA PARLOR NO. 230 N.D.G.W. presented United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags to the St. Mary Star of the Sea Catholic School June 7. Anne Spickler, Americanization chairman, was in charge, and Katherine Dodson was mistress of ceremonies. President Katherine Hackett presented the flags, which were accepted for the school by Father Lehard. Baskets of beautiful flowers adorned the room, and the Junior Catholic Girls and the Boy and Girl Scouts assisted in the ceremonies.

Postmaster Leon Dwight gave an inspiring talk to the student body on both flags, and Deputy Frances Reynolds read the history of the Bear Flag and gave a brief history of the Orders of Native Sons and Native Daughters. Florence Dodson Schoneman, whose mother, Rudecinda Dodson, donated the site for the school, was an interested spectator, and J. M. Hackett represented Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W.

Recent meetings of the Parlor's Florencita thimble club were held at the homes of Letitia Sarciaux and Katherine Hackett. The next meeting will be held at the home of Dessie Buyo.

Deputy Frances Reynolds entertained the officers of Rudecinda Parlor at her Compton home the afternoon of June 12. Places were marked by small pottery bud vases in blue and yellow. Cards were enjoyed.—C.K.

BANK RETIRES LARGE AMOUNT PREFERRED STOCK.

California Bank of Los Angeles will retire $1,000,000 of preferred stock and distribute an equal amount of common as a stock dividend to common shareholders of record as of June 21, according to an announcement of A. M. Chaffey, president of the bank. This latest action by the bank's board of directors marks the third time in the last eleven months that common stock dividends have been voted and brings to $3,000,000 the amount of preferred stock retired during the same period.

According to Chaffey, the capital structure of California Bank after the dividend and preferred retirement will be $5,000,000 of common stock, $1,000,000 of preferred stock, $1,500,000 surplus, and approximately $1,000,000 of undivided profits. "In addition," he says, "large resources are maintained which are not fully disclosed by the published statement of condition of the bank, some of the reserves having been deducted from the value of the assets for which they are provided."

"The Spirit of Laguna" is the theme selected for the Festival of Arts at Laguna Beach, Orange County, July 30-August 7.

CELEBRATING FIFTY YEARS OF NATIVE Daughterism, Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 featured a luncheon and program at the Women's Athletic Club June 5, with Mrs. Dahlia Vucovich as chairman of the day. Beautifully decorated tables were set, one for each President of the United States under whose administration the Order has existed, and each table told the story of an important event during that administration.

The Grover Cleveland (first term) table told of the growth of the citrus industry, the favors being oranges with sprigs of orange blossoms. As this was the speakers' table, the gifts presented to the Founder of the Order, Mrs. Lilly O. Reichling-Dyer, and to Past Grand President Grace Stoermer typified the citrus industry. The Benjamin Harrison table depicted a modern rose parade, with football players for favors. The Grover Cleveland (second term) table showed the redwood highway, trees, flowers and even motor cars, for it was during this administration that California's modern highway program began.

The William McKinley table pictured the completed Los Angeles Harbor breakwater, one of the largest in the world. Important under Theodore Roosevelt was the completion of the Pacific cable from San Francisco to Honolulu, when the President sent the first around-the-world mes-

[illegible] minutes. Women's suffrage was the theme of the William Taft table, which featured the schoolhouse as the first voting place.

The Woodrow Wilson table pictured the League of Nations, and told the story of the war for world peace. The first trans-continental non-stop airplane flight, from New York to San Diego, which made people "air conscious," was accomplished during Warren G. Harding's administration. It was depicted by a modern airplane on a field of red, white and blue flowers, with tiny planes for favors.

The Calvin Coolidge table told of the first all-talking picture, and stressed the fact that California ranks first in the world's motion picture industry. In 1932 California played hostess to the world during the Tenth Olympiad, and the Herbert Hoover table pictured that event with tiny athletes and world flags. The table of the present administration, that of Franklin D. Roosevelt, showed the completion of both the San Francisco Bay and the Golden Gate bridges.

President Edna Neikirk introduced Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer, who acted as toastmistress. Soloist Sophia Stewart sang "My Own United States" and "In An Orange Grove." Speakers were Joseph Scott and Founder Lilly O. R. Dyer. Guests of honor included President Socha of the Park Board, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary Noerenberg, Deputy Ruth Parris, Supervising Deputy Flora Holy, Florence D. Schoneman, state chairman of history and landmarks, and the past presidents of the Parlor. Olinda H. Kerby acted as program chairman.

Los Angeles Parlor's July calendar includes: 14th, potluck supper for members and friends at Sunset Pier, Venice, 6 p.m.; Louise Crawford and Juanita Porter, co-chairmen. 24th, sewing club luncheon, 1009½ West Twenty-first street, 1 p.m.; Ann Schiebusch hostess. 28th, public installation officers, with Esther L. Rinne as president, Gibson Hall, Friday Morning Clubhouse, 8 p.m.; dancing 10 p.m.—E.V.S.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

In memory of members who passed away during the year, the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West dedicated several trees in Memory Grove of Griffith Park, Sunday, June 13.

John P. Wright presided, and Grand President Eldred L. Meyer of the Native Sons delivered an address. Trees were dedicated by Frank Ziegler, Ellery Cuff, John Bodkin and Marion Parks-Partridge. Among the many others in attendance at the ceremonies were Past Grand President Herman C. Lichtenberger, Grand Inside Sentinel Mary B. Noerenberg and Grand Organist Roger Johnson.

JOINT PUBLIC INSTALLATION.

The officers-elect of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. and Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. will be jointly installed July 8 at public ceremonies in Foresters Hall, 1329 South Hope street.

District Deputy George LaRue will officiate, and Dan W. Gage Jr. and Russell Shields will become the respective presidents. At the conclusion of the ceremonies entertainment will be provided. All Natives and their families are invited.

SURPRISED IN NEW HOME.

Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. elected officers June 8, Marcella Wolfskill Palethorpe becoming president. Lena Teague Burrows marshaled the Parlor through a profitable year, and automatically becomes the junior past president. Installation will be held during July in the lovely gardens of the Dr. R. B. Von Kleinschmid home. At the tea honoring the Parlor's nine years of activities a birthday cake was a feature.

A delightful surprise was given Ruth Parris June 15 by a large number of members of the Gertrude sewing circle. She gave her uninvited guests a warm welcome to her beautiful new home, and was presented with a set of Montecito pottery. Luncheon was served, and the members pledged allegiance to the flag, followed by a history of the national banner by Martha Decker. Mrs. Parris was assisted by her charming mother, Mrs. Bailey, who was in on the secret. Ysabel Monroe was praised for her inventions, including skewers and a gadget for getting more mileage from gasoline.—O.L.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY.

Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. celebrated June 8 its fiftieth (golden) institution anniversary with a dinner at the Elks Club which was largely attended. Many of the oldtimers were on hand, and the occasion was a delightful one.

Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth was the master of ceremonies, and Grand President Eldred L. Meyer extended greetings to Ramona on the Order's behalf. Other speakers, and their subjects, were:

Charter President Reginaldo Francisco del Valle, "Ramona Parlor N.S.G.W. No. 109;" Past Grand President Herman C. Lichtenberger, "Ramona Parlor—Its Influence and Contributions to the Grand Parlor;" Clarence S. Hunt, "Ramona Parlor—Its Future;" Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt, "Ramona Parlor—Its Men;" Edwin A. Meserve, "Ramona Parlor—An Institution."

WAR MOTHERS GIVEN STATE FLAG.

Long Beach—A California State (Bear) Flag was June 1 presented by Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. to the California World War Mothers in convention here. Edith Johnson, Americanism chairman of the Parlor, recited the history of the flag, which was presented by Nellie DeWitt Cooke. It was accepted by Mestella Riggin, state Americanism chairman for the Mothers, with an acceptance speech by State President Addie De Coe, who said, in part: "It gives me pleasure to hear the history of the Bear Flag given so perfectly and to accept the flag, as I am also a Native Daughter of Sacramento."

A card party was held at Downey May 29, with Lucretia Coates (chairman), E. Mabel Emery and Alma Marrow in charge, and May Gillies of Downey was hostess at a June 5 card party. The thimble club met with Leola Temby May 27, and June 10 the club enjoyed a picnic luncheon at Bixby Park. The rummage sale of June 11 and 12, with Margaret Burch as chairman, brought a large sum. Eugenia Smith has been retained as president of the Parlor for another term.

Members of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 were guests of Long Beach June 17. Initiation was held, and the publicity and history books compiled by Violet T. Henshilwood were enjoyed. Refreshments were served by Kate McFadyen and Leola Temby, and the former was given a surprise brithday handkerchief shower. A pleasant evening was spent. June 29 a card party was held at the home of Mrs. McFadyen. —V.T.H.

UNIVERSITY PARLOR NEWS.

The membership committee of University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W. in following out its program is doing all in its power to make the open meetings interesting for prospective members. Dr. Jerry Miller, commanding the chair on past presidents night, having just returned from Hawaii gave the members a little touch of tropic fever with a program that was tops for the year.

Ben Hiss is still plugging away on the Admission Day program and is instilling a great deal of enthusiasm in the members of the Parlor, who are individually pledging their support to aid in the various functions at that time. Lucian Griffin has mapped out his program for athletics during the celebration and will shortly inform the Parlors of the competitions to take place. Carl Martin and Les Drown are completing their data for Native Son employment and within a short time Native Sons will witness

Preceding the meeting Ukiah Native Sons were hosts at a banquet. Some one hundred Native Daughters attended the institution, Fort Bragg No. 210 being represented by a large delegation.

Historic Pass Marked.

Portola—Historic Beckwourth Pass in Plumas County is now designated by a beautiful marker of native stone erected by Las Plumas No. 254, and dedicated May 23. Sallie Johnson Long extended a welcome to the three hundred in attendance, and Ruth Harris paid a tribute to the pioneers.

Past Grand Irma W. Laird delivered the dedicatory address and stressed the enduring work being done by the Order in marking the historic shrines of California. E. C. Kelsey told of the early life of Jim Beckwourth, earlyday leader who discovered the pass. A. P. Swingle, an old-time stage driver, was also a speaker. The marker was unveiled by President Dorothy Grother of Las Plumas, who was assisted by Imelda Winn.

San Diego.—May 26 San Diego No. 208 enjoyed a very interesting and instructive talk on "The Women of India" by Rev. Myron Incko of the Goodwill Industries. After the business meeting a tacky party was enjoyed by all. Marie Eastman has been elected president for the July-December term.

June 5 an outstanding "Early Californian" bridge luncheon was held at the Sequoia Club, with Fern Cummins as chairman and Doris Hoffner co-chairman. A typical California luncheon was served by girls in pastel hued frocks from tables decorated in a riot of colors and sunbursts of flowers. California hospitality was dispensed by President Edythe Barngrover and her reception committee, Sarah Miller, Pearl Conard, Marie Eastman and Irma Heilbron. June 12 Eliza Burns was given a surprise party by the Parlor, the occasion being her birthday. She is a charter member of the Parlor and also has the honor of being the oldest member of the San Diego Pioneer Society.

Outgoing President Honored.

Sacramento.—La Bandera No. 110 June 2 honored its outgoing president, Gussie Dietz, who was presented with a gift from the Parlor by Norma Huntoon in a novel dance. A color scheme of yellow and blue decorated the festive board. Lucille Huntoon and Doris Penner, co-chairmen of the occasion, were assisted by Blanche Perret, Freida Dalton, Elsie O'Brien, Veryl Hoppenbrock, Mae Sydenstricker, Nora Armand, Mary Wright, Della Bardoni, May Keefe, Ada Peterson and Marion Lund.

La Bandera entertained at a very beautiful mothers night. Dinner was served, and a program was presented under the direction of Pauline Freundt. The tables were beautifully decorated with large bowls of Paul Scarlet roses, flanked by crystal candelabras. Dorothy Thomas and Marion Lund, the co-chairmen, were assisted by Gussie Dietz, Mary Wright, Pauline Price, Freida Dalton, Nellie Nordstrom, Lottie Cummings, Genevieve Didion, Clara Weldon, Flora Schmittgen, Willette Hood, Ada Peterson, Elda Santinelli, Nellie Novelli, Helena Ghelfi.—L.E.H.

New Officers Past Presidents Association.

Sacramento.—At the recent meeting here of the General Past Presidents Association, Association No. 4 was the hostess, and Genevieve Didion was the general chairman. The following officers were elected and installed:

Edna D. Sampson, president, Mamie F. Davis, past president, Willow Borba, vice-president, Emma G. Foley, treasurer; Anna G. Loser, secretary; Mattie M. Stein, marshal; Antha E. Locklin, organist, Edith Kelley, inside sentinel, Alice Roll, outside sentinel; Laurretta Ross, Ann B. Dippel, Emily Lawson, Frances Maloney and Harriett F. Corr, directors.

"Secret Pals" Revealed.

Hollister.—Copa de Oro No. 105 enjoyed a very happy evening June 16 when "secret pals" of the year were revealed. Many and varied were the costumes in evidence. Marjorie Lanning sang "Little Old Lady" as Sarah Eastman walked about the hall in her pioneer dress. Refreshment tables were attractive with bowls of pasted sweetpeas, lighted matching tapers and groups of statuary. At each plate a gay little lady waved the legend "When Good Pals Get Together." Community singing featured songs appropriately worded for the occasion. Members painted word pictures of their pals, and others wagered about the identity of the person described. Pals were well remembered with useful and beautiful gifts.

Past Presidents Official Visits.

Oakland.—Past Presidents Association No. 2 had an official visit from President Edna D. Sampson of the General Association May 24. Dinner was served, the tables being beautifully decorated [illegible] guests were Eugene Leon Wilson, Grand Past President Hella Patjens, Historian Elena Foss, Recording Secretary Anna Loser, and Past President Winifred Beckingham. Josephine Schmidt, Elvira M. Carty, Winifred Hafer and Emilie Clifford of the General Association. BRONZE PLAQUES UNVEILED AT HISTORIC KERN COUNTY SITES.

Bakersfield (Kern County).—Where gold prospectors, with all their possessions loaded on the backs of tiny burros, lumbering stagecoaches drawn by four-horse teams or heavy covered wagons pulled by plodding oxen, once beat a dusty trail from Los Angeles to Kernville and down Greenhorn Mountain to the San Joaquin Valley, two bronze plaques were placed June 6 in ceremonies conducted by Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West, the Kern County Historical Society and the Kern County Chamber of Commerce.

The markers were placed at Willow Springs and Oak Creek Pass. Willow Springs lies in Antelope Valley between Lancaster and the Ridge route. The stage route was established about 1853. After the first plaque was unveiled, the group drove to Oak Creek Pass, which was used before Tehachapi Pass was found. Father Francisco Garces used Oak Creek Pass in his southward journey in 1776, before the Declaration of Independence was signed.

Hal Bannister, chairman of the historic landmarks committee of Bakersfield Parlor No. 42 N.S.G.W., presided, and the markers were unveiled by Supervisor George Parish. Speakers included Madge Foote, Evalyn Towne, Mart Leonard, Alton E. Giggy, Ona Moffett, Max Shaffroth and E. G. Hoffman.

LOS ANGELES

one of the most outstanding innovations that has ever been presented to the Order.

In a close, hot session June 2, Solly Smith defeated Les Drown for the presidency of the Parlor. The spirit of the Grand Parlor was revived in the campaigns for both candidates, with Campaign Managers Garrison and Griffin putting on the "Vote for Solly Party" which seemed to take effect in the score count. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Quast have just returned from a honeymoon trip to northern parts and Bill is back in the saddle again as the hard-working first vice-president of the Parlor.—J.P.H.

BARBECUE DRAWS CROWD.

Santa Monica—The annual California barbecue of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. in Santa Monica Canyon June 13 attracted a large crowd and was a big success. In the baseball contest between teams from Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263 (San Pedro) and University Parlor No. 272 (Los Angeles) the former won by a 7 to 1 score.

Officers of Santa Monica Bay, with Manley Danforth as president, will be installed by District Deputy Robert Dunn July 7.

SWIMMING PARTY.

The N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. Interparlor Committee had an inaugural swimming party June 29. Leslie R. Drown was chairman of the committee in charge. Fred Leonetti of Glendale No. 264 N.S.G.W. is now chairman of the Interparlor Committee.

N.S. LUNCHEON CLUB.

At the June 25 meeting of the Native Sons Luncheon Club, Assemblyman Tom Cunningham of Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. spoke on the recent State Legislature. He was introduced by Ben Hiss.

The club holds forth every Friday at 12:15 noon on the eleventh floor of the Rosslyn Hotel, and the sessions are always interesting.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Arthur A. Schmidt and Henry G. Bodkin (both Hollywood NS) paid a visit last month to Alaska.

Leo V. Youngworth (Grand Trustee NS) was a visitor to Detroit, Michigan, last month.

Eugenia Smith (Long Beach ND) of Long Beach returned last month from a visit to Portland, Oregon.

THE DEATH RECORD.

Harry Frederick Emme, affiliated with Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., died May 26. He was born at Los Angeles, November 20, 1901.

Charles A. Baskerville, father of Walter E. Baskerville (Ramona NS), died June 3 at Alhambra.

Mrs. Mary Louise Hinton, wife of Arthur R. Hinton (Ramona NS), died June 10 at Rosemead. She was born at El Monte, January 4, 1863.

Mrs. Gertrude Reeves-Dockweiler, wife of Isidore B. Dockweiler and mother of Congressman John F. Dockweiler and Judge George A. Dockweiler (all Ramona NS), died June 12. She was a native of England, aged 66.

George Hunter, father of Captain Walter J. Hunter (Los Angeles NS), died June 14 at Glendale. He was a native of Los Angeles City, aged 75.

Daniel Webster Gage, father of Daniel W. Gage Jr. (Los Angeles NS), died June 21. He was born at Wilmington, January 1, 1876.

UNPRECEDENTED WINTER COLD DAME NATURE'S BALANCING DEVICE.

Good news comes from the forestry branch of the National Park Service, based on recent reports received from national parks and monuments in the West, where an unusually severe winter was experienced. This unprecedented cold was one of Dame Nature's balancing devices. Insect infestation of the trees in these regions will undoubtedly be lessened because of the winter kill of encysted insect larvae.

In the vicinity of Lassen Volcanic National Park scientists of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine estimate that the western pine beetle suffered a mortality of from 15 to 80 percent during the subzero January weather.

The Santa Barbara County Fair is scheduled for Santa Maria July 21-25.

Regan (Grand Secretary) was nominated as a director of the N.S.G.W. Hall Association of Santa Rosa. The Grand Parlor owns stock in both Associations.

WHAT ABOUT YOUR WILL? HAVE YOU MADE ONE?

After providing for your family, there could be no better place to leave your money than where it will help to make good citizens out of homeless girls and boys.

Golden Anniversary Delightful Affair.

Courtland—Courtland No. 106 celebrated June 5 the fiftieth anniversary of its institution with a dinner specially honoring Frank E. Hollister, the only living charter member. The tables were decorated and the dinner was served by members of Victory No. 216 N.D.G.W. Seated at a table in the center of a circle were the honor-guests: Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Hollister; Grand President Eldred L. Meyer; Past Grand Harmon D. Skillin; C. E. Bunnell, Courtland's oldest living past president, a member forty-nine years; Mrs. Mary Martin, first president of Victory Parlor; Mrs. Carol Dye, Mrs. Joe Green, R. R. Veale (General Winn No. 32) and Tom W. McAuliffe (Sacramento No. 3). Other invited guests were Grand Second Vice-president Jesse H. Miller, Grand Third Vice-president Henry S. Lyon, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustee Walter P. Rothenbush, Grand Marshal Walter C. Richards, Past Grands Chas. A. Koenig and Charles L. Dodge, Governor General A. W. Katzenstein of the Past Presidents Association and J. J. Longshore.

During the dinner several musical and dance numbers were given by pupils of the Courtland grammar school, all being daughters and sons of members of Victory and Courtland Parlors. As the dinner drew to a close the lights were lowered, and two birthday cakes with fifty candles were presented Courtland No. 106—one from Victory No. 216 N.D.G.W. and the other from Elk Grove No. 41. Charter Member Hollister made the first cut in both cakes. Very able and interesting addresses were then made by Grand President Meyer, Grand Second Vice-president Miller and Grand Third Vice-president Lyon, closing with Past Grand Skillin's eloquent remarks, in the course of which he presented a "fifty year charter member jewel" to Frank E. Hollister.

June 16, Courtland added six new names to its roster, the ritual being exemplified by General John A. Sutter Past Presidents Assembly, and June 19 it had its forty-eighth annual ball—always the big dance of the year on the Sacramento River.—J.B.

There are thousands of fine eligibles just waiting to be extended an invitation to affiliate with the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West. Be a recruiter—extend the invitation today, not tomorrow!

School Dedicated.

Arbuckle—The dedication of the magnificent Pierce Joint Union High School by the grand officers June 11 under the auspices of Colusa No. 69 and Colus No. 194 N.D.G.W. was a splendid affair, attended by approximately 400. Officiating were Grand President Eldred L. Meyer, Past Grand Chas. A. Koenig, Grand First Vice-president Joseph J. McShane, Grand Third Vice-president Henry S. Lyon, Grand Secretary John T. Regan, Grand Trustee Lloyd J. Cosgrove, Grand Inside Sentinel Harold Zimmerman and Grand Outside Sentinel Louis Bosch.

Warren G. Davison was master of ceremonies, musical selections were rendered by the Pierce High orchestra, and the invocation and the benediction were given, respectively, by Rev. Edwin M. Conn and Rev. L. S. Todd. Speakers included Supervising Deputy R. G. Power, Rev. J. J. Evans, Lily Laugenour, Grand President Meyer, Fred A. Clasby and Grand Third Vice-president Lyon. Flags were presented to the school by Grand President Florence D. Boyle of the Native Daughters, and were accepted by President R. V. Traynham of the school board.

Charter Member Given Emblem.

Bieber—Following the June 2 meeting of Big Valley No. 211, members of Mount Lassen No. 215 N.D.G.W. arrived with a luncheon, and a pleasant evening was spent at games.

The principal object of the joint gathering was the presentation of a past president emblem to W. H. Bunselmeier, the only surviving charter member of Big Valley, who celebrated his seventy-sixth birthday anniversary May 11. The presentation was made by A. W. McKenzie, a member of the Order since 1899, and congratulations and best wishes were extended by Frances Summers, Angie Kenyon and Nettie McKenzie, charter members of Mount Lassen, which was founded eighteen years ago. Bunselmeier's wife, two daughters, three sons and a daughter-in-law are members of the local Parlors—somewhat of a record.

Tribute Paid Leader.

Bakersfield—To pay tribute to a pioneer Californian, members of Bakersfield No. 42 and El Tejon No. 239 N.D.G.W. gathered June 13 in Union Cemetery at the grave of Samuel Palmer Allen to dedicate a memorial in his honor. Allen won recognition through his work to preserve relics of California's early history and to perpetuate the traditions of the days of '49. He was the leader of the movement in Kern County to mark the historic spots for posterity.

There was a large gathering of Native Sons, Native Daughters and friends generally. Ralph Hinderliter presided, Madge Foote offered prayer, and Etta Borgwordt and Morris Borgwordt unveiled the monument. A fitting eulogy was delivered by Deputy Grand President Mart Leonard.

City Hall Dedicated.

Nevada City—At impressive ceremonies under the auspices of Hydraulic No. 56, the grand officers, headed by Grand President Eldred L. Meyer, June 19 dedicated this city's new City Hall in the presence of several hundred residents. Music was furnished by the Nevada City High School band.

Dr. C. W. Chapman, chairman of the day, in the course of his opening remarks presented to the city a large American Flag, which was accepted by Mayor Benjamin Hall. To Nevada City Boy Scouts Troop, Junior Past Grand Hartley Russell presented United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags, which were accepted by Scout Master Albert Pralti. Addresses were delivered by Grand President Meyer, Grand Second Vice-president Jesse H. Miller and City Clerk George Calahan, the latter relating the history of Nevada City.

The dedicatory ceremonies were conducted by Grand President Meyer, Junior Past Grand Russell, Past Grand Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Second Vice-president Miller and Grand Secretary John T. Regan. Grand Trustees Walter P. Rothenbush and Edward T. Schnarr were also in attendance.

Looking Back Fifty Years.

Arrowhead No. 110 was instituted at San Bernardino by District Deputy Grand President Homer C. Katz July 20, 1887, with twenty-six charter members. Dwight W. Fox was the first president, and George L. Bryant the first secretary.

Sonoma No. 111 was instituted at Sonoma City by District Deputy Grand President William McBreen July 20, 1887. H. C. Lutgens was the first president, and Charles E. Earrant the first secretary.

Old Fire Bell Dedicated.

San Jose—June 20 an old fire bell weighing approximately two tons, made for the San Jose Fire Department in the early days and saved from the scrap pile by members of San Jose No. 22 was, under the auspices of the Parlor, hung in the City Park and re-dedicated to the memory of the members of the fire department who served in the early days of the city. A tablet on the frame holding the bell reads: "Dedicated by N.S.G.W. San Jose California N.D.G.W. in commemoration of our past and present fire fighters 1937."

The following program was rendered: Selection, Woodrow Wilson Junior High School band, John L. McDonald conducting; invocation, Rev. Mark Rifenbark, D.D.; address, Lewis F. Byington, Past Grand President N.S.G.W.; selection, turned to his old post as commandante at San Francisco. He also engaged in trade with American clipper ships. He was removed as commandante in 1829. He died at San Francisco, the place of his birth, March 27, 1830, and on the following day his mortal remains were laid to rest in the cemetery of Mission Dolores, the church in which he had been baptized forty-six years before. Governor Echeandia wrote the following of him: Courage, proved; ability, more than average; military conduct, indifferent; health, broken; loyalty, supremely faithful.

Arguello's grave may still be seen in Mission Dolores cemetery, about ten feet from the church. In passing, it should be stated that Luis Antonio Arguello was the brother of the famous Dona Concepcion Arguello whose engagement to the Russian count has been the theme of poets and musicians.

NEW INFORMATION ON SUTTER DISCOVERED BY "EXPLORER."

New information on the last days of General John A. Sutter was discovered through a University of California radio broadcast recently, when a listener, reversing the usual order of procedure, told the broadcaster a few things. The program, given by the University Explorer, was based on the book "Sutter's Own Story," by Professor Erwin G. Gudde, assistant professor of Germon on the Berkeley campus of the University.

A few days after the broadcast the Explorer received from 85-year-old George A. Zellers of Bakersfield a letter containing new and interesting sidelights on the life of Sutter, on whose Sacramento Valley land gold was discovered in 1849. In the latter years of his life, according to Professor Gudde's book, Sutter lived in the eastern part of the United States. It was at this time that Zellers became acquainted with the ageing pioneer.

Zeller's father ran a blacksmith shop near Reading, Pennsylvania. Nearby was an old iron furnace where cannon and ammunition were cast for the American army during the Revolutionary War. "To view the remnants of the old furnace Mr. Sutter came by our shop and, naturally, he stopped to learn what father knew about the old furnace and to see the old shells and bullets we had found," Zellers wrote.

"He (General Sutter) and father soon became warm friends and every now and then Mr. Sutter came to visit us and often took a few meals and spent a night with us. On one occasion he lettered two small headstones to mark the grave of two of my brothers who had died very young. He did it about as nicely as an experienced marble worker could have done it. So we boys thought him as perfect a mechanic as he was a perfect gentleman. Our acquaintance must have covered at least three or four years, somewhere between 1866 and 1872."

Zellers' letter was examined by Professor Gudde, who said that the dates given coincide closely with the time Sutter spent in the east. Sutter died in Washington, D. C., in 1880.

The Yolo County Horse Show and Fair will be held at Woodland July 23-25.

NATIVE BRIDGE BUILDERS BETWEEN PAST AND PRESENT

James French Dorrance

A FIRST VISIT FROM GRAND PRESIDENT Eldred L. Meyer was the highlight of the month of June for Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W., which gathered 175 persons, members and guests, in Pythian Castle the evening of the 17th, and presented for initiation in the presence of the Grand President a class of seven candidates.

This fact, perhaps, gave Grand President Meyer the cue for his stirring address which followed the ceremony. After expressing appreciation of the manner in which Santa Barbara Parlor had handled the program at the recent dedication of the Channel City's new $450,000 postoffice, the Grand President described briefly Native Son participation in the dedication of the Golden Gate bridge at San Francisco.

He turned then to changes that have come into the life of the southland, and found reason to praise the increased accent that is being given history and landmarks. Nowhere did he find the Sons serving more actively as bridge-builders between the glorious past and the somewhat troubled present than in Santa Barbara.

The Grand President said that three mass initiations are planned for the year—an Admission Day class, bringing into the Order particularly the sons of pioneers; a group reinstatement scheduled for December and calculated to return to Native Son service many who had fallen out during the years of depression; and an April class to celebrate the birthday of General A. M. Winn, Founder of the Order. He felt sure that Santa Barbara would return large classes on each occasion.

Resolutions were adopted by Santa Barbara No. 116 awarding Clifford C. Romer, assistant scout master of the Native Sons troop of Boy Scouts of America, member of the varsity football squad and an earnest student, the Parlor's $50 scholarship to aid him in attending Santa Barbara State College. This annual scholarship for the past four years has been held by Miss Wilma Kiesner, who recently graduated with honors. The scholarship committee includes F. V. Vestal, I. A. Bonilla, Leland S. Holiday, A. C. Dinsmore and Stanley Barber.

President Holiday announced that the recent salvage sale sponsored by the Parlor had realized sufficient funds to pay the expenses of two members of Santa Barbara's scout troop to the National Scout Jamboree at Washington. The scouts who will enjoy this experience are David McCormick and Robert Carlson.

A CHALLENGE: MORE N. D. PARLORS

Representing Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 N.D.G.W., Mrs. Wesley McCormick, president, Mrs. Fred Acres, supervising deputy, and Mrs. Dorothy Yule went to the Grand Parlor at San Jose. They carried with them a liberal supply of the Grand Parlor number of "The Cub," the Parlor's sprightly house organ, printed on golden paper in honor of the Grand Parlor. The spirit of this most active Parlor is set forth in the foreword of the edition, as follows:

"June is the time of year when Native Daughters of the Golden West take stock of accomplishment in the twelve months that have passed and peer into the crystal for prospective good deeds in the year to come.

"This stock taking of a little less than 200 Parlors, with a membership of 14,000 earnest California-born women, has important place in the year-by-year history of the Golden State.

Fiesteros of Reina del Mar Parlor N.D.G.W.

Here is a close-up of a group of attractive Native Daughters whose artistic dancing and clever interpretation of native numbers helps Reina del Mar Parlor in its bridge-building at Santa Barbara. With the old Channel City celebrating Semana Nautica, July 3-5, and its world-famous "Old Spanish Days" Fiesta August 19-21, the Fiesteros will don their dancing shoes and attractive costumes on several important occasions.—Photo by Obert.

"Reina del Mar Parlor,—Santa Barbara's own with 118 members—a link in the Golden West chain, finds itself measuring up in creditable fashion. Nine standing committees make their accounting in this issue of your Cub.

"Here is a challenge for the year to come—an extension of the Order in this county of ours. Santa Barbara County, peculiarly divided in physical aspect and population centers, surely calls for more than one parlor of N.D.G.W. With the confidence of the public already gained, we have received signal recognition in various quarters. More and more other organizations and groups are turning to us for aid in program and the advancement of projects. We of Reina del Mar can see no reason why this responsibility to the general public should not be divided and our force for good multiplied. Should we not have active parlors established in Santa Maria, our second city; in the Santa Ynez Valley, with one of our three missions; Lompoc Valley, where the third mission is now being restored, and in Carpinteria Valley, where some of the first pages of county history were written?

"The fine support which we have received from the county press is part of Reina del Mar's recognition and might be capitalized upon to arouse interest in the formation of the three new parlors suggested."

SEMANA NAUTICA CELEBRATION.

The Parlors of the Sons and Daughters join in extending to all Californians a hearty invitation to spend the Fourth of July in Santa Barbara and to enjoy with them the entertainment of the Channel City's fifth annual Semana Nautica (Marine Week). Entertainment is varied, ranging from yacht races to a spectacular review in the Santa Barbara Amphitheater, and the program covers three days, July 3-5. Mrs. Dorothy Yule, chairman of the Daughters community service committee, with Mrs. Maidene Davis as vice-chairman, is arranging parade participation for that Order, with many members marching in their finest Spanish costumes.

OLD SPANISH DAYS SHERIFF'S POSSE SUPPER

The committee that will this year have charge of arrangements for the sheriff's posse supper of Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W. includes: District Deputy A. C. Dinsmore (chairman), Ray Lathim, A. J. Janssens, Captain W. H. Rutherford, Harry Sweetser and Harold T. Campbell.

The posse of Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz of Los Angeles County has been officially invited to ride in the August 19 parade of the Old Spanish Days Fiesta, and to attend the fifth annual posse supper as guests of the Parlor in the evening. More than 400 will, it is expected, be at this affair which, according to present plans, will be one of the very best ever put on.

In the past, people anxious to attend have been turned away because of lack of accommodations, but due to a new setup, some seventy-five more will be accommodated this year. This being a Native Sons' and Native Daughters' party, members of those Orders will have first choice of reservations, provided the committee is advised early. Address A. C. Dinsmore, 909 E. Carpinteria street, Santa Barbara.

BOOK REVIEWS

(CLARENCE M. HUNT)

"THE LIFE AND ADVENTURES OF GEORGE NIDEVER [1802-1883]."
Edited by William Henry Ellison; University of California Press, Berkeley; Price, $2.00.

This is the life story of George Nidever, a pioneer who came to California in 1834, told in his own words. In 1878, at Santa Barbara, Edward F. Murray received from Nidever himself the story of his adventures. The document became the property of the University of California, and was prepared for publication by William Henry Ellison, who says "it is a valuable contribution to the history of California in the fifteen years preceding the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo."

Soon after his arrival in California, Nidever became well known around Santa Barbara. He hunted grizzly bears and sea otter all along the coast and on the Channel Islands and became famous as a marksman. One of his outstanding exploits was his rescue in 1852 of "The Lone Woman of San Nicolas Island," who had been marooned for eighteen years.

Nidever married Sinforosa Sanchez, daughter of a California family, and became a property owner in Santa Barbara. He was involved in several of the periodic revolutions which made life exciting under the Mexican government and campaigned with Fremont when he put down the Mexican rebellion in the southern part of the state.

Nidever, born in 1802 on the eastern frontier of Tennessee, died at Santa Barbara in 1883. The span of years covered in his life story is little known to readers of Western history. He was in California a professional hunter, trapper and fighter—for fifteen years before the great gold rush began.

"THE PEOPLE OF THE PUEBLO."
By Celeste G. Murphy; W. L. and C. G. Murphy, Publishers, Sonoma; Price, $2.50.

This is the story of Sonoma,—founded as a pueblo June 24, 1835,—told most interestingly by one thoroughly acquainted with its fascinating and romantic history. "Sonoma is the Valley of the Moon," says Author Murphy, "and of it and of the people of the old pueblo and the Mission settlement I will tell."

And accordingly, the book is replete with colorful incidents from the days of the Indians to Jack London's day. Among the forty-three chapters are those titled "Vallejo the Colonizer," "Sonoma in 1841," "The Bear Flag," "Fourth of July 1846," "Sonoma Under American Rule," "The Days of Forty-nine" and "After Stage Coach Days." The book is liberally illustrated, the frontispiece being reproductions, in colors, of the "Flags That Have Flown Over California—Spain 1542-1822, England 1579, Russian-American Company 1809-1841, Buenos Aires 1818, Mexico 1822-1846, Bear Flag 1846, United States 1846-Forever."

FLAG DAY IMPRESSIVELY OBSERVED AT SAN DIEGO.

San Diego—In a colorful and impressive ceremony which attracted more than 500, the flags of Spain, Mexico, the Republic of California and the United States of America, each representative of a chapter in San Diego history, were raised at Old Town Plaza, Flag Day, June 14, at the site where the American Flag was first raised in San Diego, July 29, 1846, by a landing party from the U.S.S. Cyane under command of Lieutenant Stephen C. Rowan of the United States Navy.

Albert V. Mayrhofer, Deputy Grand President of the Native Sons and president of the State Historical Association, was the master of ceremonies, and participating in the program were Pery C. Broell, Rev. Father James, Dr. A. P. Nasitir, George Montijo, Edith Barngrover, Judge William J. Collard, Bishop Charles Francis Buddy, Msgr. John Hagarty, Fred Vallejo, Maurice Herschel, Albert Smith, Joseph C. Kelley and T. Joseph Tighe.

GRAND PRESIDENT

SANTA MONICA, CALIFORNIA

THE ADMISSION DAY CLASS.....

Grand Parlor Committeemen, Deputy Grand Presidents and My Brothers:

Reports are reaching me that many Subordinate Parlors have already held Admission Day initiations, and that others will have initiated classes by the time you have read this. Many additional Parlors will have Admission Day Classes during the month of August. All this is very gratifying, and most encouraging.

Upon the Deputy Grand Presidents falls the responsibility of seeing that their respective Parlors initiate Admission Day Classes. I am especially anxious to have the smaller Parlors initiate, regardless of the size of the Parlor or how small the class might be.

I am reminding the Supervising Deputy Grand Presidents that I shall expect a report from them by September 1st of the progress made by the Parlors in their districts.

The Grand Parlor Committeemen have expressed a willingness to co-operate with me in all my endeavors. I call upon you to bring into our Order a Californian who will be thankful to you for the opportunity of becoming affiliated with the Order that his birth entitles him to join. All worthwhile men are greatly interested in the welfare of our glorious State. Therefore, their State's Birthday, on an occasion like this, takes on an added importance.

There are thousands of desirable eligibles anxiously waiting to be extended an invitation to become identified, through membership, with the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West. Extend the invitation!

My ambition, hope and intention is, that this year shall be the most successful the Order has ever experienced.

With your continuous co-operation we can make it just that, "The most successful year ever," for which we all will be truly grateful.

Sincerely and Fraternally yours,

Eldred L. Meyer.

Grand President.

ADMISSION DAY AT SANTA MONICA

Mary B. Noerenberg
ADMISSION DAY COMMITTEE.)

ALL CALIFORNIA WILL JOURNEY TO Santa Monica, Los Angeles County, this year to participate in the celebration of Admission Day, September 9, the eighty-seventh anniversary of the admission of California into the Union. The Los Angeles County N.S.G.W. and N.D.G.W. 1937 Admission Day Committee is showing the greatest enthusiasm and, according to the present plans, the celebration this year will be the most elaborate and pretentious ever held. The interest shown by both Native Sons and Native Daughters is most encouraging, and to date many Subordinate Parlors of the Orders of Native Sons of the Golden West and Native Daughters of the Golden West have signified their intention of joining in the festivities.

Admission Day celebration plans are progressing day by day, and entertainment features of all types are assured the thousands of Native Sons, Native Daughters and other Californians who will gather from all parts of the state to observe California's birthday. This year Santa Monica was chosen as the celebration city because it is the home of Grand President Eldred L. Meyer of the Native Sons.

The evening of September 8 will open the celebration, with a reception and grand ball. Drill team contests will also take place that night. They will be over about 10:30 p.m., which will enable participants to attend the grand ball.

The Admission Day parade will be the feature attraction, the morning of September 9. It will be followed by a civic luncheon honoring grand officers, and state and city officials, and immediately following the luncheon literary exercises will be held. Also during the afternoon of September 9, various athletic activities will be held, dancing will be in order at various headquarters, and many social events will be featured.

Civic and patriotic organizations have planned to take an active part in the Admission Day parade by entering floats, decorated automobiles and bands. Many cities and counties of the state will also be represented with floats, bands and marching units. Several groups are entering some of the most beautiful horses in California, with colorful mountings.

The following Parlors have to date (July 20) signified their intention of participating in the Admission Day parade: Native Sons—Sacramento, Fruitvale, Mission, Pacific, Guadalupe, Castro, Piedmont, Santa Barbara, Bakersfield, Lakemont, Santa Ana, Los Angeles, Ramona, Hollywood, Stephen M. White, Glendale, University, Compton and Santa Monica Bay.

Native Daughters—Mission, Guadalupe, Castro, Piedmont, El Pescadero, Oro Fino, El Vespero, Aloha, Sea Point, Marinita, Stockton, Argonaut, James Lick, Twin Peaks, Lugonia, Genevieve, Bahia Vista, Albany, Tamelpa, Stockton, Fruitvale, Buena Vista, Santa Ana, Grace, Los Angeles, Long Beach, Rudecinda, Verdugo, Californiana, Compton, Reina del Mar and Santa Monica Bay.

Friday, September 10, visiting Native Sons will be the guests of the N.S.G.W. Friday Luncheon Club at the Rosslyn Hotel in Los Angeles. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the grand officers of the Native Sons will dedicate the new Susan M. Dorsey public school, and the grand officers of the Native Daughters will present to the school United States of America and California State (Bear) Flags. This is one of Los Angeles' largest such schools, and the woman for whom it is named has rendered great service to California.

The next (September) issue of The Grizzly Bear will contain a detailed account of the numerous events on the Admission Day program.

The Los Angeles County 1937 Admission Day Committee, organized several months ago, is in charge of the celebration. The committee is officered by Eldred L. AMADOR'S HANGMAN'S TREE MARKED BY NATIVE DAUGHTERS.

Jackson (Amador County)—A most interesting and romantic ceremony took place on the Main street of Jackson Saturday afternoon, July 24, when the Mother Parlor of the Order of Native Daughters of the Golden West, Ursula No. 1, dedicated a marker on the site of the old Hangman's Tree.

In early days, before legal machinery was fully perfected, it was the custom of the citizens of Jackson, as well as those of other communities, to dispense stern justice summarily. When a serious offense was committed, such as a murder, horse theft, or robbery of silver, the offender, when caught, was haled before a jury of citizens, tried and, if convicted, promptly hanged. In this procedure, every effort was made to follow the forms of correct performance: a judge was selected and a jury impanelled, attorneys were assigned to prosecute and to defend, witnesses were heard, the jury was charged and retired to deliberate and then announced the decision. This was in every sense an orderly proceeding, quite apart from lawlessness and lynch law. It typified the innate spirit of order and respect for the law which was a common trait of the Pioneers.

The Hangman's Tree in Jackson stood on the easterly side of Main street, just in front of the Tellier building, then, as now, occupied by the Pioneer Saloon. An old daguerrotype exists,

GATHERING HISTORY MATERIAL

(NATIVE SONS HISTORY FELLOW.)

EVEN THOUGH GRANTED FOR A FULL school year, the work done by a Native Sons Fellow is usually divided into two periods, due to the divisions of the school term. Especially has this been so in my case, in my work on the "Military Conquest of California by the United States in 1846-1847." The first half—on which I submitted a short report at the close of 1936—was really spent in preparation for the work I planned to do in the second half; for the fellowship would allow me to take a short trip to the eastern part of the United States and the archives situated there. It was absolutely necessary for my topic that I do so because, while the provincial archives, which tell the story of the native Californian side of the conflict, have been gathered to a large extent in such local depositories as Bancroft and Huntington Libraries, the material for the United States side still lies mostly in the governmental archives in Washington, D. C.

During the first semester, then, of the school year 1936-1937, I endeavored to learn as much as possible about the scope of the materials for my subject which were accessible on the Pacific Coast. This was essential so that I would not duplicate too much, although it is an almost impossible task even to survey the mass of material in the short time at my disposal.

On January 3, 1937, began the most interesting, as well as the most valuable, part of the year's work. On that day I started my drive from San Diego to retrace the route General Stephen Watts Kearny and his dragoons took when they marched to California in 1846. Pausing only briefly at the battlefield of San Pasqual, because of the weather, I went on to Mexicali, where Kearny crossed what was to be the boundary line between Mexico and the United States. The modern roads do not exactly follow his route down the Gila, but I was able to obtain a very good idea of the terrain he traversed. It was not necessary to duplicate entirely his line of march, because he followed well-marked Spanish trails. Up the Del Norte to Santa Fe, and from there across Raton Pass and along the old Santa Fe Trail I was able to retrace almost exactly his footsteps to Fort Leavenworth, because the automobile roads practically coincide with the old trails. The reports of the soldiers indicate that while they did not travel so fast as I, yet they had nicer weather, because due to the lateness of season I had to combat a fair amount of ice and snow after I left Santa Fe.

St. Louis was my first stop to do actual gathering of material. In the Missouri Historical Society are housed the Turner letters and Kearny's "Letters sent book." I had to check over the Turner documents, and carry away entire the contents of Kearny's "Letter book." This I was able to accomplish in the short space of three days, due to my method of note taking. Instead of copying by hand, I microfilm all the material with a Leica camera. Not only does this save time—for instance, copying Kearny's "Letter book" would have taken over a week doing it by pen, whereas I did it in one morning,—but it gives me correct reproductions without a possibility of an error in transcribing.

After leaving St. Louis, I was able to proceed directly to Washington, although the flood news was disturbing. Fortunately, I was always just ahead of the worst part, though by not very big margins. Five hours after I crossed the Little Miami near Columbus, Ohio, all traffic was stopped by its rise, and on the night of the afternoon I passed through Pittsburgh the Golden Triangle was flooded. I had only to ford one stretch of water, and that was but one hundred yards long near Steubensville, Ohio.

After establishing myself in Washington, I went first of all to the Library of Congress, where the authorities were kind enough to assign me a study desk and give me stack privileges. Several weeks were spent in contacting different persons to whom I had letters of introduction, and in going through printed material in the Library. It contains such a large number of books which are not on the Pacific Coast, especially on military subjects.

From the Library of Congress, I went to the War Department. The tons of material which are contained in its archives have to be divided into several departments for handling. First I went to the Old Records Section of the Adjutant General's office, where I was able to examine the muster rolls of the "Army of the West"—Kearny's command. Not so much mass of material pertained to my subject there. In the Organization Records Division of the Old Records Section of the Adjutant General's office it was a different story. Here are housed the departmental returns of the 10th Military or Pacific Department, as well as letters sent and received by the department, Secretary of War, and General of the army. It also has post returns. I spent about five weeks there sorting and photographing material, with a routine somewhat as follows: the morning would be occupied in photographing and sorting out the work for the next day's filming. Since all material in the War Department must be censored, it saved time to sort for the next day, as the chief clerk could go over it during the afternoon.

The afternoon I spend at my desk in the Library typing index cards for the documents which I have filmed in the morning. It is absolutely necessary to index immediately, because with the type of manuscripts with which I am working, there is a tremendous amount of duplication in the different archives, as often the same letter or report was sent in duplicate to three different people. Each index card contains the author of the manuscript, the receiver—if a letter—title, date written, where it can be found now, the number of the roll of film, and the frame number on the roll. On the back of the card is a short summary of the contents. Thus my "film library" is instantly accessible. The evenings are devoted to developing the day's take and loading cassettes for the next day's work. I do my own developing, not only because it is cheaper but because I can do what I want with the film. This work usually takes about three hours.

When I exhausted the available material at the Old Records Division—I say available, because there are literally tons of records which are physically inaccessible,—I went to the Old Files Section of the Adjutant General's office. There I found some valuable Kearny letters. Only a few days were occupied here.

Then I turned to the Navy Department. Although there are some odds and ends yet to be looked into at the War Department, I was certain there would be a large amount at the Navy, and I have to budget my time. I was not disappointed, and am still working there. There is so much that to date I have covered only Stockton's correspondence, the log of the "Cyane," Mervine "Letters Sent," and Pacific Squadron "Miscellaneous Letters." I still have left, that I know about—the clerks are always bringing in new volumes—Sloat's correspondence, Jones' correspondence, confidential letters of the Secretary of Navy, Captains' letters, and Mervine "Letters Received."

The logs of the other vessels of the Pacific Squadron have been sent to the National Archives Building, and I will have to go there to get them. Also, I have yet to visit the State Department, as well as the Library of Harvard University.

It is difficult to say exactly how much material I have gathered to date, but I have cards to over a thousand separate letters and documents. By the end of May I hope to have completed my work on the East coast, and also most of the research for the American part of the conquest. During the next year I want to co-ordinate it with the native Californian documents, and begin the actual synthesis of the complete story.

(This report was received by The Grizzly Bear July 10 from Past Grand President Edward J. Lynch, Chairman N.S.G.W. Grand Parlor California History Board, with the information: "George W. Ames Jr., one of our Native Sons History Fellows, sent in his report for last year from Washington, D. C., but it was received too late to be printed in the report of the History Committee to the Sonoma Grand Parlor. As this report will not appear in the Proceedings of the Grand Parlor, I think it would be well to publish it in The Grizzly Bear."—Editor.)

Forty-fifth Anniversary Observed.

Nicasio—Nicasio No. 183 celebrated its forty-fifth institution anniversary, and had a reception in honor of one of its oldest and most faithful members, Charles A. Redding, who was elected Grand Trustee at the Sonoma Grand Parlor. Six hundred guests were in attendance, including large delegations from Petaluma No. 27, Santa Rosa No. 28, Mount Tamalpais No. 64 (San Rafael) and Sea Point No. 158 (Sausalito). Grand Trustee and Mrs. Redding led the grand march, and following the dance refreshments were served.

Nicasio was instituted June 18, 1892, with forty-two charter members, of whom Frank E. Rodgers, Joseph L. Redding and John A. McIsaac are the sole survivors. Ed Nelson was the first president, and Bernard Miller, a son of Jas. Miller who settled in Marin County in 1847, was the first secretary.—L.J.P.

All California will celebrate Admission Day, September 9, at Santa Monica, Los Angeles County. Plan now to participate in the state-wide festivities.

MAJOR ACTIVITIES TO BE FEATURED AT CALIFORNIA STATE FAIR.

Sacramento—A California Industries Pageant featuring ten major activities of California will be a principal attraction at the State Fair, to be held here September 3 to 12. The Fair Board has approved a plan of Secretary-Manager Robert Muckler to name each of the ten days of the fair for an industry. The secretary declares:

"The California Industries Pageant affords an excellent means for informing Californians of the State's major industrial and educational pursuits. We expect the pageant to be an attractive part of the fair." The emphasis to be placed on each activity will be accomplished through either a special program or dramatization.

Agriculture, bringing to California an annual approximate income of $600,000,000, is one of the prominent industries to be eulogized in the special ten-day arrangement. One of the special days will be devoted to churches, a new idea at the California State Fair, but used by some Eastern state fairs. The eight other days in the California Industries Pageant will be dedicated to education, livestock, press, mining, radio, fruit, motion picture and manufacturing.

President A. B. Miller of the Fair Board assures that although the ten days of pageantry will be devoted to industries, the plan does not alter the system of special days for organizations and cities. Governor's day, historically one of the big days of the State Fair, will be given more prominence than usual. This day, traditionally held on Thursday, has been changed to Friday this year in order to turn Thursday over to a colorful Admission Day celebration September 9. Labor Day will be another outstanding event.

Legislature to build a highway from Carmel, Monterey County, to Cambria, San Luis Obispo County. The highway was formally opened June 27, and at the same time a monument erected to the memory of Senator Rigdon was dedicated.

In close proximity to the monument Cambria No. 152 planted a memorial tree, which was formally dedicated by Junior Past Grand President Hartley Russell, Past Grand President Chas. A. Koenig, Grand Trustee Wayne Millington and Grand Secretary John T. Regan.

Six Parlors Join for Installation.

Sacramento—Officers of six local Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters were jointly installed July 16. Some 400 members of the Orders attended the ceremonies, among the number being Grand Third Vice-president Henry S. Lyon of the Native Sons, and Grand Vice-president Edna Briggs and Past Grand Dr. Eva R. Rasmussen of the Native Daughters.

The new presidents are: N.S.G.W.—Sacramento No. 3, Leslie J. Lindsay; Sunset No. 26, R. E. Murray. N.D.G.W.—La Bandera No. 110, Mary Wright; Sutter No. 111, Annie Watts; Coloma No. 212, Lillian J. Filmar; Rio Rito No. 253, Mrs. Anson H. Morgan. Following the ceremonies dancing was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

NEWSY N.S.G.W. PARAGRAPHS.

San Jose—Preparatory to participating in the Santa Monica Admission Day, September 9, parade, San Jose No. 22 has procured a set of parade flags and new regalias for all officers. The annual family barbecue of the Parlor is being planned for August.

All California will celebrate Admission Day, September 9, at Santa Monica, Los Angeles County. Plan now to participate in the state-wide festivities.

Elk Grove—At joint public ceremonies July 9 conducted by Deputies Larry Marvin and Louisa Krull, officers of Elk Grove No. 41 and Liberty No. 213 N.D.G.W. were installed. Laurence Harrison and Helen Castello becoming the respective presidents. Past president emblems were presented George Foulks and Mary Wood. Homemade refreshments were served.

Bakersfield—Officers of Bakersfield No. 42, with Carl Luick as president, were installed July 7 by Deputy Grand President Mart E. Leonard. A past president emblem was presented R. G. Gleason. Bakersfield will be well represented at the Santa Monica September 9 celebration.

Odemar presented a past president pin to District Deputy LaRue, and on behalf of Los Angeles Parlor N.S.G.W., Grand Organist Johnson presented a past president ring to Walter Smith. Brief addresses were made by Past Grand President John T. Newell, Grand Marshal Walter C. Richards and Supervising Deputy Odemar. Dancing concluded a happy occasion.

BEST ENDEAVORS PROMISED.

In a charming and beautiful environment—the garden of the Dr. and Mrs. Rufus Von Klein-Schmid home in Chester place—the new officers of Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W., with Mrs. Marcella Palethorpe as president, were most auspiciously installed July 14. Inez Sitton was chairman of the day. Deputy Betty Saunders was the installing officer, and was assisted by Grand Marshal Hazel B. Hansen, Supervising Deputy Ione Gillett, Grand Trustee Mary B. Noerenberg and Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer. The acting grand officers, members of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W., and the officers-elect were attired in beautiful pastel dresses and carried corsages of lovely flowers in the Order's colors. Marybelle Chapman sang the installation ode.

Following the installation ceremony, Alphonse B. Fages sang "Trees" and "Song of Songs," with Mrs. Chapman at the piano. Addressing the assembled 200 members and guests, President Palethorpe promised her best endeavors to bring to Californiana another prosperous year. Many gifts were presented to President Palethorpe and Lena Teague Burrows, retiring president. Concluding a perfect day, delicious punch and cakes were served while Jose Arias and his troubadors played sweet music.

The "Lighted Tree" was the scene July 8 of a surprise luncheon honoring Lena Teague Burrows, Californiana's retired president. By her officers and committee chairmen, she was presented with a handsome silver tray. Mrs. Ellen Rickershauser invited the group to her beach home for a party August 2. The Parlor will vacation until September 14.—O.L.

N.S. PARLORS URGED TO INITIATE.

To discuss plans for advancing the interests of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West in District No. 1, which includes the southern Parlors, Supervising Deputy Grand President Walter H. Odemar invited grand officers, deputies and Grand Parlor committeemen to his home the afternoon of July 10. The following responded:

Grand President Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth, Deputies Mart Leonard, Roy Tarleton, George LaRue, John Bodkin, Bernard Hiss and Clarence M. Hunt.

Odemar called attention to the Grand President's desire to increase the membership in all Parlors, and requested the deputies to urge the Parlors under their charge to initiate Admission Day classes during August. Other matters were also given consideration, and late in the afternoon delicious refreshments, prepared by Mrs. Odemar, were served.

All California will celebrate Admission Day, September 9, at Santa Monica, Los Angeles County. Plan now to participate in the state-wide festivities.

presidents that preceded him. The program for the next six months was formulated at an officers' meeting at the home of Lucian Griffin the evening of July 19. President Smith presided.

Neil Wood was selected as chairman of the Admission Day committee and presented many splendid ideas for the Parlor's float and marching unit. Manager Carl Martin of the ball club promised a class "A" aggregation to represent the Parlor in the championship contest. Wednesday, August 18, has been selected for the annual stag party and Carl Martin in charge of arrangements, has something new and different in mind for the affair. Make your plans now to be on hand on that gala night. Joe Hiss will handle the Parlor's official publication during the term.

Still in the limelight and pushing arrangements for the Los Angeles County Admission Day Committee are many of the active members of the Parlor. Ben Hiss, secretary of the organization, Maynard Garrison, chairman of the reception committee, Lucian Griffin, chairman of athletics, and various others. Natives who have not visited University's new "Rumpus Room" have a treat in store for them. Come up and see us—refreshments and games after every meeting, and we meet Wednesday nights. —J P H

Twenty-ninth Anniversary.

Marysville—The twenty-ninth anniversary of the institution of Marysville No. 162 was observed at a July 8 garden party at the home of Edith M. McKinsey. Among the many in attendance were Charter Members Ina Wells, Ada Lewis, Martha Boyd, Mary Moneur and Esther R. Sullivan, and eighteen past presidents. President Jean Binninger presided, and Ina Wells was program chairman.

Past Grand Esther R. Sullivan gave an account of the organization of the "mother" Parlor of the Order, Ursula No. 1, at Jackson, Amador County, reviewed the First (1887) Grand Parlor, and told of Marysville's institution July 10, 1908. Other speakers were Fannie Southern, May Southern and Alice Galligan, and assembly singing was led by Gertrude Cable. In observance of her birthday, a decorated cake was presented Ruth Galligan.

Reception for Grand President.

San Rafael—Marinita No. 198 had a very elaborate reception July 10 in honor of Grand President Ethel I. Begley, a member of the Parlor. Gladioli and hydrangeas were used in the beautiful decorations. The escort team, composed of sixteen young women of the Parlor, were gowned in net formals of rainbow shades. They carried gladioli which, at the conclusion of a drill, were placed in a basket and presented to the Grand President by Ernestine Schumacher, the flower girl. Ruth Hall was accompanist for the escort team.

Antoinette Hecht, chairman of the evening, introduced Grand President Begley, who made a brief address, following which a program was presented by Ada Fusselman, Ann Shields, Helen Peters, Walter Panholzer, Shirlie Page, Tom Hodson Jr. and Grand Organist Mae O'Keefe. The delightful occasion concluded with a buffet supper and dancing.

Marinita celebrated its twenty-fifth institution anniversary at a dinner June 30. Honor-guests included Grand President Ethel Begley, Past Grand Emma G. Foley, "mother" of the Parlor, Charter members Vida Vollers, Anna Spinney, Lillian Whitmore, Etta Akers, Myra Murphy, Clara McGowan Noonan, Anne Andrade and Rose Redmond, President Ora Perry and Alice Glassford, incoming president. Favors were blue and silver boats, harbingers of good things. The committee of arrangements included Irene Griffin (chairman), Antoinette Hecht, Violet Schumaker, Marguerite Brusatori, Gertrude Hediger, Frances Soldavini and Ora Perry.

Fourth Baby Adopted.

Placentia—A large crowd attended the tenth anniversary picnic of Grace No. 242 at Irvine Park. Callye Sparks Blum entertained with several comedy skits. The sewing club had recent meetings at the Southgate home of Dora Christensen and the Lido Isle home of Erna Watts. In compliment to President Kate Hill, the Parlor July 15 adopted its fourth baby. Nellie M. Cline, former grand trustee, is steadily gaining in health. Alice Key Davis will be president for the new term.

The Admission Day committee of Grace, Lena Wagner chairman, is lending every effort to obtain several entries as part of Orange County's unit in the September 9 parade at Santa Monica.

THE SAN FRANCISCO N.S.G.W. EXTENsion of the Order Committee recently elected the following officers: Grand Trustee Raymond D. Williamson, chairman; Joseph E. Tracy, vice-chairman; Harold J. Regan, secretary; Nicholas J. Murphy, treasurer.

Regan of South San Francisco Parlor No. 157, secretary, and Gertrude Mariani of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158, assistant secretary.

GUEST OF PAST PRESIDENTS.

All California will celebrate Admission Day, September 9, at Santa Monica, Los Angeles County. Plan now to participate in the state-wide festivities.

VETERANS VISITED.

The veterans in Letterman Hospital were again visited by Dolores Parlor No. 169 N.D.G.W. July 8, and were given cigarets, matches and magazines. Mrs. May Baumeister, chairman of the committee, was assisted by Mrs. Lee Schallock, Mary Elb and Betty Both.

July 14, Dolores welcomed Deputy Ellen Gooch and Supervising Deputy Katherine Keating. President Gertrude Penaluna was given a farewell party. Decorations were patriotic in color. Dolores plans to be in the September 9 parade at Santa Monica.

INSTALLATIONS.

With Deputy Mazie Roderick officiating, officers of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158 N.D.G.W. were publicly installed July 26, Mrs. Marie Parker becoming president.

Barry was chairman of the evening, Arthur T. Poheim had charge of the entertainment, and John Dondero and Ted Sanders looked after the refreshments.

SAN BERNARDINO

INSPIRING OCCASION

SAN BERNARDINO—AT ONE OF THE most inspiring fraternal gatherings ever held here, Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. celebrated July 21 its fiftieth (golden) institution anniversary. Some 300 members of the Order assembled to enjoy and participate in the festivities, which began with a tasty turkey supper. Honor-guests of the occasion were the two remaining charter members, Joseph Eugene Rich and Albert Alfred Burcham.

Following the feast, President James A. Olivas called the meeting to order, and introduced Judge Donald E. VanLuven, a past president, as the master of ceremonies. Other past presidents were named by him to fill the several stations, as follows: William Edwin Keir, junior past president; Marion Lafayette Aldridge, first vice-president; Frank Dennis Keller, second vice-president; John Andreson Jr., third vice-president; Millard Guy Hale, financial secretry; Robert Wesley Brazelton, recording secretary; Henry Montague Willis, marshal; William Guthrie, inside sentinel; Roy Emory Burcham, outside sentinel; Charles Alfred Post, Charles Nelson Frost, Herma Taylor, trustees.

The address of welcome was delivered by Chief Deputy District Attorney Jerome Burke Kavanaugh, and Grand President Eldred L. Meyer extended congratulations on behalf of the Grand Parlor. Charter Member Joseph Eugene Rich, who served Arrowhead as president in 1889 and 1904, responded.

"Arrowhead Parlor in Retrospect" was the title of an address by Superior Judge Henry M. Willis, a former past president of No. 110 now affiliated with Ramona Parlor No. 109 of Los Angeles. Other speakers were Miguel Estudillo, Richard J. Welch, Treasurer John Andreson Jr., Recording Secretary "Bob" Brazelton, Financial Secretary Guy Hale, Joe Seymour, and Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267, who urged Arrowhead's participation in the Admission Day parade at Santa Monica September 9.

Among those who took a leading part in the observance of the fiftieth institution anniversary of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W., were (right to left): Judge Donald E. VanLuven, general chairman of arrangements; Joseph Eugene Rich and Albert Alfred Burcham, surviving charter members of the Parlor, and James A. Olivas, president of Arrowhead.

Among qthers introduced were Past Grand President Herman C. Lichtenberger, Grand Marshal Walter C. Richards, Supervising District Deputy Grand President Walter Odemar, Deputies Roy Tarleton, Bernard G. Hiss, Walter Geisler, Leslie Case, John Bodkin and Clarence M. Hunt, Secretary Willard F. Allen of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 and Frank S. Adams, a charter member and past president of Arrowhead, now affiliated with Ramona.

As a fitting climax to a most delightful evening, Ben Harrison, on behalf of Arrowhead, in the course of an address overflowing with sentiment presented a life membership to Charter Member "Joe" Rich, who has maintained a continuous membership in Arrowhead since its institution, July 20, 1887. "Joe" was so overcome that he responded with difficulty.

The fifty-year anniversary committee included: Judge Donald E. VanLuven (chairman), John Andreson Jr., J. Bruce Jordan, Leslie D. Case, Laurence J. G. Kelley and Pierre Leonard Holmgren. Several messages of greetings from those unable to attend the festivities were read, one coming from Past Grand President Walter D. Wagner, a member of Arrowhead residing in San Francisco.

NATIVE SONS PAST PRESIDENTS WILL INSTALL AT COMPTON.

Compton—The next regular meeting of Arrowhead Assembly No. 14, Past Presidents Association N.S.G.W., will be held here Friday, August 13, in Cherry-Caldwell Hall, 260½ East Compton boulevard. The meeting will be preceded by a 7 p.m. dinner.

Installation of the new officers, with Grand Marshal Walter C. Richards as governor, will be conducted by District Deputy Governor General Edwin E. Baldwin. All past presidents are cordially invited to attend.

HANGMAN'S TREE

showing the tree with its gruesome fruit at the hanging of Manuel Escobar in 1856. This was the last hanging from that tree. Maurice Pearce, local photographer, has made an enlargement of this old photo, from which the true location of the tree is plainly seen. It was a liveoak, branching from the base, with a large limb extending over Main street. On this branch the hangings were effected. Some thirty years ago the concrete sidewalk in front of this place was reconstructed, and the remains of the old tree stump were then plainly visible.

The marker is placed in the center of the sidewalk in front of the Pioneer property, now owned by Thomas Boro, and operated by him as a coffee shop and refreshment parlor. It is an octagonal plaque twelve inches in diameter, bearing the following simple inscription: "HERE STOOD IN EARLY DAYS THE HANGMAN'S TREE. MARKER PLACED BY URSULA PARLOR NO. 1, N.D.G.W. JULY 24, 1937."

The ceremony of dedication was under the direction of the landmarks committee of the Parlor, and the following program was rendered: Opening remarks, Emma B. Wright, chairman of the day; selection, ladies' band of Jackson; address, Lorraine R. Cassinelli, president Ursula Parlor; unveiling of plaque, Henrietta O'Neill and Dorothy Van Thiel; dedication, Past President Elizabeth L. Read; selection, band.

Ursula Parlor No. 1 N.D.G.W. has also caused to be re-placed the standard landmarks marker at Butte, on the site of the old store. This marker, originally placed by the State Highway Department in conjunction with the State Chamber of Commerce, has been twice destroyed. The cost of its replacement has been assumed by Ursula, and the details were arranged by Mrs. Elizabeth Sargent, representative of the historic landmarks division of the State Chamber in Amador County, assisted by A. L. Steward of Butte. No ceremony attended this replacement. The village of Butte, now a ghost town, once was the site of a flourishing community of some thousands. It is situated on the Middle Bar road, about four miles from Jackson.

All California will celebrate Admission Day, September 9, at Santa Monica, Los Angeles County. Plan now to participate in the state-wide festivities.

NATIVE SONS NEWS

Its Admission Day committee includes Mart Leonard (chairman), Hal Bannister, Walter Werchelt, George Hansen and Eldridge James.

Downieville—Thirty-six members of Quartz No. 38 (Grass Valley) recently paid a fraternal visit to Downieville No. 92, and the officers of Quartz, headed by President Frank W. Bennallack, initiated a class of nine candidates, four for No. 38 and five for No. 92. A banquet concluded the ceremonies.

No applications, no new members to fill the ranks. And California needs more Native Sons! Today's responsibility of every member of the Order is to contact eligibles. Don't leave this important duty for "George" to perform.

Folsom—Ray Dudley McFarland, a member of Granite No. 83 who represented the Parlor at several sessions of the Grand Parlor, died recently at Sacramento, survived by three daughters and a sister, Hazel McFarland of Fern No. 123 N.D.G.W. He was born at Biggs, Butte County, January 24, 1881, being a son of the late Thad J. McFarland who, as a member of Rainbow No. 40 (Wheatland), now defunct, was elected Grand Inside Sentinel at the Ninth (Woodland 1886) Grand Parlor.

Santa Cruz—Officers of Santa Cruz No. 90 were installed July 3 by District Deputy George Griffin, William A. Deans becoming president. Following the ceremonies entertainment was provided by a committee composed of George Penniman (chairman), Louis Rittenhouse and Warren Penniman.

Martinez—Will R. Sharkey of Mount Diablo No. 101 has been re-elected president of the Contra Costa County Development Association.

Sonoma—Sonoma No. 111 celebrated July 19 its fiftieth institution anniversary. But two of the charter members remain—Granville S. Harris and Recording Secretary L. H. Green. Officers were installed, Dale Farrell becoming president.

All California will celebrate Admission Day, September 9, at Santa Monica, Los Angeles County. Plan now to participate in the state-wide festivities.

San Francisco—Grand Secretary John T. Regan of South San Francisco No. 157 and Mrs. Regan of Genevieve No. 132 N.D.G.W. left July 15 for a vacation trip up the Redwood highway into Oregon. Returning, they stopped at Weaverville to visit with their son, Edwin J. Regan (South San Francisco No. 157), district attorney of Trinity County.

Centerville—Washington No. 169 had its annual barbecue at Linda Vista Park, Mission San Jose, July 1. Tom Silva Jr. was chairman of arrangements. In a baseball game, the married men defeated the bachelors with a score of 12 to 4. E. J. Pimentel captained the former, and Al Silveira the latter.

Sacramento—Albert W. Katzenstein of Sutter Fort No. 241 has been appointed by Grand President Eldred L. Meyer supervising deputy grand president to succeed John J. Monteverde (Sunset No. 26), resigned.

CONSERVATION NATURAL RESOURCES IMPORTANT TO EVERY CALIFORNIAN.

The tremendous growth of timber on the western slopes of the Sierra is one of our most wonderful resources. Sugar pine is the most valuable of the trees in this region. So valuable is it that the lumbermen have succeeded in destroying much of the magnificent stands which at one time lined the roads which cross the Sierra in different places.

Along one of the roads which crosses the Sierra, and which will no doubt in time be made another state highway of the secondary system, are to be found some of these magnificent sugar pines. I refer to the road which leaves the main highway at Auburn, Placer County, thence proceeds eastward to Georgetown, El Dorado County, Wentworth Springs, Rubicon Springs, and ends at Lake Tahoe. However, one of the largest lumber companies in the West, with mills at Pino Grande, owns practically all the trees along this road. At present it is cutting at Uncle Tom's Cabin. Two miles northeast of Uncle Tom's Cabin is a wonderful stand of sugar pine.

If the State of California could purchase, from this lumber company, some forty acres on both sides of the road at the above place, this generation and succeeding generations, as they pass along this scenic highway, would have the advantage of seeing our most beautiful tree. Unless the State does interfere, it will soon be impossible for any tourists to see these trees anywhere.

One can travel on the Pacific highway across the two states of Oregon and Washington and only in one park see the virgin forests as they existed prior to the advent of the lumbermen. Let it not be said that this same condition prevails on every road which crosses the Sierra Nevada.

(This item came to The Grizzly Bear from Walter C. Schlein of Fresno Parlor No. 25 N.S.G.W. with this notation: "I once lived in El Dorado County, where the grove that I describe stands. The article is self-explanatory. Perhaps something can be done to preserve this grove."—Editor.)

"HOME—A place that's dry when it rains, where we keep warm when it's cold; where we may work while we're young, and may rest when we're old."—Mrs. L. Stavosky.

"If you build castles in the air, your work need not be lost; that is where they should be. Now put the foundation under them."—Thoreau.

All California will celebrate Admission Day, September 9, at Santa Monica, Los Angeles County. Plan now to participate in the state-wide festivities.

SANTA BARBARA'S OLD SPANISH DAYS FIESTA

James French Dorrance

FOR FOURTEEN YEARS, WHEN THE moon grows full in August, citizens of Santa Barbara have become hosts to all California for the days set aside for their Old Spanish Days Fiesta, which this year will be held August 19, 20 and 21. From the first, genuine pains have been taken to keep this celebration non-commercial, and success has attended this effort to such a marked degree that the Fiesta has become one of California's outstanding celebration perennials.

No small part of the credit for the repeated success of this Fiesta is freely given by the citizenry to Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 Native Sons of the Golden West and Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 Native Daughters of the Golden West. From the Fiesta's inception these Orders have taken over full responsibility for the pre-fiesta tea at which, in historic El Paseo, the officers of Old Spanish Days and the descendants of pioneer Spanish families are especially honored. On this occasion the historical value of the Fiesta is accented. Of this tea, someone has said that it is at once the only serious note of the Fiesta, yet one of the most pleasurable functions as well.

The pre-fiesta tea this year will be bigger and more entertaining than ever before, even as the Fiesta itself will be on a grander scale. The Fiesteros group of Reina del Mar Parlor, under Theressa Janssens, is already at work on the Spanish costume dances they will present. Mrs. Fred Acres, acting for Mrs. John D. Ross, chairman of history who is abroad, and Mrs. Martin J. Coen, head of the past presidents group, are actively at work on a program, assisted by a committee of Santa Barbara Native Sons that includes Paul Sweetser, that Parlor's history authority.

Reina del Mar's participation in the forthcoming Old Spanish Days Fiesta will in part be financed by a bridge tea for which the Parlor took over Samarkand hotel and its lovely Persian garden. Mrs. Fred Acres, supervising district deputy, assisted the board of officers. The proceeds will be used to provide and decorate a new float on which "Saint Barbara" will ride in the Fiesta parade. For some years the honor of selecting from its membership the young woman who personifies the saint for whom the city is named has fallen to the Parlor.

The honor of winning first prize for decorated cars in the recent Independence Day parade was greatly appreciated by Native Daughters, in that a majority of the members participated in making and decorating the California poppy float which proved a popular winner. The poppies were made at the home of Mrs. Grant Leslie, and the committee in charge included Mms. Mabel Erwin, Paul Miller, Justine Meloling and Forest Brockelaby.

OLD SPANISH DAYS SHERIFF'S POSSE SUPPER

As a feature of Santa Barbara's Old Spanish Days Fiesta, Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W. established five years ago a sheriff's posse supper in honor of Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz of Los Angeles County, a member of Santa Monica Bay Parlor N.S.G.W., and his famous mounted posse, annually a feature of the historical parade of the Fiesta. Year after year the attendance at this affair increased, and for the past two years it was necessary, because of lack of accommodations, to turn away many who desired to attend. This year the Native Sons have made plans to accommodate the largest crowd ever, 450, at the supper, which will be held August 19 following the big historical parade of that afternoon.

chairman and including Ray Lathim, Captain W. H. Rutherford, Harry C. Sweetser, A. J. Janssens, H. T. Campbell, John Ross and Leslie Wm. Hayes, has leased the Montecito Country Club for the exclusive use of the Native Sons and Native Daughters and their guests.

This outstanding feature of the Old Spanish Days Fiesta, which attracts to Santa Barbara notables from all parts of the state, will begin with a reception and entertainment at the country club at 6 p.m. of August 19. At 7 p.m. a Spanish supper will be served, and dancing will be in order after 9 p.m. An evening of unadulterated pleasure is assured, for the spirit of the Old Spanish Days will prevail. The affair is strictly informal, but many will appear in Fiesta costumes.

While the sheriff's posse supper will be held August 19, the committee already has received several reservations from Santa Monica, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Bakersfield, San Jose, San Diego and Santa Barbara, among the first to arrive being those of Grand President Eldred L. Meyer, Grand Marshal Walter C. Richards and Past Grand President Judge Fletcher A. Cutler of the Native Sons.

In order to avoid disappointment, reservations should be made at once. The price of admission is two dollars per person. Communicate with A. C. Dinsmore, supper chairman, 909 East Carpinteria street, Santa Barbara.

SANTA BARBARA NATIVES CO-OPERATE.

President Leland Holiday of the Native Sons and Mrs. Wesley McCormick, president of the Native Daughters, are co-operating with the general committee to assure large participation from Santa Barbara in the Admission Day, September 9, celebration at Santa Monica. The Channel City Parlors appreciate the fact that this is the first time in a number of years that the Grand Parlors' observance of Admission Day has been held in the southland.

PLANNING AHEAD.

There is general rejoicing in Santa Barbara that the Channel City was selected as the next place of meeting for the Native Daughters Grand Parlor. Dr. Anna E. McCaughey, life member of Reina del Mar Parlor, has been placed in charge of convention arrangements. To her came the happy thought of enlisting the active co-operation of all Parlors from San Diego north to Santa Barbara in planning for Grand Parlor entertainment. Co-operation already has been promised by Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer, Grand Marshal Hazel Hansen and Grand Trustee Mary Noerenberg. Soon a meeting will be called in the hostess city to detail Grand Parlor preliminary arrangements.

ADMISSION DAY RALLY.

The officers of Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W., with Frank Ziegler as president, were installed July 24 by District Deputy Ray LeMoine. The Parlor is making great preparations for the Santa Monica Admission Day celebration; E. A. Gibbs heads the committee in charge of arrangements.

August 13, Ramona will initiate an Admission Day class of candidates, the ceremonies to be followed by a "dutch" lunch. August 20 the Admission Day committee will have charge of the meeting and provide entertainment. A big Admission Day rally is billed for September 3.

Through storms and mists of years,
These strong hills stood in pride,
But there was an awakening—
Gold must be verified.

The hills remain with gaps
And gorges in between,
But youth has gone like mountain mist
And just a trail is seen.

(COMPILED EXPRESSLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

WASHINGTON BARTLETT, SIXteenth Governor of California under American rule, died at Oakland, Alameda County, September 12, 1887. Lieutenant-Governor Robert W. Waterman was sworn in as his successor by Justice T. B. McFarland of the California Supreme Court in the parlors of the Occidental Hotel, San Francisco, September 13.

Born in Savannah, Georgia, February 29, 1824, Governor Bartlett came around Cape Horn in a sailing vessel, arriving in San Francisco November 17, 1849. He immediately opened there a job printing office, machinery for which he had shipped in advance, and in January 1850 issued the Daily Journal of Commerce, which made its appearance simultaneously with the Daily Alta Californian, the first daily newspaper published in California; in 1850 also, he published the first book printed in California.

He continued in the printing and newspaper business until 1857; was elected county clerk of San Francisco in 1859; was appointed state harbor commissioner by Governor Henry Haight in 1870; was elected state senator in 1873; was elected mayor of San Francisco in 1882; was elected Governor of California in 1886, and was inaugurated January 8, 1887. GREYHOUND

OPPOSITION TO THE 1856 VIGILANCE COMMITTEE

Peter T. Conmy

WRITTEN EXCLUSIVELY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.

OUR VENERATION FOR CALIFORnia's glorious past and the importance which most histories of California place upon the contribution of the vigilance movement to the upbuilding of the State have obscured a fact, now but little known, that there was definite and determined opposition to San Francisco's famous Vigilance Committee of 1856. This is made all the more interesting when it is recalled that leadership of the movement against the Committee came from state officials headed by no less a dignitary than Governor James Neeley Johnson himself. A somewhat recent counterpart may be seen in the aftermath of the lynching in 1933 of two confessed kidnapers by an infuriated mob in San Jose. Then, as in 1856, public sentiment was divided. Many thought that the lynching was justified, while others believed that established legal procedure should have been allowed to have taken its course.

From 1853 to 1856 San Francisco had been suffering from lawlessness, crime, graft and corruption. James King of William, editor of the Evening Bulletin, was crusading for reform. Things came to a head when he was shot and killed by James Casey on May 14, 1856. To avenge King's death, to compel obedience to law, to punish wrongdoers and to control affairs until the city officials and courts should be able to do so properly, the Vigilance Committee was immediately formed.

It must be recalled that in 1856 San Francisco had an established city and county government, with a mayor, sheriff, district attorney, police force and full complement of courts. In the minds of the Vigilantes these officials, especially the police and the courts, were not functioning properly; at least, criminals either were not apprehended or, if apprehended, were for the most part not convicted.

Immediately upon the formation of the Committee protests were made to the Governor by Mayor Van Ness and others, who argued that the Vigilantes were an unconstitutional body, taking the law into their own hands. The Governor journeyed from Sacramento to San Francisco and interviewed both the city officials and William T. Coleman, executive of the Committee. At first the Governor was constrained to take no action, but finally took a definite stand against the Committee. His opposition, at first mild, reached the hight of determination when Casey and Cora, found guilty of murder by the Committee, were hanged. It was the Governor's contention that only the State, acting through its courts, could invoke the supreme penalty. Governor Johnson was in favor of the Committee as long as he thought it was a purely vigilance movement, that is, a public-spirited group molding public sentiment and forcing public officials to act. He felt that it was dangerous, however, to allow groups of citizens to organize and take the law into their own hands.

William T. Sherman, at that time major-general of militia, was ordered by Governor Johnson to put the movement down, but finding himself unable to do so resigned. He was succeeded by Volney E. Howard, who also was unable to accomplish the desired end. The commandant of the United States Army in California, Major-General Wool, as well as Captain Farragut in command of naval forces, were requisitioned for help, but refused to act unless so ordered by the President of the United States. The Governor thereupon sent a representative to Washington, with a written request to President Pierce for intervention. Upon advice of Attorney-General Cushing, the President refused the army and the navy upon the theory that the Governor's letter did not show an internal situation aggravated enough to warrant such action.

Things reached a serious state when the Vigilance Committee refused to honor a writ of habeas corpus issued to them by the Supreme Court. Shortly after this S. A. Hopkins, an officer of the Committee, attempted to arrest a man in the presence of Justice Terry of that court. Terry refused to allow the man to be arrested in his presence, and in the fight which ensued stabbed Hopkins, wounding him seriously though not fatally. As a result, the full strength of the Committee was called out and Terry himself incarcerated. His defense was (1) that Hopkins was not an officer and had no warrant of arrest, (2) that as a private citizen Hopkins could arrest only for a felony committed in his presence, which was not the case, and (3) that he, as a justice of the Supreme Court, had a right to institute habeas corpus proceedings to determine if the man could lawfully be detained, and having so determined that Hopkins was without authority was justified in resisting him.

The apprehension of Terry by the Committee was embarrassing to both sides. It was a delicate matter for the Committee to hold a supreme court justice. It was also humiliating for the supreme court justice to be held, and for the Governor and his Law and Order Party to be unable to procure his release. Eventually Governor Johnson called out the militia and proclaimed San Francisco under martial law, but the militiamen deserted, and hence the Committee held the upper hand.

Some historians have given the impression that the opponents of the Committee were lawless men. This is not entirely true, however. As a matter of fact, the criminal element was against the Committee, but outstanding eminent citizens such as Judge Crockett, Governor Johnson, Frederick W. Macondray, James Donohue, John J. Williams, Baily Peyton and Edward D. Baker were but a few of those who opposed the Committee. In general also, the federal judges in California were opposed to the Committee.

The success of the Committee, in the face of such influential and formidable opposition, was due to the fact that a very large majority of the people were in back of the vigilance movement, and usually the will of the people, when unmistakably expressed, is not thwarted.

BEAUTIFUL SANTA MONICA

SETTING FOR CALIFORNIA'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

(PUBLICITY DEPARTMENT, CITY OF SANTA MONICA.)

WHEN THE LEGIONS OF NATIVE Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West converge on Santa Monica for the Admission Day celebration this year, it will represent the second time in history that the great event has gone south of the Tehachapi. The southland, realizing the significance of the fact, is making preparations to conduct the most lavish celebration in history. Not only Santa Monica, but all the cities in Los Angeles County, have to a large extent sidetracked other convention activities for the period of the Admission Day celebration. Thus, Native Sons and Native Daughters are assured of unhampered facilities and opportunity for work and play.

Santa Monica is one of California's loveliest cities, and in her history is much of the romance of the Old California and the days of the dons. Situated high above the Pacific atop the world-famous palisades, Santa Monica's long and illustrious history began in the year 1542, when Juan Cabrillo sailed into Santa Monica Bay. There are but few highlights of the area from that date until 1769, at which time the title to Santa Monica and all land in California became vested in the king of Spain.

Legend ascribes to the naming of Santa Monica a romantic and interesting story. The tale is told of two Spanish soldiers, northward bound toward the Bay of Monterey, years after the Spanish occupation. The journey of the wayfarers had been a long and tiring one and, on the verge of exhaustion, the two are said to have stopped for rest at the site of the present city. To their joy, the soldiers found cooling springs and welcome shade, and after drinking their fill of the cool waters, they are said to have compared the sparkling drops to the tears of Saint Monica, shed for her wayward son, Augustine. The legend may or may not have basis in fact, but on subsequent merit and progress the City of Santa Monica has achieved a fame sufficient to warrant more than passing interest by succeeding generations of economists and historians.

Santa Monica Yacht Harbor, as viewed from world-famous Palisades Park, which stretches for more than a mile along the top of the precipitous bluff from which it takes its name. To the left, La Monica Ballroom, where the Admission Day Grand Ball will be held.

In 1769 the title to Santa Monica and all land in California became vested in the king of Spain. This was accomplished by Spanish occupation, announced by Gaspar de Portola at San Diego, and was followed by the establishment in California of presidios, missions and pueblos.

In August of the same year, White men, scouts of Portola, stood on or near the site of Santa Monica. They looked down upon the rolling surf. They saw the mountains of Malibu lifting up into the haze. And then they returned to their camp at an Indian village located where two springs rose from a hollow near the present National Military Home in West Los Angeles. They reported to the others, who had stayed behind, that they had reached a high cliff, "terminating in the sea where the mountains end," and that passage north along the shore was cut off. So the Portola party, bound for Monterey, decided to avoid the beach. It followed Sepulveda Canyon to the summit of the Santa Monica range and down into the San Fernando Valley.

Santa Monica, by the year 1822, was still an unoccupied and unclaimed mesa covered with fields of wild grass. There were visitors, however, for the Malibu Rancho, lying northwesterly of Topango Canyon, had in 1805 been granted to Jose Bartolome Tapia. Smugglers, too, found the isolated coast convenient.

In 1828, Don Francisco Sepulveda, soldier and citizen of Los Angeles, was given possession of and provisional title to "the place called San Vicente." San Vicente included all of the original town of Santa Monica. It faced the ocean, extending from the canyon to what is now Pico boulevard. In the rear, it reached almost to the Westwood section, and took in the mountains that overlooked the San Fernando Valley.

The grant was given him, Sepulveda explained later, not only because he was the owner of more than one hundred and fifty head of horned cattle, but because of his having "been an old soldier of the country and having worked at the most painful period, when wandering amidst nomadic tribes, suffering untold privations and in constant danger of life." Sepulveda was officially put in possession by Jose Antonio Carrillo, then alcalde of Los Angeles and the representative of the state government.

The year before, in 1827, Xavier Alvarado and Antonio Machado had been given a provisional grant of "the place called Santa Monica." "Santa Monica" then referred to the canyon and the land that lay between it and Topango Canyon, extending to the hills in the rear.

In 1831, Machado gave up his interest to Alvarado, and when Alvarado died, his sons remained in possession until 1838, when they abandoned "Santa Monica in favor of Ysidro Reyes and Francisco Marquez." Even today, representatives of the Reyes and Marquez families live in Santa Monica, and have retained part of the rancho they once owned.

The owners of the two ranchos brought cattle, horses and sheep to their new land. Sepulveda, who lived in town, built an adobe house near the springs where the Portola party had stopped. He set out orchards and vineyards. His sons, too, built houses.

Reyes established himself on the bluff of the Huntington Palisades. Later he moved across the canyon to where his sheep would have better protection from the wolves. He put up what is said to have been the first house on the site of the City of Santa Monica. It stood near the spot where Seventh street now dips into the canyon, with a full view of the sea. Marquez built farther down in the canyon, and some of his descendants still live within a stone's throw of the home place.

The grant to Francisco Sepulveda was confirmed by Governor Alvarado in December 1839. Sepulveda promptly lost his title papers, so later on, in 1846, Pio Pico had to come to his rescue with another grant.

In the same year of 1839 began the lengthy dispute between the Sepulvedas on the one side, and the Reyes and the Marquez families on the other. Both claimed "Santa Monica," or "Boca de Santa Monica" as it came to be called, the magnificent pasture land that stretched between the Santa Monica and Topango Canyons.

Sepulveda insisted that this strip was properly an annex of his larger grant of San Vicente. "Without it," he said, "I have no place for my horses and am reduced to a piece of land where I eke out a miserable existence."

The leading citizens of Los Angeles took sides. Carrillo, Dominguez and Talamantes lined up with Sepulveda. Machado and Lugo went with Marquez and Reyes. Petitions were addressed to governors, courts were appealed to, and trips were made to Monterey.

Ultimately Sepulveda lost the disputed land, but he gained the name. He had been calling his ranch San Vicente and Santa Monica so long that the name stuck. The Americans dropped

"San Vicente." To help Reyes and Marquez, Antonio Machado, then alcalde, went to Santa Monica, accompanied by chain bearers. He began his survey at the mouth of Topango Canyon. He had with him a cord one hundred varas long,—a vara was thirty-three inches in length—to the end of which were attached two small billets of wood. He and his aides started down the beach, measuring seventy-five hundred varas to a point in the first ravine just southeast of Santa Monica Canyon. Here Don Fernando Sepulveda appeared, on behalf of his father, Francisco. Together they proceeded to throw the cord from south to north. They were tired and hot. Finally, when they had reached the bottom of a deep mountain ravine, they decided that the country was too rough. They marked a dead tree with a machete and did the rest of the surveying on paper. The result was the "Diseno de Santa Hermonica." Its date was 1839.

In 1843, Don Juan Warner made a survey for Sepulveda. He happened to have a compass and a two-hundred-vara cord. He did not attempt to avoid the mountains, and as a result his map was fairly respectable and accurate.

Nothing of more than local interest took place until 1848, when California was ceded to the United States by the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo. Two years later California was admitted to the Union with the full rights and obligations of statehood.

These events held no great interest to the rancho owners. They continued to settle their questions of ownership with the vara cords, and periodical appeals to courts and officials. The Board of Land Commissioners was created in 1851 to investigate and pass upon land titles in California, and the warring owners of Santa Monica immediately filed their petitions.

Thirty years were to pass before all questions of title and survey were settled. Finally, in 1881, United States patents were issued. To the widow of Francisco Sepulveda went "Rancho San Vicente y Santa Monica," with thirty thousand acres. To Ysidro Reyes et al went "Boca de Santa Monica," with sixty-six hundred acres.

In 1853, after years of warring over grants, patents and rights, the old warrior, Sepulveda, gave up the battle and passed away. He willed Santa Monica to his widow, in a remarkable document typical of the grand scale on which such things were done:

"In the name of God, beginning and ending of all things, know all persons who may see this will, that I, Francisco Sepulveda, a native of the town of Sinaloa, in the Republic of Mexico, the legitimate son of Francisco Xavier Sepulveda and of Maria Candelaria Arrendondo, residents of the same place (may they rest in peace), finding myself in bad health but not seriously ill. . . . that I have ten children alive and two dead . . . It is my desire that as soon as I die I may be buried in the cemetery of this City of Los Angeles, after having performed the

Roosevelt Highway, entering Santa Monica. Along this highway are the homes of movie stars.

For several years before 1872 Santa Monica Canyon had been used as a summer resort. The Reyes and Marquez families were very tolerant of visitors. Campers from Los Angeles enjoyed the sycamores and surf bathing. Saturday night dances were held in a big tent. Bonfires blazed.

On the mesa itself, site of the unborn town of Santa Monica, a trail crossed the grass-covered prairie to the foot of what is now Colorado avenue. It was used by the ox-teams that hauled brea from the Hancock ranch tar pits to a little wharf that extended into the ocean. Boats took the brea to San Francisco.

Colonel R. S. Baker, who had been in the cattle business in the Tejon country and before that had come to San Francisco from Rhode Island in 1849, made a trip to Santa Monica. He looked over the flat expanse, with its one ranch house, and decided that it would make a good sheep ranch. He went to the Sepulveda heirs and paid them $55,000 for their rancho. Later he bought part of the Reyes-Marquez property adjoining on the northwest and also part of the La Ballona or Machado Rancho adjoining San Vicente on the southeast. He stocked his new land with sheep.

Santa Monica was born in 1875. Senator John P. Jones of Nevada State, a man of wealth, appeared on the scene in 1874 and Colonel Baker sold him a three-fourths interest in his ranch for $162,500. Together they planned a railroad, a wharf and a town.

On July 10, 1875, a map of "Santa Monica, Cal.," was recorded in the office of the County Recorder at Los Angeles. The townsite fronted on the ocean and was bounded on the northwest by Montana avenue, and on the southwest by what is now Colorado avenue.

A few days later the first sale of lots was held. A steamer brought people from San Francisco and stages brought others from Los Angeles for the great occasion. Tom Fitch was the orator of the day and the auctioneer of lots. Jones had agreed to give him one-fifth of his interest in the entire town and ranch for $47,000—"to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of lots and lands."

On that hot July day there was no shade on the Santa Monica townsite and the air was filled with the dust made by buggies, wagons, stages, horses and men. Fitch did his best. He talked about the Pacific Ocean being draped with a western sky of scarlet and gold, about a bay filled with white winged ships, about a frostless, bracing, warm yet unlanguid air, odored with the breath of flowers. The title to the land, he said, would be guaranteed by the owners, and the title to the ocean, the sunset and the air by God. Harris Newmark bid in the first lot at $300. Fitch let him take four others at the same price, all on Ocean avenue.

Within nine months Santa Monica had a thousand people and one hundred and sixty houses. The Los Angeles and Independence Railroad, sponsored by Senator Jones, was built to Los Angeles and was planned to be a part of a great transcontinental system with western terminus at Santa Monica. A wharf was finished. A reservoir was constructed, with water for the town coming from San Vicente Springs. The same year saw a school district organized, a church established, the beginnings of a public library, a bath house, a hotel, and the first number of the first newspaper, the Santa Monica Outlook. Santa Monica was on its way!

In 1887 a great boom swept over southern California, and Santa Monica shared in the excitement. The city went in heavily for new subdivisions, land auctions, better train service and more hotels, including the handsome Arcadia, named after Colonel Baker's wife, to whom he deeded all his interest in Santa Monica.

In 1888 Senator Jones and Mrs. Baker presented a deed of three hundred acres to the "National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers." This was followed by the erection of barracks, hospitals and buildings for a thousand men. It brought new business to the merchants of Santa Monica, and started the town of Sawtelle.

1891 saw the construction of the long wharf at Port Los Angeles, north of Santa Monica. The shipping and trade that had been lost when the earlier railroad and harbor plans collapsed were regained. But the long wharf and "Port Los Angeles" were temporary, and when Santa Monica emerged from its disappointments it found itself destined to be a residence city and an unexcelled beach resort. Today citizens congratulate themselves on the turn of events.

Through the foresight of early planners, the Santa Monica Palisades were perpetuated as parklands in 1892. By agreement between the Town of Santa Monica, Senator Jones and Mrs. Baker, and by order of the court, the ocean front strip of land on top of the bluff was dedicated forever to the public.

By 1905 the population of Santa Monica was 7,200. In October of that year a board of freeholders was elected to draft a charter. The year following, the charter was ratified at a public election and approval was requested of the State.

The original townsite had long since overspread its boundaries and on the southeast had gone far beyond Pico boulevard into La Ballona Rancho.

By legislative act, approved April 10, 1917, the State of California granted to the City of Santa Monica the tide lands and the submerged lands bordering upon and below the mean high tide line. This makes the city's waterfront activities possible, including its breakwater and yacht harbor.

For a few years following 1920, the influx of people to southern California was a flood, with every state in the union contributing to the western migration. Santa Monica again shared in the distribution of prosperity and population. Building activity continued on a high plane, and today Santa Monica has handsome beach clubs along the strand and distinguished homes throughout the city and in the canyons and hills around. The city's superb setting has served to attract writers, painters and sculptors.

Santa Monica has not forgotten its past. Where Wilshire boulevard ends at the Palisades, the city has placed a magnificent sculptured figure of the saint after whom was named the bay, the ranch and the city.

Santa Monica's waters today are as placid, the curve of the bay as lovely, and the mountains as luminous as when Cabrillo and his men cast anchor one October day in 1542. The white beach and the tawny cliffs are as impressive now as when Tom Fitch talked about them in 1875.

Once a pasture land, then a struggling village, Santa Monica looks to an abundant future. Instead of the din and the bustle of commerce, the city has followed its early evidenced destiny as a city of homes. Close to the heart of the great moving picture industry, Santa Monica has acted as a magnet to a host of internationally known characters, who make their homes by the shores of the Pacific. The list reads like a roster of "Who's Who" in the amusement world, and is far too long to set forth in detail here. George Bancroft, Billie Burke, Irvin S. Cobb, Marion Davies, Douglas Fairbanks Sr., Sam Goldwyn, Harold Lloyd, Jesse Lasky, Louis B. Mayer, Merle Oberon, Norma Shearer, Shirley Temple, John Barrymore, Warner Baxter, Wallace Beery, Constance Bennett, George Brent, Joe E. Brown,

James Cagney, Eddie Cantor, Charles Chaplin, Ronald Colman, and a hundred other stars of stage, screen and radio live within a five-mile radius of the center of Santa Monica. Within twenty minutes drive are located great studios of the motion picture industry: Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Paramount, Universal, R.K.O., Fox Twentieth-Century, Warner Brothers and a score of others. Truly, Santa Monica is to the star at home what Hollywood is to the star at work.

Ocean View Avenue, Santa Monica.

The growth of Santa Monica from a sleepy Spanish pueblo to its present-day status as one of the most beautiful and progressive cities in the West, has been a saga of progressive, sane development. At the time of incorporation in 1886, the population was scattered over the length and breadth of five great original Spanish grants. The total was not more than 4,000. By 1910, the population had increased to 7,500, which figure was more than doubled in the next decade, to 15,852 in 1920. With the passage of the next ten years, the city continued her steady growth, and the census of 1930 showed a total population of 36,933.

The present time finds Santa Monica with a population estimated at 55,000. During the summer months an influx of tourists from all parts of the earth's surface adds substantially to the permanent population. By the best checks available, it is estimated that more than 100,000 people live in the corporate limits of the city between the months of May and September. This estimation does not include the countless thousands of visitors who flock to the city-owned beaches on hot summer days. It is safe to say, however, that Santa Monica is annually visited by 5,000,000 people from all parts of the world.

Small boat activity in Santa Monica Harbor is reflected in this scene, looking from Santa Monica Pier to the shore. In the background are the Palisades of the Pacific and several of the city's magnificent beach clubs and hotels.

The people of Santa Monica are sports loving. Located as the city is on a beautiful bay and harbor, it is natural that the sea should rank first in the hearts of the people. A few years ago yachting gained such a popular hold on the public imagination that the city constructed a 2,000-foot rock-mound type breakwater to af-told boat owners shelter from prevailing west city winds. The breakwater now shelters hundreds of pleasure crafts, ranging in size from small sailing skiffs owned by clerks and school boys to palatial yachts owned by millionaires.

Not only on the sea do the people of Santa Monica play. A municipal stadium, operated by the city, is the locale for scores of sporting events staged at every season of the year. Baseball brings to Santa Monica the major league teams during the spring training season. Rodeos, football, auto racing and softball also serve to attract thousands to the stadium every year.

Within ten minutes drive are the great polo fields of the West, Will Rogers and Riviera. Every Sunday finds hundreds of enthusiasts trekking to the fields to see the greatest stars of the mallet game in action.

Golf also has a definite place in the sporting curriculum of the city. At Clover Field the city maintains and operates an 18-hole all-grass course, planted in Kentucky blue grass and cocoos bent. Here, throughout the year, digging divots with Mr. Average Man, can be seen famous men and women from the fields of art, science and entertainment.

Also located at Clover Field is one of the finest municipal airports in the world. Three city hangars house the aircraft owned by air-minded residents of the district. Douglas Aircraft Corporation is also located at the field, and from this famous plant come the great metal transport ships of the air, which are so familiar to all aviation enthusiasts. Douglas employs an average of 3,500 men and women, and uses the facilities of the municipal airport in the testing of new equipment.

For those who prefer their sport on the end of a bending fishing pole, Santa Monica Bay has much to offer. In addition to boats which daily leave the Santa Monica Municipal Pier for the fishing banks of Point Dume, several barges dot the waters of the bay and offer excellent pastime for the angler. Hundreds choose to do their fishing from the long extension of the Santa Monica Municipal Pier, where the facilities are available. Dotting the waters of the south coast are San Clemente, Santa Catalina, Santa Cruz and Santa Barbara Islands, and it is in the waters surrounding these that the giant marlin are to be found. Every year finds hundreds attempting to match the wile of these deep-sea fighters. Santa Monica harbor is a favorite outfitting port for deep-sea fishing parties.

Tennis is another all-year sport in Santa Monica. The city is justly proud of its title, "the developer of tennis champions." Names to conjure with in the tennis world gained their start on the fast municipal courts of the city. The Bundys, the Doegs, Midge Gladman, Gracyn Wheeler and other Santa Monicans have scaled the heights of tennis fame from this city beside the Pacific. The present crop of young stars gives every indication of matching the illustrious records set up by the older generation.

Truly, Santa Monica is a playground of the West! Here, during twelve months of every year, can be enjoyed the pastimes rendered impossible during certain months in other parts of the land. Here nature has conspired with man to create the ideal place to work and play. Magnificent schools, from primary grades to college or university, are operated at utmost efficiency and with a minimum of expense. Artists seek out Santa Monica for inspiration and beauty. Its clubs maintain a high cultural standard. Its public beaches, owned by the city and state, insure even the poorest man a chance to play. Its miles of parklands are dedicated to the public use forever.

STRIVE AT EVERY OPPORTUNITY TO STIMULATE PATRIOTISM.

In a communication directed to all Subordinate Parlors N.S.G.W. August 14, the Grand Parlor Admission Day Observance Committee—William J. Bright (chairman), Albert Katzenstein, Nicholas J. Murphy and Leonard L. Steele—said, in part:

"The Order of the Native Sons of the Golden West is founded upon the principles of Friendship, Loyalty and Charity. The future of the Order depends upon the perpetuation of these ideals. All three are of equal importance, but only loyalty lends itself to general public manifestation.

"Certainly in this day of internal restlessness and increase of foreign 'isms' so detrimental to our form of government we Natives of California whose heritage is so great should not only maintain the fire of loyalty and patriotism within our own breasts, but strive at every opportunity to stimulate the patriotism of those who live and toil about us.

"The number of days set apart during the year for patriotic observance are few and far between, and the anniversary of the admission of our State into the Union is the only holiday that is particularly Californian, and the least observed by our inhabitants. . . .

"Admission Day this year must not pass without statewide observance. We realize that all will not be able to attend the official state celebration at Santa Monica. Upon those who remain at home . . . falls the duty and responsibility of sponsoring and leading patriotic observances in their respective Parlors and communities."

ADMISSION DAY

Mary B. Noerenberg

(Publicity Chairman 1937 Admission Day Committee.)

"ALL CALIFORNIA WILL CELEBRATE Admission Day, September 9, 1937, in Santa Monica." This is a challenge for Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West to celebrate the eighty-seventh birthday of the Golden State.

Let us light the candle of the past' History does not record a more glorious story, a story that is as strange and poetic as the land itself. Centuries before gold was discovered or agricultural riches developed, old Spanish romances told of a mythical California, an island where an abundance of gold and precious stones were to be found, an island inhabited by Amazons and griffons. These thrilling fictions excited the Spaniards and sent them searching for this land of gold.

In 1542, Juan Rodriguez Cabrillo sailed a ship under the flag of Spain into the Bay of San Diego. The next White man to land on California shores was Sir Francis Drake, in 1579. There were other venturesome explorers whose ships brushed these fair shores of wonder, but not until two centuries later was a permanent settlement made by Franciscan monks.

Here they built the first monuments, the first of which was the mission in San Diego erected by Father Junipero Serra—monuments that formed a chain for 700 miles, like a beautiful rosary, along El Camino Real, "The King's Highway." Each mission emulated the prayers of the fathers, each brick was molded by hand from the soil,—monuments of simple beauty, of high ideal and noble deeds, of bravery and strength, loyalty and industry, patriotism and love.

Even after Mexico threw off the yoke of Spanish rule in 1821, for twenty-five years there was little change in the idyllic charm of life. California was a land of lovely women and proud cavaliers, of pirates and adventurers, peace and contentment. But as the grip of Mexico was weakening, British ships hove into sight and even France looked upon this land with greedy eyes. It was then that its American inhabitants took things into their own hands, and after a few sharp fights with the Mexicans, raised their own flag. After twenty-six days interlude of the "Bear Flag Republic" in 1846, the Flag of the United States of America was raised and the names of Captain Fremont, Kit Carson and Commodore Sloat were inscribed upon the sands of history.

In 1848, the discovery of gold brought an inrush of goldseekers, feverish of age and brawling in manner. So it was an eager, energetic State that bustled into the Union in 1850, quite different from the dreamy California under Spanish rule. But it still remains the land of miracles, with railroads brought across the mountains, with desert wastes reclaimed by irrigation, with abundant products of the soil, with rich minerals and gushing oil, with capacious harbors and excellent roads, and magnificent bridges which span its waters. The flame of the candle of the past is undimmed. California's glory is undiminished!

In the beams of the candle of the present we behold the stage of today. We see two great organizations, the Native Sons of the Golden West and the Native Daughters of the Golden West, working hand in hand. We see the firmness of the foundations of these Orders, the strength of an ever-increasing membership, the present-day worth of their objects and purposes.

ADMISSION DAY GREETINGS

TO THE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS OF All Subordinate Parlors N.S.G.W.—As Grand President of the Native Sons of the Golden West it is my pleasant duty to remind you that, by resolution of the Santa Cruz Grand Parlor, Santa Monica, my home city, was officially selected for the 1937 Admission Day Celebration. Thus honored, for the first time, the entire City of Santa Monica is eagerly anticipating this forthcoming event. Los Angeles County Parlors, Native Sons and Native Daughters, have a representative committee working untiringly to make this year's celebration one of the most outstanding in the history of the Order. The official dates are September 8, 9 and 10.

The State of California is officially participating in the celebration this year by having subscribed funds, along with the County of Los Angeles, thereby making this year's celebration a state function. The Chief Executive of our State, Governor Frank F. Merriam, will attend and take an active part in our State's birthday. Members of our Order have been appointed by the State Legislature to officially represent the State of California at Santa Monica.

Our Order played an important part in having Admission Day made a legal holiday, and only by our active participation in each year's celebration will it continue to remain on our statutes.

It is not too much to expect from every loyal member of our Order that he should appoint himself a committee of one to assist the officers and members of his Parlor in perpetuating the day that every Californian must hold close to his heart; either in Santa Monica or in his own home community.

There are many individuals and firms that are comparatively newcomers to our State and it is our duty to suggest to these and others that commercialism should not prevent the proper observance of Admission Day. Continue to request the merchants to close their places of business and to display the State Flag of California in conjunction with the Stars and Stripes.

Patriotism will last as long as we keep alive the history and traditions we are proud of. The Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West have a proud heritage, and every loyal Californian, whether native or adopted, should observe Admission Day, the day set apart by California to glory in her past achievements and to pay homage to her Pioneer men and women.

With every good wish for each and every one of you, sincerely and fraternally,

Eldred L. Meyer.

Grand President N.S.G.W.

PARLORS URGED TO SPONSOR PUBLIC SPEAKING CONTESTS.

In a communication to the Subordinate Parlors dated August 7, the Grand Parlor Public Speaking Committee—Reynold J. Bianchi, chairman, Frank M. Buckley, Walter Laranjo, Harold Barden and Irving D. Gibson—said, in part: "The 1937 Grand Parlor unanimously voted a proposal which will bring new life into the Native Sons and at the same time prove a boon to the students of high schools. The proposal is this:

"To have a high school public speaking contest in each community where a Parlor is located. Competitions between the winners of the various high schools will be announced later. . . . Subjects on early California history will be forwarded in the immediate future. The important thing at present is to appoint your public speaking committee and to send their names to Chairman Reynold J. Bianchi, room 206, City Hall, San Francisco. We know your Parlor will do its part, and will profit thereby."

Controller's Office Furnishes Candidates.

Sacramento—In response to the call of Grand President Eldred L. Meyer, Sacramento No. 3 initiated August 19 an Admission Day class. The night was set aside as "controller's night," and the class included State Controller Harry B. Riley, his son, Burke Riley, James W. Hickey, Charles C. Stone, Daniel Riordan and Donald St. John, all identified with the controller's office.

Sacramento Parlor points with pride to the fact that it not only complied with the wishes of the Grand President in initiating this Admission Day class, but to his suggestion that the candidates should be of outstanding character. Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth was present on his official visit to the Parlor and delivered an address.

Immediately following the initiation, the entertainment committee, headed by Ed. Griffing, presented a program, which was reinforced by a "dutch" spread. "Before the end of the year," says President Leslie Lindsay, "at least thirty additional new names will be added to old No. 3's membership roll."

Sacramento Parlor is sponsoring an excursion to Santa Monica for the Admission Day celebration. A very low railroad rate has been secured, and a good response is expected. The excursionists will arrive in Santa Monica the morning of September 8.

Annual Barbecue.

San Jose—Officers of Observatory No. 177, with Kenneth R. Malovos as president, were installed August 2 by District Deputy Columbus Baldo. Among the many visitors were Grand Treasurer John A. Corotto, Grand Trustee Wayne Millington and Supervising Deputy Eugene F. Cerqui.

August 15 the Parlor had its forty-sixth annual stag barbecue at the mountain home of Bert Barrett. Grant O'Neil was chairman of arrangements. A membership campaign is planned, also a charter members and oldtimers night.

Past President L. L. Gairaud, secretary of the San Jose Realty Board, enjoyed a trip last month to Lake Arrowhead. He was accompanied by his wife.

Phenomenal Growth Predicted.

Lodi—Lodi No. 18 initiated a class of thirteen candidates August 18, the ritual being capably exemplified by the officers of Stockton No. 7. Fifteen additional candidates will be welcomed at a later date. Over a hundred visiting members of the Order were present from Stockton, Tracy, Modesto, San Francisco, Elk Grove and Sacramento.

Grand Trustee Raymond Williamson paid his official visit at this time; he was very enthusiastic about the Admission Day class initiation and predicted phenomenal growth for Lodi. Grand Trustee Walter Rothenbush, largely responsible for the class, presented an encouraging picture of the Parlor's future. Inspiring addresses were delivered by Past Grand Hilliard E. Welch and District Deputy August Salfield.

Petaluma—In memory of her son, Leo Canevascini, who lost his life overseas during the World War, his mother, Mrs. Margaret Canevascini, lately deceased, willed to Petaluma No. 27 a valuable business lot. Under the terms of the will the Parlor is required to commence erection of a building upon the lot within five years. The Parlor has accepted the gift.

THE SPIRIT OF THE PIONEERS

Jndge Frank G. Tyrrell

THE ANNIVERSARY OF ADMISSION Day brings a flood of memories to every native of the state, all of which evoke a feeling of profound gratitude. "We have a goodly heritage," ours by the mere accident of birth. By no means least among the factors of which we take account, in fact, first and foremost, come our Pioneer Fathers and Mothers. They were the empire builders; to their spirit of adventure we owe the State. Just what was the spirit of those Pioneers? Do we still embody that spirit?

They were, even while still in their Eastern or Southern homes, possessed of a spirit of eager restlessness. They had the ordinary comforts of life, they were in the midst of friends, their immediate prospects were good, but they were not satisfied. Their horizons were too narrow. Whether they were familiar with the proverb or not, they realized that "the good is always the enemy of the best." It would be a good thing to do, simply "to stay put;" to raise their families, educate their children, live frugally and, dying, bequeath their modest savings to their descendants. But was that the best thing? Their eager hearts said no. They would march beyond their narrow horizons; they would explore new lands; they would seek fairer and more alluring opportunities.

All this betokens a quality of mind that ought to find its place in every one of us. It is disloyalty to our fathers and mothers to rest in a state of mental inertia. Especially in times like the present, when customs and institutions are challenged on every hand; when men are confused and bewildered by a babel of clangorous voices shouting new shibboleths, we should be awake and alert, and given over not to reverie, but to creative thinking.

Fundamentally, theirs was a spirit of high adventure. Like the patriarch of old they went forth "not knowing whither they went." There were no beaten highways, no guide posts, but through trackless forests, across burning deserts, over snowclad mountains they fearlessly pushed their way. Sometimes they were cruelly misled by the dancing mirage; they were ambushed by savage foes; they were pelted by storms of rain and sleet; the four winds smote upon their covered wagons; but their way was always forward.

If insurmountable obstacles intervened, they made wide detours. They did not ask to see the end from the beginning; they did not seek a government subsidy; they did not even wait till they had accumulated a safe competency; they went forth resolved with their bare hands to wrest fortune from elusive and mysterious circumstance. Nothing whatever was assured to them in advance; it was all a glorious hazard, a supreme venture.

Above all, theirs was a spirit of invincible courage; they were the personifications of boldness. As Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierra, says of them,—"The cowards never started, and the weak died on the way." In some instances, no doubt, it was daring to the point of recklessness. But it was an intelligent courage. They knew the perils of the way, the hardships of the journey, the uncertainty of the issue. And yet they dared to form their little companies, break tender ties, and facing the glowing west, fare forth to whatever fortune or misfortune might await.

It took courage of a high order to become one of such a company. Nor were they through with this spirit when they had finally broken away from home. More and more as their caravans approached the sunset, they must needs summon up their courage. That swollen river, can they ford it? That gloomy forest, do Indians lie in ambush there? And how often, wakened from their slumbers, they must have wondered if what they heard was some prowling bear or mountain lion!

Restless, venturous, courageous,—these are some of the qualities they showed. And these had to be supplemented with the spirit of endurance and perseverance. It is easy to start an enterprise; but to keep on when the first enthusiasm has evaporated, when the first difficulty is encountered, when the first foe rises up and contends with you, that requires and tests the hardy spirit of perseverance. And there is not one of these qualities which is not demanded of us who call ourselves their descendants. Their task it was to conquer the geographic frontiers; ours, to find a new economic frontier.

And the foes they fought live again in different form. We must war against poverty, against unemployment, against drunkenness, against crime, against bribery and corruption, if we would keep the fields they won and the State they founded fair and goodly, the habitation and heritage of a noble race.

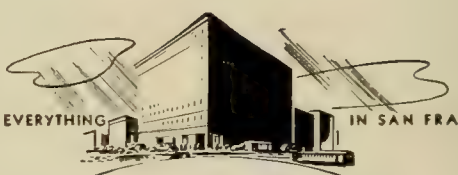
Praying for the effective leadership and cohesive guidance of our Parlors, we perceive the greatness of the task set before us in satisfying fraternal and social needs; in unveiling and holding inviolate truth and sincerity; in guarding the commonwealth from the selfishness of those who would usurp, as well as from the attacks of those who would destroy; in developing good citizenship and patriotic loyalty; in preserving the institutions of liberty; in molding correct public opinion; in being a creative factor in the development of spiritual and educational, as well as material, wealth. All these press forward on the stage of present action.



Ever faithful to the inheritance of the hopes and sacrifices of those who labored in the past, the flame of the candle of the present continues to burn brightly and fiercely. It now invites and receives the devoted and earnest efforts of its sons and daughters. The shining hopes of the Past and the burning enthusiasm of the Present pierce through unknown days ahead, perceiving difficult battles, expecting glorious victories, knowing that the great light will always flame and shall not go out forever.

In the beams of this light we see marching with us two mighty Orders and their many Parlors, militant, tolerant, earnest, unified, loyal, effective and wise. As we push our feet upward out of today's uncertainty, fear and distress, as we raise our eyes upward to the contemplation of beauty, to the approach toward perfection and to the abode of God, we behold a magic vision. Overhead spreads the great blue dome of Heaven; at noon, pierced by the white, but sure of service; at night, studded by the blessed stars of goodwill, kindness, tolerance, sincerity, humility, unselfishness, thanksgiving, faith and love.

We pledge anew our allegiance! Let us be Americans! A challenge, Native Sons and Native Daughters. Your bridge is yet to span, but September ninth, Admission Day, is your day.

"The mind is dyed the color of its thoughts: its leisure thoughts."—T. F. Coade.

SAN PEDRO—IN THE PRESENCE OF A large number of members of the Order, including many visitors from Santa Monica, Compton, Santa Ana and Los Angeles, officers of Stephen M. White Parlor No. 263 N.S.G.W. were installed July 30, with Dewey Richards as president. District Deputy Ray LeMoine officiated, and was assisted by Supervising Deputy Walter Odemar, Grand Organist Roger Johnson and Walter Smith. Three new members were received.

Grand President Eldred L. Meyer called attention to the coming Admission Day celebration, and complimented the Parlor on its progress. Senator R. F. del Valle spoke most interestingly on Senator Stephen M. White, deceased, for whom the Parlor is named. Other speakers were "Bill" Reuter, John Paralieu, Walter Hiskey, and Deputies Roy Tarleton and Robert Dunn.

Frank Guerero heads the committee arranging for Stephen M. White's part in the Santa Monica Admission Day, September 9, parade. The San Pedro Boys Band will lead the Parlor's contingent, which will include a beautiful float depicting the San Pedro Harbor signal light and a portion of the government breakwater. The marching unit will be appropriately costumed.

OFFICERS RETAINED.

San Pedro—Rudecinda Parlor No. 230 N.D.G.W. has retained for the new term its entire staff of officers, headed by Mrs. John Hackett as president. The Parlor will take an active part in the Santa Monica Admission Day festivities. Deputy Gertrude Riddle was a recent visitor.

The Florencita thimble club met August 18 in Banning Park, with Lucy Ascolesci as the hostess. September 1 the club will meet at the Wilmington home of Carrie Rogers. Recording Secretary Letitia Sarciaux was a visitor last month to Sacramento. Carrie Rogers vacationed in Oregon, Nevada and northern California

THE STATE IS NOW THE CHIEF LANDLORD OF CALIFORNIA.

More than two million acres of land once owned by private individuals has reverted to California for non-payment of taxes, a survey made by State Controller Harry B. Riley shows. There are also in excess of one hundred thousand city lots, both improved and unimproved, which the state now owns.

Land on which taxes remain unpaid is "sold to the state" the first four years, then deeded to the state when taxes are unpaid for the fifth successive year. Administration of tax-deeded land has been vested in the controller since 1870.

Controller Riley points out that the owner can redeem his land after the deed to the state, and urges owners not to part with their titles without investigating their rights.

THE HOST N. S. G. W. PARLOR
PROGRESSIVE SANTA MONICA BAY

AMONG THE THRIVING, PROGRESSIVE fraternal organizations of the Santa Monica Bay district of Los Angeles County is Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W., host for the eighty-seventh birthday party of the State of California, to be held at Santa Monica City, September 7-10.

The Parlor, organized by Deputy Grand President Albert V. Mayrhofer, was instituted October 27, 1926, in the Masonic Temple, Ocean Park, with sixty-four charter members. In attendance were a very large number of members of the Order from San Bernardino, Orange and Los Angeles Counties.

Grand President Hilliard E. Welch officiated at the formal institution ceremonies, and among those who assisted him were: Past Grand Presidents Herman C. Lichtenberger and William I. Traeger, Grand Third Vice-president Charles L. Dodge, Grand Secretary John T. Regan and Grand Trustee John T. Newell.

Dwight C. Freeman became the charter president of the Parlor, J. Howard Blanchard the charter junior past president, and Undersheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz the charter senior past president. George W. Burnett, the first secretary-elect, served in that capacity but six months, when he was succeeded by John J. Smith, who has served faithfully in that important office ever since and is responsible, to no small degree, for the success of the Parlor.

Grand President Eldred L. Meyer is a charter member of Santa Monica Bay Parlor, and one of the most popular members of the Order in the southland. Not only has he always taken a very active interest in the affairs of his home-Parlor, but he is a most liberal contributor of his time and finances for the advancement of the Order throughout all of the State of California.

Santa Monica Bay Parlor of Native Sons has made elaborate arrangements for the Admission Day festivities, and will make a fine showing in the September 9 parade. The Parlor boasts the only Native Sons drum and bugle corps in the southland. Headquarters during the celebration will be maintained by the Parlor on the mezzanine floor of the Grand Hotel, Santa Monica, where all Natives will receive a genuine California welcome.

"Although comparatively a small Parlor," says President Hector Baida, "we plan to show our visitors the time of their lives. We have the whole-souled co-operation of the Santa Monica City Government, all municipal bureaus, and the police and the fire departments, so in our arrangements for the Admission Day celebration our own membership has been supplemented by several hundred Santa Monicans determined to uphold Santa Monica's growing fame as the 'host to the coast'."

NATIVE DAUGHTERS.

Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245 N.D.G.W., organized by Grand Trustee Marvel Thomas, was instituted at Ocean Park May 4, 1928, in the presence of some 176 members of the Order from all southland Parlors.

The institution ceremonies were conducted by Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer, who was assisted by Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Trustees Estelle M. Evans and Marvel Thomas, and District Deputy Grand Presidents Florence Dodson-Schoneman and Kathryn Ronan.

Rosalie Hyde was the charter president of the Parlor, and Willette Biscailuz was the charter past president.

THE LETTER BOX

Comments on subjects of general interest and importance received from readers of The Grizzly Bear.

WANTS LANDMARKS SAVED.

From Charles M. Goethe of Sacramento, in Czechoslovakia on volunteer immigration control and eugenics work, the editor of The Grizzly Bear received June 26 the following, a copy of the interesting letter addressed by Goethe to President Wilbur of Stanford University:

"Hon. Ray Lyman Wilbur, President Stanford University, California—My dear President Wilbur: In horse-and-buggy days, Mrs. Goethe and I made the pilgrimage to Fort Ross. The old Russian buildings were in such a state of dilapidation that a few more winter storms meant their complete destruction. We had long been students of Russian history. We made some field studies of the Russian power in Alaska. Feeling this landmark had a high historic value, we discussed its preservation with my old schoolmate, Editor C. M. Hunt of The Grizzly Bear. He published our photographs and notes. Thus started the movement that eventually saved for all time the buildings.

"Recently, completing my quarter-century studies of the Bret Harte country ghost towns, I went to Michigan Bluff [Placer County]. Folks there say there are three buildings connected with the Stanford tradition, the property of Stanford's Alumni. These are his general merchandise store, his dwelling, his stables. For me, the latter hold the highest interest because of my grandfather's accounts of his contacts with Senator Stanford when a resident of Sacramento. My grandfather, a highly gifted man, had a wide experience in education. He was often Stanford's guest in horse-and-buggy excursions to where we now golf at Del Paso Country Club. During these trips to enjoy the wonderful sunsets, the Senator often discussed with grandfather the former's plans to use toward founding a university the millions which would flow from the 'Dutch Flat Swindle,' as the Central Pacific Railway was called.

"At Michigan Bluff, one senses that Stanford's profits came mostly from transportation, even in the gold rush. His organization of mule pack-trains radiating from Michigan Bluff to the various miners' camps along that ancient Tertiary river gave his transportation experience. Thus came the concept of profits to be made in efficient transportation.

"The barn, with last winter's heavy snows, has caved badly. It is in almost the same condition as were the Fort Ross buildings when we photographed them. Cannot something be done toward preserving these buildings for all posterity? After this, the present, really dangerous road into Michigan Bluff might be made more attractive for those who will use it more and more as the historic value of the Stanford buildings become more appreciated."

THE KELSEY FAMILY IN AMERICA.

Editor Grizzly Bear—I have just read the article in The Grizzly Bear for February 1937, entitled "Nancy Kelsey, the First Pioneer Woman To Cross Plains." This essay was very interesting to me, as I have spent considerable time looking up the Kelsey family.

The first Kelsey in America was William. He came over with Hooker and settled first in Cambridge, Massachusetts, then moved with Hooker to Hartford, Connecticut, and then in 1663 founded the town of Clinton, Connecticut. He had four sons and four daughters. The oldest son, Mark, evidently stayed in Massachusetts. Stephen, the second son, stayed in Hartford, and John and Daniel removed to Clinton with their father.

From Clinton the descendants of William emigrated to Vermont, New York, Kentucky and Ohio, and then, as your article says, they went along with the frontier until they reached California.

There are several organizations of the Kelsey family in different sections of America. One in Iowa, one in Indiana, a Kentucky branch, and two organizations in Connecticut.

William Kelsey's descendants are still living on the land granted to him in Clinton in 1663. The last child born there was the tenth generation to live upon this property.

The national organization of the descendants of William Kelsey, known as the Kelsey Kindred of America, has published two volumes of the Kelsey genealogy. These volumes list the first eight generations of this family.

Any of your readers, or members of your organizations, who are descendants of William Kelsey and visit Connecticut will be interested to visit Clinton, and see the home lot of their common ancestor. Each September the Kindred hold a reunion in Clinton, and members gather from far and near, and they will be very interested in the article in your magazine. Yours truly, JOSEPH J. KELSEY, Clinton, Connecticut.

"UNDEFEATED—To try, and to fail . . . Does that signify enough to be sad, or let effort die? It is many times sadder not to try."—Edgar H. Ryniker.

The San Mateo County Products and Floral Fiesta will be held September 23-26 at Bay Meadows.

All California will celebrate Admission Day, September 9, at Santa Monica, Los Angeles County. Plan now to participate in the state-wide festivities.

LOS ANGELES CITY AND COUNTY

WITH MISS ESTHER RINNE AS president, the officers of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. were installed at largely attended public ceremonies, July 28, conducted by Deputy Ada Steele, who was assisted by Grand Marshal Hazel B. Hansen and Supervising Deputy Ione Gillett. Miss Grace J. Norton, chairman of the occasion, was gowned in silver and wore a corsage of red roses. The acting grand officers, members of Verdugo Parlor No. 240, and the officers-elect were attired in beautiful white gowns. Huge bowls of flame gladioli decorated the hall. Mms. Sophia Stewart and Myrtle Hoffman were soloists of the evening.

Splendid talks were given by Founder Lilly O. Reichling-Dyer and Past Grand President Grace S. Stoermer. It having been twenty years since the latter served the Order as Grand President, Miss Flora Holy presented to her a boquet of twenty white roses. Greetings from the Order of Native Sons were extended by Grand President Eldred L. Meyer.

Many beautiful gifts were presented President Rinne and Mrs. Edna Neikirk, retiring president. Much laughter was created when President Dan Gage of Los Angeles Parlor No. 45 N.S.G.W. presented to Miss Rinne a boquet of red roses, accompanied by a kiss, and President Russell Shields of Hollywood Parlor No. 196 N.S.G.W. also presented a large boquet, without the kiss. Refreshments and dancing concluded a perfect evening.

Los Angeles' September calendar: 18th, sewing club meeting at the home of Mrs. Mary McAnany. 22nd, "at home" party, Women's University Club, 943 So. Hoover; Juanita Porter, chairman. 28th, benefit for homeless children, Gateway Players, 4212 Sunset boulevard. The Parlor will be represented in the Admission Day, September 9, parade at Santa Monica by a poinsettia float. "Open house" will be held at the Grand Hotel, Santa Monica, and all Native Daughters and friends will be welcome.—G.A.

SEVERAL CANDIDATES INITIATED.

Ocean Park—Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 267 N.S.G.W. is now meeting every Monday night in Eagles Hall, 2823½ Main street. Captain Charles Arnold of the Star of Scotland, a member of the Parlor, entertained aboard the boat August 9. President Hector Baida called attention to the fact that Santa Monica Bay will be host to all California Admission Day. Captain Arnold provided a fine entertainment and refreshments.

In honor of Grand President Eldred L. Meyer, affiliated with Santa Monica Bay, several candidates, known as the Gene Biscailuz Admission Day Class, were initiated August 30.

FAITHFUL SHOWERED.

President Marcella Wolfskill Palethorpe of Californiana No. 247 N.D.G.W. has taken advantage of the vacation period to form the various committees for her year of service. Regular meetings will be resumed in the Hollywood Studio Club September 14. The Parlor has "adopted" another baby.

Past President Lena Teague Burrows entertained August 16 at her Arcadia rancho, the guests being past and present officers and committee chairmen. The function was in honor of the birthday anniversary of Edith Adams, the faithful chairman of the Gertrude sewing circle, and she was showered with gifts. A delicious luncheon was served under the huge trees, a beautiful birthday cake being a feature.—O.L.

GETTING READY FOR BAZAR.

Long Beach—Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. had a very successful public card party at the home of Mrs. Elnora Martin July 30. The thimble club met August 21 at the home of Mrs. Alice Waldow. Following a covered dish luncheon, pot holders and pin cushions were made for the bazar which will be held some time in November. The Parlor had a cooked-food sale August 28.

Members of Santa Monica Bay Parlor No. 245, accompanied by Deputy Flora Holy, visited Long Beach August 19. A gift was presented Secretary Bertha Hitt, Santa Monica's deputy last term.—J.P.R.

UNIVERSITY PARLOR NEWS.

Those not in attendance at the fourth annual "stag" of University Parlor No. 272 N.S.G.W. missed the finest affair of the season. General Manager Carl Martin fulfilled every promise. Approximately 200 persons were served a buffet supper of the finest, prepared by Ray Parsons and wife and their staff of culinary assistants, and Stan Parker kept the liquid refreshments flowing.

President Solly Smith is pushing the membership campaign, and his efforts have been more than gratifying. Another large class was initiated August 25. Lucian Griffin is the inspiring chairman of the membership committee.

University Parlor will have an active part in the Admission Day, September 9, celebration at Santa Monica. For the parade, Parlor Chairman Neil Wood has designed a float depicting the color and glamour attached to the southland's history, and a marching unit will appear in colorful uniforms of blue, gold and white. The ball team has been working out under Manager Carl Martin for the softball competition. The Parlor this year will have one of the finest aggregations of youngsters, and will have an able contestant for every sports event. University's "open house" headquarters will be at the Grand Hotel, Santa Monica. "If you really want to have a good time, come up and make yourselves at home, because we're just plain home folks."—J.P.H.

RECEPTION IN HONOR GRAND MARSHAL.

Glendale—Officers of Verdugo Parlor No. 240 N.D.G.W. were installed at a largely attended public ceremony August 5 that was most colorful. Deputy Flora Jacobson officiated, and was assisted by the officers of Californiana Parlor No. 247. Mrs. Evalyn Wilson became the new president.

SACRAMENTO NATIVES PLAN GENERAL SUTTER MONUMENT.

Sacramento's ... Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters have abandoned their plan to bring the remains of General John A. Sutter from Lititz, Pennsylvania, here. Instead, the Parlors plan to erect a Sutter monument in historic Sutter's Fort.

The design which those interested have in mind depicts a Pioneer approaching the fort, weary and worn, with his long squirrel rifle. General Sutter stands facing the east, with his arms extended, bidding the Pioneer to enter the fort.

The joint committee which is promoting the Sutter monument includes: Percy G. West of Sunset Parlor No. 26 N.S.G.W. (chairman), Miss Ella McCleery (Califia Parlor ND), Mrs. Clara Weldon (La Bandera Parlor ND), Mrs. Helen Ishp (Sutter Parlor ND), Mrs. Louise Finch (Coloma Parlor ND), Mrs. Alice Laine (Rio Rito Parlor ND), June Longshore (Sacramento Parlor NS) and Carlton Katzenstein (Sutter Fort Parlor NS).

The California State Fair will be in operation at Sacramento September 3-12.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO WILL THIS YEAR, AS always, make a splendid showing in the Admission Day, September 9, parade in Santa Monica. In fact, the Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden Gate City will be there in such force that three divisions of the big parade have been assigned to them.

Arrangements for San Francisco's participation in the celebration of California's birthday anniversary have been perfected by a joint committee, representing all the local Native Sons and Native Daughters Parlors, with the following officers: Grand Trustee Raymond D. Williamson of Castro Parlor No. 232 N.S.G.W., chairman; Rena Taube of Genevieve Parlor No. 132 N.D.G.W., vice-chairman; Harold J. Regan of South San Francisco Parlor No. 157 N.S.G.W., secretary; Gertrude Mariani of Golden Gate Parlor No. 158 N.D.G.W., assistant secretary.

ADMISSION DAY CLASS LARGEST IN STANFORD'S HISTORY.

Responding to the urge of Grand President Eldred L. Meyer that all Parlors hold initiation prior to Admission Day, Stanford Parlor No. 76 N.S.G.W. August 17 initiated the largest class in its history, twenty-four candidates. Among them were Superior Judge Sylvan J. Lazarus and his son, Leland J. Lazarus, and the Grand President's oldest brother, Herbert S. Meyer.

Grand President Meyer was the honored guest of the occasion, and addressed the large gathering. Grand Secretary John T. Regan was also a speaker. Harold Goulden was chairman of the evening. Entertainment included a fine show, with Charles Roberts as the main attraction, and a wonderful quartet. Frank Morris had charge of the refreshments.

August 15 the Parlor had its annual picnic near Fairfax, Marin County. Anthony Virgilio was chairman of arrangements. August 31 Stanford sponsored a public lecture by Brother Leo, noted speaker, on "What Is Personality?" Dave McCarthy and Carl Boegershausen were in charge of arrangements.

FRIENDSHIP THE N.D.G.W. THEME.

Mission Parlor No. 227 N.D.G.W. was hostess for the first official visit, July 30, of Grand President Ethel I. Begley. Dinner was served at the Women's City Club, and the placecards were clever cut-out hobby horses, the work of Miss Victoria Lucett. The meetingplace was attractively decorated in the Order's colors, with a large horseshoe behind the president's chair. The ritual was impressively exemplified.

One of the highlights of this first visit was the social hour from 11 to midnight, which was inaugurated at the expressed wish of Grand President Begley as a means for the members to become better acquainted and to carry out the theme of her term, Friendship. Other members of the official family in attendance were Grand Vice-president Edna Briggs, Grand Secretary Sallie Thaler, Grand Treasurer Agnes Curry, Grand Inside Sentinel Emily Ryan, Grand Outside Sentinel Loretta Cameron, Grand Trustees Claire Lindsey, Ethel Enos and Evalyn Towne, Past Grands Anne Thuesen, Margaret Hill, Dr. Mariana Bertola, Evelyn Carlson, Estelle Evans and Emma Foley, Supervising Deputy Katherine Keating, Deputy Irene Milan, State Chairmen Alice Lane, May McDonald, Ruby Bried, Rena Taube and Ann Dippel.—J.C.

GRAND HISTORIAN N.S. AWARDED DOCTOR OF EDUCATION DEGREE.

Officers of Presidio Parlor No. 194 N.S.G.W. and Presidio Parlor No. 148 N.D.G.W. were jointly installed July 26. Deputies Paul Pasquet and Ann Dippel officiated, and Robert Borgeson and Hazel Peterson became the respective presidents. Addresses were made by the newly installed presidents, the deputies, Albert H. Schmidt, George Pope, Grand Trustee Evalyn Towne, Past Grand Margaret Grote-Hill and Grand Historian Peter T. Conmy.

All Native Sons will be interested and pleased to learn that Grand Historian Peter T. Conmy, a member of Presidio, has had conferred on him by the University of California the degree of Doctor of Education. This culminates a number of years during which he spent much of his spare time and vacations in hard study. His thesis, covering 452 typewritten pages, is a distinct contribution to California history—"A History of Public School Support in California, 1849-1933."

Peter T. Conmy,
Grand Historian N.S.G.W.

Grand Historian Conmy received his early education in the San Francisco public schools, graduating from Lowell high in 1920. He received from the University of California his A.B. in 1924, his M.A. in 1927, and now his Ed.D. in 1937. He has also studied at Stanford University, and while he does not practice he has studied law.—G.A.D.

N.D. HOME BREAKFAST.

Las Lomas No. 72, Mission No. 227 and Utopia No. 252 Parlors sponsored the breakfast at the N.D.G.W. Home August 8. Mrs. Ann Dippel presided, and extended a welcome. Claire Drews led the salute to the flag, and Mable Salley offered prayer. Grand President Ethel I. Begley was a guest of honor.

Judge George W. Schonfeld of South San Francisco Parlor No. 157 N.S.G.W. was the speaker of the day, and stressed the enthusiasm of the Native Daughters. Mrs. Ruby Bried, director N.D.G.W. glee club, led in community singing. Accompanied at the piano by Miss Betty Marquis, Alyce McAravy sang "In the Garden of Tomorrow." Among others in attendance were Grand Inside Sentinel Emily E. Ryan, Grand Trustee Claire Lindsey, Past Grand Presidents Bertha A. Briggs, Eliza D. Keith and Margaret G. Hill, and Supervising Deputy Katherine Keating.

Natives Contributed to Great Success This Year's Fiesta

James French Dorrance

NATIVE SONS AND NATIVE DAUGHters of the Golden West in the Santa Barbara sector are resting on their laurels in having helped to make this year's Old Spanish Days Fiesta the most outstandingly successful of the fourteen that have passed into history.

Sunday, August 15, Santa Barbara Parlor No. 116 N.S.G.W. and Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 N.D.G.W. joined in their traditional pre-Fiesta tea and reception at historic El Paso, at which they entertained two thousand friends who responded to invitations. On this occasion the Parlors honor the native pioneers, particularly the old Spanish families of the entire county. The function was dedicated to "Native Pioneers, the brave, California, the Golden, and Santa Barbara, the Gracious," and this theme was followed through a program of dancing, music and brief speeches.

Mrs. Martin J. Coan as old Spanish Days general chairman for the Daughters, Mrs. Fred Acres as pre-Fiesta tea chairman, and Dr. Anna E. McCaughey as program chairman, had full co-operation from Santa Barbara Parlor Native Sons, with President Leland Holiday welcoming guests, History Chairman Paul Sweetser giving a brief historical address, and County Surveyor Owen O'Neill, who now is editing a new "History of Santa Barbara County," introducing representatives of old families who were present. Mrs. Wesley McCormick, president of Reina del Mar Parlor, headed the reception committee, while Mrs. Frank Holzbauer had charge of invitations. Among the honor guests were El Presidente Sam Stanwood and the officers of Old Spanish Days Fiesta Association.

Mrs. Ethel Palmer Dorsey of Santa Maria was the visiting soloist and Mrs. Florence Dodson-Schoneman represented pioneer families of the Los Angeles area. Mrs. Marion Parks-Partridge, Reina del Mar's beloved historian, spoke briefly on the historical aspect of the gathering and the importance of Parlors of Native Sons and Native Daughters continuing to serve as bridge builder for their communities.

Program credit may be summarized thus: Solo numbers: Frank Jordano Jr. and Beverly Alderson, "Senora;" George McCrea Jr. and Muriel Wolfe, "Cumparsita;" Mrs. J. A. Janssens, "Espani Cani;" Miss Renata Maccianti, "Lado Blanchito;" Mrs. Ethel Palmer Dorsey, soloist, accompanied by Miss Margaret Morrison, three dedicatory numbers to Native Pioneers, California the golden, and Santa Barbara the gracious.

Shawl number, "Manton de Manilla": Mrs. Paul Miller, Miss Audrey Zane, Mrs. Mario Boccalli, Mrs. Clyde Campbell, Mrs. Alphonse Roeser, Mrs. Justine Meloling, Miss Elizabeth Brock and Miss Eileen Shorten. "Varsuviana": Mrs. Paul Miller, Mrs. Justine Meloling, Miss Wilma Kiesner, Miss Lillian Robinson, Mrs. Mario Boccalli, Miss Vivian Cavett, Mrs. Frank Jordano, Mrs. Clarence Longmire, Mrs. George McCrea, Mrs.

The Fiesteros Group of Reina del Mar Parlor N.D.G.W. gave large service in Santa Barbara's fourteenth annual Old Spanish Days Fiesta, the most successful of all.

SHERIFF'S POSSE SUPPER ATTENDED BY MORE THAN 400.

Members of Santa Barbara Parlor Native Sons had a hand in every department of the Old Spanish Days Fiesta, and accredited themselves with distinction. Their most important and pleasurable duty perhaps was entertaining the Los Angeles sheriff's posse which, as in previous years, came up for the historic parade on Fiesta's opening day, some thirty riders strong. At the parade's close the Sons escorted their yellow-jacketed visitors to the Montecito Country Club, where a banquet was spread in their honor for more than 400 men and women.

Governor Frank Merriam was very much present as the ranking honor-guest, while Grand President Eldred Meyer was tops in Native Sons participation. Grand Secretary John T. Regan of San Francisco, Supervising Deputy Walter Odemar of Los Angeles and District Deputy Walter Hiskey of Santa Ana were other visiting officials introduced. Grand Trustee Mary Noerenberg headed a party of Native Daughters from Los Angeles who attended the posse dinner. Leo Carrillo, who was a Native Son before he knew there were such things as stages and motion pictures, was at hand to act as toastmaster, and there ensued a duel of wits between Leo, the Governor and Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz which proved the feature of the evening.

A. C. Dinsmore was an efficient banquet manager, and called upon Harold T. Campbell as master of ceremonies. The banquet committee included Harry Sweetser, Captain W. H. Rutherford, A. J. Janssens, Ray Latham, John D. Ross, Leland Holiday, Leslie W. Hayes, Walter McIntosh, Captain I. A. Bonilla, C. W. McCormick, Frank Huffman, Parker Foster, C. D. Livermore, Robert Campbell and Fred Spurrell.

Earlier in the afternoon the members of Reina del Mar Parlor participated in a general reception to Fiesta visitors held at the Santa Barbara County Court House, where several thousand visitors were served tea. This affair was sponsored by the Santa Barbara County Federation

NATIVE SONS AND NATIVE DAUGHTERS ACTIVE TO THE LAST.

A possible record for Fiesta's last gasp went this year to Reina del Mar and Santa Barbara Parlors, for it was 4.15 Sunday morning, August 22, when the last guest departed their post-Fiesta supper. In this affair the Parlors acted for the Old Spanish Days Committee to entertain the various dancing and singing groups who carried on the entertainment of thousands of visitors afternoons and evenings at the court house sunken gardens. They had the co-operation of Hugo R. Norbeck. Mrs. Martin J. Coan and Dr. Anna E. McCaughey, supper chairmen, also had the assistance of the Fiesteros group.

The Native Daughters participated in the Franciscan entertainment at Old Santa Barbara Mission Fiesta eve, and presented their "Saint Barbara," in the person of Miss Florence Longawa. The following day this comely young daughter was the central figure of the Daughters' float in the historic parade.

Another "Saint Barbara" will be the feature of the Channel City's participation in the Admission Day, September 9, celebration at Santa Monica. On this occasion Margery Pierce Cawker will take the role of the martyred saint for whom the Channel City and County were named.

ADMISSION DAY CELEBRATION OF HALF-CENTURY AGO AT NAPA.

The thirty-seventh anniversary of California's admittance to statehood, the Admission Day of September 9, 1887, was celebrated by the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West at Napa City. "The celebration was an unequivocal success in every respect," said one commentator, "and reflected the greatest credit upon the people of Napa as well as upon the Native Sons." Napa Parlor No. 62 was in charge of details.

"The Admission Day parade of the Native Sons was a spectacle in which all Californians may well feel exultation," reported Grand Orator Jackson Hatch. "The long line of manly, proud young men was typical of a march for principle, country, and that honor which is their highest heritage. It told me that California has infinitely richer wealth than that which grows upon her soil or is dug from the earth." Grand Marshal Henry C. Gesford was in charge of the imposing parade, and his aides included Louis W. Juilliard, C. R. Smith, C. R. Vann and L. McClane. Some of the survivors of the Bear Flag Party appeared in the parade.

Exercises at the Napa Grand Tent followed the parade, the Independence Band of Mare Island furnishing the music. Following a prayer by Past Grand President Charles W. Decker, Frank L. Coombs was introduced as president of the day by Grand Marshal Gesford. Addresses were made by President J. A. Fuller of the Napa Board of City Trustees and Grand President Charles H. Garoutte, and the Admission Day oration was delivered by Grand Orator Jackson Hatch. The "Native Sons' Hymn," words by Henry Hogan and music by Adolphe Flamant, was sung by the Philharmonic Club of Napa. Henry Hogan, district attorney of Napa County, read an original poem, and Rev. C. M. Davis of Sacramento Parlor No. 3 pronounced the benediction.

Visits to the various Parlors' headquarters occupied the afternoon, and in the evening a grand ball was held.

SAN BERNARDINO

ALL AS IN THE BEGINNING

IN THE BEGINNING, THAT VAST INLAND empire that we now know as San Bernardino County, was little different than at the present time. The Creator fashioned an area that is filled with countless numbers and varied creations of Nature. Though the county is the largest in the United States in area, it likewise takes first ranking in what may be termed tourist lure, for nature has conceived here so much in the way of unusual sights and scenes that its fame is world-wide.

It is bounded on the north by Inyo County, on the west by Los Angeles and Kern Counties, on the south by Riverside County, and on the east its borders touch the States of Nevada and Arizona. Its area is larger than several New England states combined. Its desert surface from the Sierra Madre Mountains to the southwest corner of the county is broken by innumerable short mountain ranges and isolated peaks, dry lakes, and small areas where springs abound. The Mojave River rises in the mountains and flows to northeast, the river-bed being traceable for a hundred miles or more. This section is rich in interest—so much so that more and more of the hidden mysteries of this scenic land are being unfolded by the building of perfect highways.

A mighty mountain range rising up to 7,000 feet, with peaks rising over 11,000 feet, was Nature's offering to this section of what we now know as San Bernardino County. But Nature provided a pass through these mountains and Man uses it today as the Indians and aborigines used it in the long ago. White men emerging through the pass into that vast region to the south of the mountains saw a valley of wondrous beauty. Civilization has come and left its imprint of modernization, but the work of Nature is just about as it was in the beginning. The historic Arrowhead on the mountain side, the rushing streams coming down the mountain sides, the numerous health-giving hot and cold springs, the mud pits, which we now call mud baths, the winding Santa Ana River, the forests, the flora—all are as in the beginning. The hand of Man has added a touch of civilization, but that is all.

The great section to the north is priceless in its natural lore. Here are extinct volcanoes, curiously shaped formations, a mineral storehouse of unfathomed richness, canyons of rarest beauty, foliage and flowers that after the spring rains provide miles of colors, blanketing the valleys and up the sides of the hills and mountains, just as in the beginning. The legends and the stories painted on the rocks by the earliest aborigines still may be seen and wondered at after so long a time. That peculiar sentinel of the desert, the Joshua Tree, is there in countless numbers, as in the days of long ago, as is the Yucca with its gorgeous blossoms. An empire of more than 20,000 square miles, once inhabited only by Indians, truly a county of diversified interests and opportunities.

As the dawn of civilization began, Man reached out into the uncharted seas for new lands to discover. By sea and land eventually the forces of civilization converged on that great territory lying along the shores of the western ocean. It is California today!

IMPORTANT FEDERAL POST GOES TO POPULAR NATIVE SON.

Benjamin Harrison, most favorably thought of throughout the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, was nominated by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and promptly confirmed by the Federal Senate, to be United States Attorney for the Southern District of California, with headquarters at Los Angeles.

Benjamin Harrison

Harrison, an outstanding Californian, is an active member of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. of San Bernardino, and a few years ago gave valuable service to the Order as a Grand Trustee.

He assumed the duties of the important public office August 23, with the brief statement: "I intend to run the office fairly and efficiently," and those who know "Ben" Harrison know that he will do so.—C.M.H.

JOIN FORCES FOR ADMISSION DAY.

San Bernardino—Eight candidates were initiated into Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. July 28 by a ritual team from Compton Parlor No. 273 headed by District Deputy Roy C. Tarleton. September meetings of the Parlor will be held at the Crestline clubhouse.

The Board of Supervisors has appointed Jerome B. Kavanaugh, a member of the Parlor, district attorney of San Bernardino County, to succeed Stanley Mussell, resigned.

Arrowhead and Lugonia Parlor No. 241 N.D.G.W. will join forces for the Admission Day parade in Santa Monica. Several members will be in line, attired in forty-niner costumes, and the Parlors will have a covered wagon drawn by oxen. Lynn A. Reed is the chairman, and Ruth Roberds is the secretary of the joint arrangements committee.

"THE MADONNA OF THE TRAIL."

Ontario—In the Santa Monica Admission Day, September 9, parade Ontario Parlor No. 251 N.D.G.W. will be represented by a float, "The Madonna of the Trail," with Marian Pierce as

Native Daughters of the Golden West

"TO THE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS Native Daughters of the Golden West —Dear Sisters: On September 9, 1937, we will celebrate the eighty-seventh anniversary of California's admission to statehood. In the celebration of our natal day, let us consider this not only a duty, but a proud and happy privilege of our birthright.

"With full realization that the blessings of our Golden State, which are now ours to enjoy, were made possible through the hardships, privations and sufferings of those noble men and women, our Pioneer Mothers and Fathers, we recall their deeds with love and affection, and again renew our obligations: Love of Home, Devotion to our Flag, and Veneration of the Pioneers.

"Admission Day is a state holiday. The Orders of Native Daughters of the Golden West and Native Sons of the Golden West must encourage the observation of this day in their respective cities and communities, by personal contacts with business firms and merchants, asking their co-operation, so that every Californian, whether by birth or adoption, may join in our celebration.

"If it is impossible for you to participate in the celebration at Santa Monica, I urge that you feature the day by celebration in your own district; or if this is not possible, you may remember some Pioneer in your locality, by presentation of a small gift of flowers, a card or a personal call of greeting.

"As we carry on the work and high standards of our Pioneers, let us keep the name of California unstained, preserve its honor and reputation as the Golden State of equality and freedom. Thus, shall we fulfill our obligation to those who gave their full measure of devotion to duty and undying loyalty to country.

"On September 17th, the 150th anniversary of the Constitution of the United States will be celebrated in various communities, and I ask that you participate in order that our organization may gain rightful recognition for its efforts along these lines. Contact your local committee for information regarding same.

"With kindest thoughts and good wishes, let me express my most sincere appreciation for your assistance and participation in extending to the world California's most gracious hospitality, through your identification as a member of the Native Daughters of the Golden West. Yours sincerely and fraternally,

"ETHEL I. BEGLEY,
"Grand President.

"San Francisco, August 23, 1937."

The observance was in honor of the nine living charter members, six of whom—Lena Waddell Rantz, Louise Sheppard, May Bailey, Laura Reynolds Schiff, Josephine Hofmeister Pratt and Nellie Winchell Mariner—were in attendance, as was also the only living charter member of Placerville No. 9 N.S.G.W., George Hofmeister. The three charter members of Marguerite unable to be present are Celia Hall, Mary White and Mary Stark.

Others in attendance were Grand Vice-president Edna Briggs, Past Grand Bertha A. Briggs, Supervising Deputies Henrietta Hume and Maude Fassett, and the drill team of La Bandera No. 110 (Sacramento) of the Native Daughters; Grand Third Vice-president Henry S. Lyon of the Native Sons.

August 17 was fair night at the Parlor. The members came attired as farmers, and each brought toy animals for the stock show. Prizes were awarded, and appropriate refreshments were served.

Petaluma is sponsoring a better babies show at the high school auditorium September 13. Chairman Zoura Tompkins and her committee are working hard to make it a success. A coronation ceremony and program will conclude the show.

HAPPY MEMORIES OF ADMISSION DAY

Bertha A. Briggs

(State Chairman of Publicity, Native Daughters Golden West

CALIFORNIA'S EIGHTY-SEVENTH birthday was fittingly and enthusiastically observed at Santa Monica, Los Angeles County, by thousands of loyal Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West, with myriads of adopted children as interested and appreciative onlookers.

The entire citizenry joined in welcoming the invading hordes of visitors who flocked into that beautiful city of the southland, ideal setting for the colorful celebration. Thoughtful courtesies were extended in every way, and nothing was left undone that might add to the comfort and the pleasure of the city's guests.

The festivities were opened officially on the afternoon of September 8 by the dedication of the Louis B. Mayer memorial bench in Palisades Park, placed in memory of motion picture pioneers. This interesting ceremony was participated in by high officials of the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West, assisted by Mayer's representative, Charles Grapewine, prominent in the cast of "The Good Earth."

A full program was arranged for the evening, the first feature being the drill team and drum corps contests at Santa Monica Municipal Stadium, where attractively uniformed and well-drilled groups, from many Parlors throughout the entire state, marched with precision in snappy and intricate evolutions. The participants were extended hearty and well-earned praise by the judges, consisting of army and navy officers.

The Santa Monica Municipal Auditorium was the scene of the Admission Day ball, grand in every sense of the word. The grand march was led by Governor Frank F. Merriam and Miss Grace S. Stoermer, Past Grand President N.D.G.W., followed by dignitaries and members of both Orders. The finale of the stately march of beautifully gowned women and well-groomed men was indeed an impressive sight, eliciting spontaneous applause from the crowds of spectators, when more than twenty lines of thirty-two couples each advanced across the immense room before dissolving into dancing couples.

September the ninth dawned a perfect day, as if made to order for the great feature of California's natal day, the Admission Day parade. So carefully and well-made were plans that the glittering pageant started on schedule time, wending its colorful way through flag-decked streets thronged with thrilled spectators. The vast parade was headed by state, county, city, army and navy officials, forming the escort advance-guard for the present and past grand officers of the Native Daughters and Native Sons of the Golden West.

Well-known state officials, with county and city dignitaries from distant and nearby communities, were enthusiastically applauded as they marched proudly with their respective Parlors.

In rapid succession there passed by, in snappy formation, marching units in blue, in blue and white, in green and white, in red coats with waving scarlet pompons, in mustard-colored trappings, and in snowy white.

Dark-eyed senoritas in flowing mantillas were there, also dashing caballeros, amazing sheiks from Hollywood, red-shirted miners from the Mother Lode, daintily attired girls with ruffled yellow parasols, and pioneer mothers in bonnets and old-fashioned gowns

Spirited horses with silver trappings pranced by to the inspiring music of countless bands. Surreys, buggies and victorias, in which rode dignified Natives in the costume of yesteryear, and stagecoaches drawn by four or six dashing steeds, with shotgun messenger on top guarding the treasure box, recalled the days before the coming of the horseless carriage. A battered prairie schooner, cherished relic of honored pioneer forebears, bore the inscription, "I came across the plains in 1849."

Headed by their band playing "San Francisco, Open Your Golden Gate," platoon after platoon of San Francisco police and firemen marched jauntily by. And then came that gorgeous float woven with more than 10,000 blossoms—marigolds, hollyhocks, gladioli—depicting the world with its face turned toward the 1939 exposition to which romantic San Francisco invites the world.

The name "Oakland" was spelled in huge, glittering separate letters carried by Native Sons in white, followed by patrol and drill teams, their unit headed by a flower float of flaming red. The splendid float of Alameda County, a great golden bear set against rays of the setting sun, all made in flowers of myriad hue, won deafening cheers.

From Vallejo was a battleship ashore, with gray guns bristling. Stockton's Native Sons knelt before the grandstand to display their mighty Bear Flag that stretched the entire width of the street. San Bernardino County entered a breath taking silvered silhouette of a covered wagon drawn by an oxteam, before which stood a statuesque Pioneer Mother with her children. Ramona and Allesandro presented a charming love scene in Ramona Parlor's beautiful float. These splendid creations, with many others, unfolded pages of history linked to a glamorous past.

Many Sons and Daughters of California brought birthday gifts, showering the spectators with golden nuggets from the mining sections, and fruits and flowers from her fertile valleys.

Three and one-half hours after the escort division passed along beautiful Ocean avenue, fronting the blue Pacific, the last division filed past the reviewing stand, ending one of the finest parades ever to honor Admission Day.

Through the courtesy of the Los Angeles County 1937 Admission Day Committee, a bountiful barbecue was served to participants in the spectacular parade.

Santa Monica has every reason to be proud of the unqualified success of its splendid observance of Admission Day, one of the most spectacular ever to honor California's birthday. And it may be said with all sincerity that this outpouring of loyalty and enthusiasm, manifested by representatives of two great patriotic Orders from Siskiyou to San Diego, from the shores of the blue Pacific to the summit of the high Sierra, has more closely and firmly cemented the bonds of fraternal friendship than ever before.

Admission Day 1937, at Santa Monica, will ever remain a brilliant and happy memory!

Civic Luncheon

A brilliant civic luncheon honoring state, county and city officials, army and navy officers, and past and present grand officers of the Orders of Native Daughters and Native Sons of the Golden West, followed the Admission Day parade at the Deauville Club. Miss Grace S. Stoermer, Past Grand President N.D.G.W., presided as general hostess. The program included:

Singing in the Dark

(LIDA NEWMAN DIEDERICH.)

When stormy clouds hide all the sparkling blue,
And raindrops blot the world from out our view,
Why should we fret, and bitterly complain?
We know that sunshine always follows rain.

When moon and stars are hidden in dark night,
Why should we mourn and grieve for vanished light?
We know the darkest hour will soon be gone,
And just beyond there waits a rose-flushed dawn.

The birds, now silent in their nests so dim,
Wake with the dawn to sing their morning hymn,
We do not have to wait for daylight's spark,
The soul can sing while the night is dark.

The soul cares not if it be dark or day,
The Light Eternal brightens all the way;
The Peace of Christ, abiding in the heart,
Makes darkest night of coming day a part
—Ione Valley Echo.

Native Sons of the Golden West

FOLLOWING IS THE ADDRESS DELIVered by Eldred L. Meyer, Grand President of the Order of Native Sons of the Golden West, at the civic luncheon held at the Deauville Club, Santa Monica, following the Admission Day, September 9, parade:

"California's birthday, Admission Day, has long been observed and celebrated by the Native Sons and the Native Daughters of the Golden West throughout the State of California, but today's parade of the Parlors of our two Orders was never before equaled in the southland, and it will be many a year before this beautiful pageant will be surpassed by the Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West anywhere in our fair state. As Grand President of the Native Sons of the Golden West, I am happy and proud to pay tribute to the many Native Sons and Native Daughters, and also the adopted sons and daughters of California, who have come to Santa Monica to help celebrate and honor the anniversary of California's admission to statehood, September 9, 1850.

"Our Order was the dream child of General Albert Maver Winn, a '49er born in old Virginia, one of the vast army of patriots and one of the first Pioneers to reach Sacramento in 1849. Having won fame and fortune, with civic and military honors conferred upon him, in the sunset of his life he sought a way to perpetuate the memories and traditions of those pioneer men and women who were rapidly passing on—some form of monument that would be lasting. The very important part that the Native Sons of the Golden West have played in the progress and the development of this great commonwealth is the result of the far-seeing vision of our Founder, General Winn.

"Instituted in the City of San Francisco July 5, 1875, our Order grew rapidly and in a brief period of time Parlors were established in all parts of California; today they number some 150. Our Order is patriotic, historical and social, and we point with pride to the fact that since our inception we have taken an active part in assisting in the restoration of missions and historical landmarks, gratefully recognizing the Spanish era as well as the American period. The Native Sons of the Golden West have placed tablets on buildings and have erected monuments commemorating many of the important events in our State's history. We have annually supported two traveling history fellows at the University of California who have visited the archives of the world in gathering the authentic history of California and of the Pacific Coast. Outstanding honors were conferred upon our Order when we were invited to dedicate the Golden Gate bridge, the longest bridge span in the world.

"Much credit can be given our Order for the passage by the Federal Congress of the 1924 Immigration Act, which has prevented aliens ineligible to citizenship from being admitted into the United States. We have joined with many patriotic orders in opposing all forms of political 'isms' inimical to our government. The state's natural resources have been conserved by legislation that we have sponsored over a period of years. Charity, the sweetest of all the virtues, has not been overlooked. Since 1910 we have placed some 5,000 homeless children in homes not previously blessed with children, removing the little ones from institutions and other places where they were not wanted and providing them with a mother's love and care. This laudable work has been carried on jointly with our sister Order, the Native Daughters of the Golden West. During the World War, no other fraternity in California, in proportion to membership, furnished so many gallant patriots for Uncle Sam's army and navy as did our Order—which is the acid proof-test of patriotism!

"Briefly, this is our proud record of sixty-two years of service to our State and Nation. To our people, California is the noblest and the greatest child of the Union of States. The traditions of her early history have an enchantment for all Californians, whether native or adopted. And so, until we re-assemble at Vallejo next Admission Day, let us all pledge anew to keep California's future as bright and as glorious as her illustrious past."

TO ALL PARLORS N.S.G.W.—DEAR Sirs and Brothers: The celebration of the 87th anniversary of Admission Day at Santa Monica was, in the opinion of many members, including myself, one of the outstanding events of its kind in the history of celebrations. The large number of members from nearly every section of our state, many of whom attended at a great sacrifice—the very fine spirit manifested and the exemplification of loyalty so apparent—will leave a lasting impression in the minds and hearts of the members of our Order as well as the citizenry of Santa Monica and Los Angeles County.

As your Grand President, I extend to you my hearty congratulations for the splendid showing made, as well as my grateful appreciation for bringing to Santa Monica so many features in addition to the colorful marching units.

You will be pleased to know that the Los Angeles Admission Day Celebration Committee was able to have the celebration activities published throughout the United States and Canada by four different newspaper syndicates, which enlightened many people throughout our state and nation on the meaning of Admission Day which added much prestige to our organization.

My brothers, our Order is making history. Let us continue the good work so that each and every one of us can enjoy the fruits of our fraternal labors. With my deep gratitude to all of you, I am, sincerely and fraternally,

Eldred L. Meyer.

Grand President N.S.G.W.
Santa Monica, September 14, 1937.

THE ORIGIN OF THE CALIFORNIA PUBLIC SCHOOL SYSTEM

Peter T. Conmy

Grand Historian N.S.G.W.

(WRITTEN ESPECIALLY FOR THE GRIZZLY BEAR.)

IT IS GENERALLY CONCEDED IN THE educational world that the State of California has one of the best public school systems in the United States. Outstanding in curricular development, in teacher tenure, in teacher retirement provisions, in administrative organization and in methods of support, the question naturally arises how did California happen to develop such a gigantic system of public education. A review of the immediate past reveals that the factors which have operated for the good of the schools in recent years are not in themselves responsible for the growth and efficiency of the system. On the contrary, one must look deep into the past, for the answer which is to be found in the attitude of the pioneers toward and the work of the pioneers for the early schools.

The California public school system was born at the Constitutional Convention which met in Monterey in September 1849. It was at this assemblage that a resolution was introduced to insert into the projected constitution an article providing for the establishment of a school system. Several of the states had in their constitutions omitted to provide for education. There was opposition to taking such action in the California constitution, and it was the defeat of this movement at the convention that committed this state to a system of free schools. Most of the opposition to public schools came from those members of the convention who were from the South. Those from New England and the Ohio Valley and Great Lakes states, where public education had flourished and was thriving, joined together and the result was the writing into the constitution of an article dealing with education.

The convention also took up the matter of school support. All states admitted since 1841 had received a gift from the Federal Government of 500,000 acres of land for internal improvements. Some states used this grant for road building, and an attempt was made to follow that precedent with respect to the anticipated grant to California. This plan was also combatted by the friends of education, with the result that the proceeds from the sale of public lands were inviolably appropriated and dedicated to the public school fund. In addition to the grant of 500,000 acres, the United States Government also gave to California every 16th and 36th township section for school purposes. The Constitution of 1849 also provided that the estates of persons dying without any known heirs and intestate should escheat to the state and be placed in the school fund. The Constitution, in addition, gave any percentum on the sale of federal lands in California which might be given to the state by the National Government to the school fund.

The first Legislature, which met in 1849-50, failed to establish a school system, but the second Legislature, meeting in 1851, did so. Public schools existed in California prior to the establishment of the state system in 1851. Many children had been brought to San Francisco, and it became imperative to provide for their education. To this end and purpose, the city council in 1850 voted to establish a public school, and John C. Pelton, who had been a teacher in Maine prior to coming to California, was appointed teacher. Since 1850, therefore, the City of San Francisco has always had a system of public schools. It should also be pointed out that the public schools of San Francisco have always been free. This may seem at first sight a strange statement to make, but down until 1870 the public schools of California were supported only in part from public funds. Any balance which the school trustees deemed necessary over and above that derived from the state school fund and local taxation was charged to the parents of the pupils. This was known as the rate bill system. The City of San Francisco has never charged rate bill tuition, a boast very few large cities can make concerning their pioneer day schools. Within three years of the opening of its first public school San Francisco had 1,500 pupils enrolled, with an average daily attendance of 800 distributed in some seven schools.

The reason why the early schools of California were established on so firm a footing is because the New England influence predominated here. It should be said that public education flourished in New England almost from Mayflower days. Furthermore, it was in the New England states, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, that those stalwart leaders, Horace Mann and Henry Barnard, operated in the 1830s, developing in those states outstanding school systems. Many of the early teachers of California came from New England. John C. Pelton, first public teacher of San Francisco, has already been mentioned. He was but one of an intrepid group of men who, coming from the East to California, were not content to teach alone, but sought to improve civic interest in schools.

Perhaps the most outstanding of these was John Swett, who became principal of the Rincon school in San Francisco in 1853, and State Superintendent in 1862. It is questionable if any other school executive, before or since, has ever accomplished as much educationally as John Swett. He came from New Hampshire. James Denman, who was destined to give a life time of service to California education, arrived from Albany, New York, in 1851. Ahira Holmes, first president of the State Normal School, and his brother, Ellis Holmes, principal of Girls High School for many years, both came from Massachusetts. Thomas J. Nevins, first Superintendent of Schools of San Francisco, was from New York, his successor, William H. O'Grady, from Vermont, Joseph C. Morrill from New Hampshire, and Henry P. Carlton from Massachusetts.

Within a few years after the establishment of the school system the revenue from the state fund was found insufficient to meet the rising expenditures of the schools. Accordingly, provision was made first for county taxation, then for district taxation, and finally, in 1864 under the leadership of John Swett, for state taxation. In this manner the foundations of the California public school system were made, a school system that is one of the most outstanding in the nation and a school system that has trained thousands to be upright and law-abiding citizens.

The California Real Estate Association will meet in annual convention at San Jose, Santa Clara County, October 5-9.

Native Daughters of the Golden West

SPEAKING FOR THE ORDER OF NATIVE Daughters of the Golden West at the civic luncheon, sponsored by the Los Angeles County 1937 Admission Day Committee, following the magnificent September 9 parade in Santa Monica, Grand President Ethel I. Begley said:

"It is my proud and happy privilege as Grand President of the Native Daughters of the Golden West to extend to the world on California's eighty-seventh birthday most sincere greetings from every member of our beloved organization.

"We have traveled from every part of our glorious State to the beautiful City of Santa Monica to join with our brothers and sisters of the southland in the statehood celebration of our natal day. On this day the heart of every loyal Californian thrills with renewed pride and patriotism.

"May we pause for just a moment and recall, with love and veneration, the honored Pioneers —those noble men and women who gave so much, with the one hope of acquiring a land of protected people. Let us so live that our lives may exemplify the unselfish love and heroic deeds of our Pioneer Mothers and Fathers.

"Today, surrounded by those who have extended to us true California's most gracious hospitality, let us again renew our devotion to our beloved State whose protection we enjoy under the Red, White and Blue of our Star Spangled Banner, and make this celebration the greatest birthday of our glorious State of California."

CONTRIBUTION ASKED TO CARRY ON SPLENDID WORK.

Mrs. Merle Sandell of San Francisco, chairman Grand Parlor Veteran Welfare Committee, in a letter to all Subordinate Parlors says: "Once a year your Grand Parlor Veterans Welfare Committee makes an appeal for a contribution to carry on the splendid work started many years ago to bring a little happiness to our veterans. May we again ask for the usual contribution of $1 or more.

"Many Parlors have their own veterans welfare committee and are doing splendid work, and your state committee urges that you continue. . . . It is the desire of this committee to continue to keep up the standard of this work as set forth by our predecessors.

"We hope that you will find it possible to send in your contribution in the near future, as much of our work will be done during the Christmas season."

Original Sketch Entertains.

Hollister—Closing the summer recess, Copa de Oro No. 105 resumed activities September 1 with installation of officers, preceded by a dinner. The tables were attractive with vari-colored asters, greenery and lighted tapers, and the song-sheet covers were fashioned as silver wedding bells. Following the business session, an original two-act sketch, "Our Leader, Today and Tomorrow," was presented. Act one featured a courtroom scene where Retiring President Hazel Bengard sought redress from President-elect Mary Grunnagle for alienation of the affections of Copa de Oro San Benito. Act two was a pretty marriage ceremony uniting Mary and Copa de Oro.

Deputy Cecelia Ashadina installed the officers-elect. Carrying out the bridal theme, presentations were made to Deputy Ashadina, Retiring President Bengard and Supervising Deputy Mayme Moran. For the installation ceremonies, the local officers appeared in new floor-length white taffetas trimmed with powder blue. The meetinghall was beautifully decorated with autumn blooms and greenery in tall baskets, a dainty wedding bell occupying the place of honor. The serving of buffet refreshments closed a happy event.

At Copa de Oro's September 15 meeting plans were discussed for the annual homeless children card party, October 22, and the usual tri-county district meeting, November 6. Elma Chandler Libao, a recent bride, was honored with a bountiful china shower Appetizing refreshments were served at tables attractive with lighted tapers, bowls of vari-colored asters and nut cups fashioned as sprinkling pots.

Twelve Initiated.

Centerville—Grand President Ethel I. Begley paid her official visit to Betsy Ross No. 238 August 20. With Evelyn Garcia presiding, twelve candidates were initiated. The meetinghall was strikingly decorated with plumbago and ivy. Among the many other visitors were Grand Secretary Sallie R. Thaler, Grand Trustee Ethel Enos, Past Grands Evelyn Carlson and Esther Sullivan, Supervising Deputy Irma Murray and Deputy Julia King.

Following the meeting refreshments were served at the Country Club, which was decorated in the Bear Flag motif. A delegation from Washington No. 169 N.S.G.W. was present and extended a welcome to Grand President Begley. Margaret White was general chairman of arrangements for the occasion.—R.R.

San Diego Celebrates

(ELSIE M. FRANK.)

San Diego—Admission Day, September 9, was fittingly celebrated by San Diego, with the Native Daughters and the Native Sons of the Golden West taking an important part.

A long morning parade containing many elaborate floats was marshaled by Rear Admiral Sinclair Gannon, commandant of the Eleventh Naval District. The United States Army and Navy were represented by bands and marching units.

The Native Daughters had a float depicting a California lawn party, the following members of San Diego Parlor No. 208 participating: Marie Snell, Louise Miller, Annette Tweed, Myrtle Marvin, Virginia Burke, Evelyn Wurzell and Coral Johbins. San Diego Parlor No. 108 N.S.G.W. had a float representing the Great Seal of State, with Dorothy Brown as the goddess. The float of the Naval Training Station depicted a historic moment at old Fort Stockton.

After the parade a luncheon, largely attended by government, army and navy officials, was held in the House of Hospitality, Balboa Park. Chester Gunn was the toastmaster, and Albert V. Mayrhofer was the main speaker. He said, in part:

"It was eighty-seven years ago today that President Fillmore signed an act for the admission of California to the Union. It was in September 1542 that Cabrillo found our shores. We remained a part of Spain until September 1821, when the Mexican flag flew over this land. California became the thirty-first State of the Union, and the sixteenth free state. We are just beginning our real development. We must provide for an increased population, bound to come. May we continue to build a great state!"

As a concluding feature of a great day the Estrella was chartered for a moonlight ride in wonderful San Diego Harbor, and the boat was filled to capacity with Native Daughters and their friends.

Daly City—El Carmelo No. 181 had its monthly birthday party September 1. Among the anniversaries celebrated were those of California, represented by the State (Bear) Flag, and the Constitution of the United States, represented by Old Glory. Excellent refreshments, served at attractively decorated tables, were provided by Sisters Oldham, Eliasen and Schade. An enterprising committee which is formulating plans for the Parlor's annual homeless children whist benefit, to be held October 6, is composed of Hattie Kelly, Margaret Callen Steele and Elsie Clemens.—P.Q.

Byron—Donner No. 193 will have its annual bazar October 29; Ruby Bonnickson is in charge. The Parlor's anniversary celebration has been set for November 3.

Bieber—Mount Lassen No. 215 entertained sixty guests at its annual luncheon for oldtimers of Big Valley and Fall River Valley, held in Pumpkin Center Hall. Martin Peterson, 89, was the oldest person present.

SAN FR ANCISCO

WITH THE COMPLETION OF Treasure Island, site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, a Pageant of the Pacific, four hundred acres of new territory has been added to the domain of the State of California. Formal delivery of the new island by the United States Army Corps of Engineers to the City and County of San Francisco will be celebrated with elaborate ceremonies, probably in mid-October.

A marvel of modern engineering and the largest island ever made by man, Treasure Island required one of the greatest assemblies of dredges ever concentrated on a single project in pumping 20,000,000 cubic yards of fill from the bottom of San Francisco Bay. A total of 287,000 tons of rock was placed in the 17,600-foot seawall surrounding the site. This great reclamation project was constructed with Federal Government WPA funds under the direction of United States Army Engineers at a cost of $3,800,000.

HOSPITALITY APPRECIATED.

Members of the Orders of Native Sons and Native Daughters of the Golden West in the San Francisco Bay area who participated in the Admission Day celebration at Santa Monica are loud in their praise of the splendid affair.

They particularly appreciated the hospitality dispensed by the Los Angeles County Admission Day Committee, in charge of arrangements, and their one regret was that they did not have more time to further enjoy the southland.

RECEPTION FOR GRAND PRESIDENTS.

THE OLD STAGECOACH

Rejected by advancing need of years
Across the haunting wastes it found the way
For a moving speck of restless pioneers.
With treasured traces of ten thousand miles,
It stands abandoned in a pageant ease
Quitting a world that foolish speed beguiles,
Defiant with remembered tragedies.
Far over somber loneliness it went—
A royal chariot in search of gold,
Youth thrilled to conquer thus a continent
Time left it stranded—a stage-coach old.
And so it stands wheel-locked in dreams
Of golden nuggets in the mountain streams

"Reprove thy friend privately; commend him publicly."—Solon.

SAN BERNARDINO — SATURDAY EVENING, October 9, a class of thirty candidates for Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N.S.G.W. will be initiated by the grand officers, headed by Grand President Eldred L. Meyer. The meeting, which will be held in the Parlor's Crestline Clubhouse in the San Bernardino Mountains, will be preceded by a 6:30 p.m. dinner. Raymond L. Haight of Hollywood Parlor No. 196 will address the gathering.

A hearty invitation is extended all Parlors to join with Arrowhead for these ceremonies. Another outstanding occasion is assured.—L.G.

NO PLACE LIKE CALIFORNIA.

Ontario—Officers of Ontario No. 251 N.D.G.W., with Wilma Tucker as president, were installed September 2 by Deputy Eva Bemis. The officers-elect were attired in old-fashioned dimity dresses. Grand Marshal Hazel B. Hansen was among the visitors. Following installation dainty refreshments were served.

September 13 several members of the Parlor spent a carefree, enjoyable day with Beatrice Herberg at Balboa Beach. Mrs. Maude Van Fleet and husband have returned from an extended trip through Europe. They still believe there is no place like California. Mrs. Van Fleet took moving pictures of the tour and will soon exhibit them in the Parlor.

During the last three months Ontario lost by death three of its oldtime members: Henrietta Rowe, 81; Laura Nolin, 71; Lelia Lee, 72.

PAST PRESIDENTS N.S.G.W. DOINGS.

San Bernardino—Arrowhead Assembly No. 14 Past Presidents Assembly N.S.G.W. will be represented at the annual meeting of the General Assembly in Sacramento October 16 by the following: Marshal General Walter E. Hiskey, Trustee General Donald E. VanLuven, Governor Walter C. Richards, J. W. Jasper, Edwin E. Baldwin, Roy Tarleton and Arthur F. Hansen.

The next meeting of Arrowhead Assembly will be held at Reggie Savio's Italian Cottage, 1293 Fifth street, San Bernardino, Saturday evening, October 23. Dinner preceding the meeting will be served at 7 p.m. Governor Walter C. Richards will preside, and delegates to the General Assembly will report. All past presidents of the Order are invited to be in attendance.—D.E.V.

Vaughn barley, a new hybrid feed type that yields 10 percent more than any variety now known in the state, will be released to the farmers of the state by the agronomy division of the University of California College of Agriculture. Seed may be obtained through the farm advisors in the various counties.

"AT HOME" FOR ELIGIBLES.

It is the policy of Los Angeles Parlor No. 124 N.D.G.W. to annually hold an "at home" party to which eligibles are invited. The purpose is to have the prospectives enjoy an evening of sociability amidst the friendly companionship of the members, thus getting better acquainted before affiliating. This year's party was held September 22, and the committee in charge included: Juanita Porter (chairman), Jeanne Clos, Leone Clos, Jean Fraser, Olinda Kerby, Emma Lazzarevich, Louise McNary, Edna Neikirk, President Esther Rinne, Evelyn Trautwein and Kate Williams.

Los Angeles' October calendar includes: 6th, members of Santa Ana, Long Beach, Grace and Ontario Parlors guests; the history and landmarks committee will present a program and serve refreshments. 13th, card party at the home of Mrs. Jane Spinner under the chairmanship of Clara Bird. 16th, sewing club luncheon, 1 p.m., home of Myrtle Hoffman, El Monte. 20th, initiation. 23rd, dance jointly with Native Sons; Clara Lindsey chairman.—G.A.

CHARTER PRESIDENT HONORED.

Ramona Parlor No. 109 N.S.G.W. September 17 presented to Senator Reginaldo F. DelValle, its charter president and sole surviving charter member, a fifty-year membership emblem. Grand Trustee Leo V. Youngworth presided, and among the speakers were Past Grand President Herman C. Lichtenberger and Edwin A. Meserve. September 24, Ramona initiated a class of ten candidates.

ACTIVITIES ENTHUSIASTICALLY RESUMED.

Californiana Parlor No. 247 N.D.G.W. resumed activities September 14 with a burst of enthusiasm which bodes well for President Marcella Wolfskill Palethorpe and her efficient corps of officers and committees. The business meeting was followed by a luncheon presided over by Program Chairman Inez Sitton, again active after a grave illness. The luncheon was in honor of Californiana's Grand Trustee, Mary B. Noerenberg, members prominent in other organizations and those having birthdays in August and September. Included were Mrs. Cecil Frankel, president Friday Morning Club; Mrs. Holmes Bishop, leader of the California department of the club; Mrs. Oliver Converse Bryant of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Chamber of Commerce, who explained the plan for a new Chinatown, surrounded by a wall. Mrs. Lilly O. Reichling-Dyer, Founder of the Order, was also presented. The guest speaker was Dr. E. Ballentyne Henley, professor of public relations at the University of Southern California, who delivered a masterful and illuminating address titled "The Modern Intellectual Caldron."

Mrs. Ruth Bilger and her hospitality committee were hostesses at the September 28 tea, perpetuating the old California spirit of friendship. A salad luncheon and bridge sponsored by the Gertrude sewing circle and the veteran welfare committee, with Mms. George Adams and Walter Harris as hostesses, proved a very delightful affair, and a neat sum was added to the treasury. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Osborn were hosts at a charming breakfast at their lovely home September 21. Guests were officers and committee chairmen of the Parlor. A hearty vote of thanks was extended "Aunt" Emma and "Uncle" Earl.

October 4 the regular meeting of the sewing circle will be held at the home of the Misses Nellie and Lizzie Weston, 3517 South Figueroa street. A hilarious Hallowe'en hijinks is announced by Isabel Fages and her history and landmarks committee for the night of October 30 at the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holliday, 2700 Glendower. From the hints floating about, it will be a jamboree long to be remembered. Tickets are seventy-five cents, and if desired guests may attend in costume.—O.L.

QUILTING FOR BAZAR.

Long Beach—Members of Long Beach Parlor No. 154 N.D.G.W. having birthdays in September were honor-guests at the September 16 meeting. Mrs. Nellie DeWitt, chairman for the month, served refreshments from a table beautifully decorated with a horn of plenty and sycamore leaves.

The Parlor's thimble club met September 23 at the Downey home of Mrs. Alma Morrow. Following a covered dish luncheon, members worked on a quilt for the bazar.

For the benefit of the homeless children, Long Beach had a dessert card party the afternoon of September 25 at the Banning home in Banning Park, Wilmington. Chairman Nellie DeWitt was assisted by Fay Weber, Francis Galvin and Dorothy Vonde.—J.P.R.

PRESENTED MARCHING FLAGS.

Compton—Grand Marshal Walter C. Richards presented to his home-Parlor, Compton No. 273 N.S.G.W., a set of marching flags, the United States of America and the California State (Bear). UNIVERSITY PARLOR NEWS.

The spirit of friendship that prevailed at the Santa Monica headquarters of University No. 272 N.S.G.W. during the Admission Day festivities won many new friends for the Parlor. Fred Crebs and George Shipley kept everybody satisfied with refreshments, and the glee club furnished satisfactory entertainment. Directed by Les Drown and Kenneth Austin the Universityites, marching in diamond formation in the September 9 parade, formed a spectacular unit. Ray Smith and George Woods created a little comedy along the line of march. The softball team under Stan Parker and Captain Carl Martin cavorted in great style on the diamond of the Municipal Stadium September 8, and brought back the winner's trophy for that event.

With the impetus set by the celebration, Lucian Griffin, chairman of membership, has created such a spirit of "gogetiveness" in the Parlor that applications for membership are coming in from all members. University will have several large classes during the next few months. President Solly Smith is up and going again. This time it is the annual Hallowe'en dance. The place and the committees will be later announced. All members of the Order and their friends are cordially invited.—J.P.H.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

Thomas W. McAuliffe (Sacramento NS) and Percy G. West (Sunset NS) of Sacramento were visitors last month.

John T. Regan (Grand Secretary NS) and wife (Genevieve ND) of San Francisco were among last month's visitors.

Mrs. Gertrude Riddle (Long Beach ND) has returned to her Long Beach home from a trip to Great Falls, Montana. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Georgia Peirson, and young son, Claude Peirson Riddle.

Pioneers Brought To California Best of American Character

James French Dorrance

SANTA BARBARA PARLOR NO. 116 Native Sons of the Golden West and Reina del Mar Parlor No. 126 Native Daughters of the Golden West came right home from Santa Monica and the greatest Admission Day celebration in the lives of any participant to stage their own annual reception to Pioneers of the American period of the occupation of California. That this regional perennial touched a new high mark of interest and attendance attested not only the growing strength of the allied Orders but an increasing interest in Golden State history and a reverence for the Pioneers who helped make present-day civilization possible.

Just a word of local participation in that Santa Monica gala, which is referred to elsewhere in this issue of The Grizzly Bear. Particularly gratifying to Sons and Daughters was the presence of Supervisor and Mrs. Sam Stanwood, representing Santa Barbara County, and of Mayor and Mrs. Patrick J. Maher in behalf of the Channel City's municipal establishment. Their attendance alone signified the alliance which the Natives have affected with the civic and social organizations of their home range. This was further shown by the fact that the Elks loaned the Franciscan robes worn by the Sons, and that the flowers which decorated the float upon which Mrs. Marjory Pierce Cawker rode as Saint Barbara came from regional gardens, many of which are maintained by adopted citizenry. To Harry Sweetser and A. C. Dinsmore, as aides to the Grand Marshal, and to Wesley McCormick and Amelia Acres as co-chairmen of the joint participation, and to President Leland Holiday of Santa Barbara Parlor and assisting Sons and Daughters have come local acclaim for the fine showing which Santa Barbara was able to make at the state-wide observance of California's birthday.

The auditorium of the Santa Barbara Woman's Club and the shaded liveoaks of Rockwood furnished the setting for the Pioneer celebration on Saturday afternoon, September 11. Five hundred Pioneers of the American period were invited guests, and most of them were present. The Channel City's own Pioneers of the oil-lamp and the gas-light days happily exchanged experiences with early arrivals of Carpinteria, Summerland, Goleta, Solvang, Santa Maria, Santa Ynez and Lompoc.

The presence of Grand President Ethel Begley of the Native Daughters, who stopped over on her way from Santa Monica to her home in San Francisco, added zest to the participation of Daughterdom. She spoke briefly, but feelingly, approving the spirit represented in an annual gathering together of American Pioneers, particularly as Spanish Pioneers were formally honored at the August Fiesta.

Mrs. Edwin Prideaux, a past president of Ursula Parlor No. 1 of Jackson, Amador County, proved a gracious presiding officer. Mrs. Wesley McCormick, president of Reina del Mar Parlor, introduced the Daughters' Grand President. Mrs. O. L. Russum brought tears of fond memories to many old eyes as she sang a group of songs popular in early days. Paul Sweetser, past president of the Native Sons and president of the Santa Barbara County Historical Society, introduced Pioneers who spoke briefly from personal experience.

John J. Squier, who just escaped being a native son by being an infant when his parents arrived, was speaker of the day. He piled memory upon memory in artistically phrased sequence that made the scenes of old live again for his rapt audience. "Our Pioneers brought to Santa Barbara the best of American tradition and character and gave it a strength of human nature," said the speaker, "that no foreign element will ever undermine."

The program for the reception was in charge of the past presidents association of Santa Clara and Reina del Mar Parlors, with Dr. Anna E. McCaughey as co-ordinator. The county pioneer roster, joint effort of the two Parlors, was materially increased by signatures obtained after the program. Mrs. M. C. Harrison and Mrs. R. Schuld, co-chairmen, with the aid of Mrs. Mable Erwin and Miss Christine Moller for the Daughters, and Harry Sweetser, Daniel P. Taylor and Owen O'Neill for the Sons, ushered to the registration table many who had not previously inscribed their names and dates of arrival in the Promised Land. Mrs. L. C. Miles and John Logan Stewart were co-chairmen of hospitality.

Lompoc Organizing New N. D. Parlor

The rededication of La Purisima Mission on the outskirts of the Santa Barbara County town of Lompoc was seized upon by Reina del Mar Parlor to strike tellingly for the extension of the Order. Edna McCormick, in her capacity as member of the Grand Parlor Extension of the Order Committee, and Marion Parks-Partridge, historian of Reina del Mar, led a pilgrimage of Parlor members across the mountains. At the Alpha Club in Lompoc, Mrs. Ronald Adam, wife of the supervisor-editor of that district, had assembled a notable group of women for a luncheon conference at which a proposed parlor for Lompoc was discussed, with Mrs. Fred Acres, supervising district deputy, presiding.

There were four notable speeches, all worthy of detailed recording. Mrs. Hazel Hansen of Glendale gave a masterly review of the objectives of Native Daughterdom, speaking as Grand Marshal of the Grand Parlor. Mrs. Florence Dodson-Schoneman of Los Angeles, whose girlhood was passed at La Purisima, had as her subject "What Native Daughterdom Has Meant To Me." Mrs. Partridge spoke on the importance of preserving historical landmarks. Dr. Anna E. McCaughey outlined the possibilities of public relations as effecting gains on educational, welfare and social lines. An honor guest was Senora Josefa Malo Janssens, born in the mission eighty-six years ago. She will become an honorary member of the parlor which Lompoc women hope to form early in the new year as the second parlor in Santa Barbara County. That the Grand Parlor meeting in the Channel City next year will do much to stimulate interest in the Order was predicted, and other cities within the area are inquiring into parlor possibilities.

THE SECRET

(LADY BETH.)

I've lived on the prairie,
I've lived in the hills,
And neither, I find,
Are exempt from all ills;
I've lived in the country,
And also in towns,
And both, so I've found,
Have their ups and downs.
It's not where we live,
But how, I discuss—
What we get out of life
Depends largely on us.

THE ORIGINAL "BOOSTER."

Redlands—At the annual dinner of the Mill Creek Chamber of Commerce, September 11, United States District Attorney Benjamin Harrison, a member of Arrowhead Parlor No. 110 N S G W. (San Bernardino), was the main speaker. He said, in part:

"Thomas Starr King was the forerunner of all our chambers of commerce. He was the first man who wrote East to describe the beauties of California—a practice that has been continued by others ever since.

"This Pioneer is noted in history, however, as the man whose eloquence caused California to stay in the Union instead of joining the Confederates. Only two Californians are in the Federal Hall of Fame—Father Junipero Serra and Thomas Starr King."

INDIAN NAMES OF LAKE AND MENDOCINO COUNTIES COMMUNITIES.

Gleaning their information for the most part from picturesque and venerable members of the dwindling Pomo tribes, Professor A. L. Kroeber and E. W. Gifford of the department of anthropology, University of California, have prepared a volume on the cultures of these Indian groups of northwestern California, which reveals much new information. The Pomo tribes, which numbered more than fifty, had a wide diversity of cultural practices, some of which were peculiar to one group alone, and some to a number of groups.

Patient questioning of the tribal survivors revealed the Indian names for a number of thriving communities located at present in Mendocino and Lake Counties. For instance, the settlement in or nearest the present site of Willits was called Buldam. Potter Valley went under the euphonious name of North Shanel. Ukiah appeared as Yokaia, and when the first Pomos spoke of Metini, they meant Fort Ross. Lucerne appeared as Shigom in all up-to-date Pomo directories, while Koi was the Indian name for Lower Lake.

Icheche was the name for Point Arena, and Hopland went under the cognomen of South Shanel. Kacha-bida does not sound like Walker Valley, but that was the valley's name in earlier days. Makahmo once stood where Cloverdale now stands, while Habenapo covered all of Big Valley.

NATION'S NEWEST PLAYGROUND— BOULDER DAM RECREATIONAL AREA.

Probably but little thought was given to the vast and practically unexplored wilderness in the vicinity of the present Boulder Dam at the time when construction of this gigantic engineering feat was first conceived. Prior to beginning operations, however, the Federal Government became interested in the commanding scenery and instituted surveys and studies of its recreational possibilities. As a result of this foresight and advanced planning, the desert country adjacent to Lake Mead today has facilities for aquatic sports found nowhere else in similar terrain on the globe.

The present length of the great artificial lake is 100 miles. Eventually it will be 115 miles, will back thirty-five miles into the Grand Canyon and flood the Virgin River canyon for another forty miles. In recreational, educational, scientific and inspirational worth, Boulder Dam Recreational Area can scarcely be too greatly extolled. The fact that it may be reached by land, by air and, with the establishment of boat concessions, by water from Grand Canyon National Monument, undoubtedly will bring the annual total of visitors to this fantastically beautiful area into hundreds of thousands.

SEQUOIA NATIONAL PARK TREE NAMED FOR SOUTHERN LEADER.

Although it is contrary to the policy of the National Park Service to add further to the list of names which in times past have been conferred upon trees and other natural features of the parks, Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes recently made a notable exception to this ruling in granting permission to the United Daughters of the Confederacy to honor the name of General Robert E. Lee by naming one of the sequoias in Sequoia National Park, California, for the great Southern leader.

The General Robert E. Lee Tree was selected by John R. White, superintendent of Sequoia National Park, and is one of the few giant trees within the area without fire scars, being as nearly perfect from base to crown as could be located in the Giant Forest. The tree is within one-quarter of a mile of other venerable monarchs that bear the names of Abraham Lincoln, William McKinley and Chief Sequoia.

"No matter how long or how hard is Life's way, we've got to keep courage right out on display."—Ruth Moline Hooper.

"In taking revenge a man is but even with his enemy, but in passing it over he is superior."
